RAIL RATE PLEA BASED ON PERIL TO REFINANCING

I. C. C. Told That Banks May Be Barred From Buying Stocks.

INSURANCE COMPANIES FEEL LOW EARNINGS.

(Associated Press.)

A plea that the investments of thousands of insurance policy holders and savings bank depositors are endangered by declining railroad revenues was laid before the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday to support the demands of the carriers for a general 15 per cent increase in freight rates.

In addition, this situation was pictured as threatening to deprive the roads of one of their major sources of financing. Unless earnings increase, the commission was told, banks and insurance companies must decline to purchase any more railroad securities.

These statements were made by Edward C. Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Co., and chairman of the emergency committee on railroad investments of life insurance companies and mutual savings banks. His testimony was presented as the commission began hearings on the carriers' petition for the increased rates.

Vast Holdings Reported.

The insurance companies and banks, he said, hold $4,700,000,000 worth of railroad securities or approximately 40 per cent of the total outstanding. The railroads must refinance $1,300,000,000 worth of securities within the next year and a half and, Mr. Duffield said, "as trustees" for their policy holders and depositors the insurance companies and banks would have to decline to buy any more railroad bonds unless earnings were increased.

The hearings opened yesterday are expected to last possibly a week or more. Hundreds of persons crowded the hearing room. Commissioner Meyer presided, assisted by Commissioners Lee and Lewis. With them were W. D. B. Ainey, of Pennsylvania; Herbert W. Trafton, of Maine; Harvey H. Hannah, of Tennessee; Hugh H. White, of Alabama; Paul A. Walker, of Oklahoma; A. R. McDonald, of Wisconsin, and William J. Carr, of California, representing the railroad commissions of the 48 States.

Meanwhile the Shipping Board adopted a resolution protesting the commission's order reducing rates on 149 commodities issued a year ago and indorsing the application of coastwise shipping companies for reargument. The protested decision of the commission was made to enable the railroads to compete with steamship lines.

Face Loss of Traffic.

The board said Pacific Coast coastwise operators faced loss of a "large part if not all" of their traffic. The resolution protested "the far-reaching and unprecedented relief granted" and indorsed the steamship companies' appeal for reargument before the full commission.

The series of rate hearings just started is to be devoted entirely to presentation of the railroads' case. Another series will begin August 31, at which opposition testimony will be heard and railroad witnesses cross-examined.

Dr. Julius H. Parmelee, of Washington, director of the Bureau of Railway economics, laid before the commissioners figures on income, expenses and statistics intended to show the railroads as a whole have failed during the last ten years to earn the 5¾ per cent return declared fair by the commission. During the first four months of 1931, he said, the rate of return dropped to 2.07 per cent.

Mr. Parmelee testified that from 1923 to 1930 railroads spent about $7,000,000,000 for additions and betterments increasing efficiency. But, he added, "declining revenue per ton mile and the sharp drop in traffic have brought a reduction in rev-

Hungarians Far Out On Hop Over Atlantic

Radio Message Says Men Have Covered More Than 1,100 Miles.

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Far out above the Atlantic Ocean tonight the airplane Justice to Hungary, bearing two Hungarian army reserve officers, roared on in its attempt to complete a nonstop flight from Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, to its pilots' homeland.

Messages picked up from the airplane's radio sending set by the S. S. Stavangerfjord, at 6 p. m., Eastern standard time, indicated the fliers, Alexander Magyar and George Endres, had completed more than 1,100 miles of the journey to Europe.

The Stavangerfjord gave its position at the time it received the message from the fliers as latitude 54:08 north,

YORKTOWN PAGEANT ROW HITS SWANSON

State Department Cleared of Attempt to Protect British Feelings.

The second battle of Yorktown promises to be almost as bitter as the first.

Forces in the second struggle were quick to align themselves following published reports that the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission had decided to eliminate the surrender of Lord Cornwallis on that revolutionary battlefield in the presentation of a pageant there next October.

Senator Claude L. Swanson (Democrat), of Virginia, it appears, was the gentleman who feared the vivid reenactment of the laying down of arms by British forces might offend the tender sensibilities of English guests invited to view the pageant.

At the offices of the commission, which are housed in the Capitol Building, it was said that the Virginia senator was the first to suggest cutting the pageant at this point. This statement was confirmed in Richmond yesterday by Representative Schuyler Bland (Democrat), of Virginia.

The published report had said that elimination of the episode was made at the suggestion of a State Department official, but both the Yorktown commission offices and officials of the State Department yesterday denied this.

The opposing side of the struggle was taken by Representative Sol Bloom, of New York, associate director of the United States Bicentennial Commission, who aimed most of his fire at the State Department, but who took to task any one responsible for the suggestion of doing away with "an event of such supreme importance" in the pageant.

"I can not but think there is some serious mistake in relation to the report that the State Department has asked the Yorktown Sesquicentennial Commission to delete in its pageantry the climax of an event of such supreme importance as the surrender of Lord Cornwallis," Representative Bloom's broadside stated.

"It is inconceivable that any authority should seek so to warp our own national history for fear of wounding the sensibilities of a nation that has long since ceased to bear the least resentment on account of that famous surrender.

"It is difficult to believe that the responsible authorities in the State

PLEA SENT HOOVER ASKING FALL PARDON

Two Senators and Governor Forward Request of New Mexico Legislature.

Santa Fe, N. Mex., July 15 (A.P.).—United States Senators Bronson and Cutting and Sam Bratton, of New Mexico, and Gov. Arthur Seligman today sent a jointly signed telegram to President Herbert Hoover requesting consideration be given of a petition signed by all members of the 1931 New Mexico Legislature for a pardon for Albert B. Fall.

The telegram read: "We are transmitting today a petition signed by every member of the New Mexico State Senate and House of Representatives, requesting a pardon for Albert B. Fall and trust same will receive your earnest consideration."

El Paso, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—Members of Albert B. Fall's family refused to say today when he would start for the New Mexico State Penitentiary at Santa Fe, and indicated every effort would be made to keep the time of his departure secret.

Dr. J. H. Gambrill, his physician, called at the residence and later said Fall was "very feeble." Members of the family said Fall slept until nearly noon.

Flier Defies Storm To See Dying Son

Adverse flying weather was reported along the path of his flight, but he hoped to reach Cincinnati by dark, where he would strike a lighted airway to Buffalo.

Nobile to Join Arctic Hunt For Traces of Italia's Men

Convinced that he will not find his comrades of the dirigible Italia alive, he hopes to discover some trace of the fate that befell them when the airship was wrecked on the Arctic ice three years ago.

Gen. Nobile and part of the Italia's crew were rescued by the Maligin's sister ship, Krassin, when the dirigible met disaster north of Spitzbergen. Six members of the crew were lost when they became separated from their companions.

Contrary to previous reports, Gen. Nobile holds no hope that any survived, because of insufficient rations. Likewise he is convinced that Roald Amundsen, who flew to the rescue of the Italia party, also perished.

Gen. Nobile will not attempt to conduct an independent searching expedition, but plans to remain aboard the Maligin and study meteorological conditions and the ocean current.

He made known his intention to conduct another expedition of his own next year, but was undecided as to its details.

The Maligin leaves Archangel Saturday.

STORM STREWS DEBRIS AS RAIN COOLS CAPITAL

ARLINGTON COUNTY GETS HAILSTONES

Looking back today on yesterday's storm which sent the temperature down from 99 degrees to 80 degrees in little more than an hour, Washington took inventory of its damage in terms of buildings struck by lightning, traffic accidents, scores of trees blown into the streets and flooded basements.

Among the places where lightning struck were the United States Capitol, the White House grounds, the Census Bureau, temporary structure at Sixth and B streets southwest; a church in the Southeast section, several homes and business establishments, and a flagpole in the Naval Hospital grounds.

The intense heat, which was dispersed by the rain, was held responsible for the death of Rudolph Kovacic, 58-year-old house-to-house salesman, who was stricken while attempting to make a sale in a house at 22 Third street northeast. He was pronounced dead shortly after arrival at Casualty Hospital in an ambulance.

Customer Gives Aid.

Mme. Colo CoVel said that Mr. Kovacic was demonstrating his line of arch supporters to her when he suddenly complained of feeling ill. She and her 11-year-old son, Jocello, administered first-aid treatment until the ambulance responded to her summons.

The victim lived at 518 Fourth street northeast. He was married, according to the story he told Mme. CoVel.

There were no fatalities traceable to the storm in the city, but a Kernstown, Va., farmer was killed by a bolt of lightning as he worked in his fields.

The Weather Bureau reported that the temperature attained its peak at 93 degrees, just before the storm broke, and had dropped sharply to 72 when the rain was over. Kiosk readings at the same hours were 99.5 and 80 degrees, respectively.

Hundreds of Federal workers in the Census Bureau's temporary structure at Sixth and B streets southwest owe their escape from probable injury to the fact that they were dismissed from work for the day, because of the intense heat, half an hour before lightning struck one wing of the structure.

Bolt Near White House.

Another bolt struck within 150 yards of the White House, destroying a hickory tree in the northeast corner of the grounds. Concrete which tree surgeons had used to fill a cavity in one limb was torn out and flung a considerable distance. Twigs and branches were thrown 30 and 40 feet.

Hundreds of persons within and outside the Capitol heard or saw the lightning bolt strike an awning outside the office of Representative Louis T. McFadden, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the banking and currency committee, and consume it in flames. William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, was making a telephone call and received a strong shock.

Some witnesses said that the bolt struck the figure atop the dome, traveled down the side of the edifice and then hit the metal rod which supports the awning. Capitol police simply reported that the awning was struck by lightning, destroyed and the the flames extinguished by a painter who was at work nearby.

Incident Called Serious.

Mr. Page said that, although he estimated the damage at only $10 or $15, the incident was the most serious of its nature of any which have occurred during his half-century of experience on Capitol Hill. He declared that it is not uncommon for lightning to play about the structure, but seldom has it caused a fire which might have grave consequences.

Six thousand employes of the Census Bureau already had been dismissed when the attic blaze, started by an electrical bolt, started. Hundreds of others were waiting to be given permission to leave.

Through prompt action of bureau officials and the city and bureau fire departments, the fire was quickly extinguished and important records saved. Charles D. Bohannan discovered the blaze when his electric fan burned out and smoke began coming through his window. He gave the alarm.

The building in which the fire occurred also houses the Public Health Service and some divisions of the Agriculture Department. In construction it is similar to the bureau building which was destroyed by flames last year.

Youth Escapes Death.

John Powell, 18 years old, of 207 Ninth street southwest, narrowly escaped death in the Potomac River when a sudden gust of wind capsized the 18-foot sailboat in which he was cruising off Hains Point.

Caught in the severe thunderstorm which broke over Washington short-

DUCE DECLARES CIVILIZATION AT ITS LAST STAND

UNITED STATES SEEN KEY TO WORLD PEACE

By ROBERT J. BENDER

(Copyright, 1931, by United Press.)

Rome, July 15 (U.P.).—Modern civilization has reached its "last stand" from which it may be plunged into "chaotic disaster" by war or saved for peace and economic recovery through disarmament, Premier Benito Mussolini told me in a private interview today.

Fresh from disarmament discussions with Secretary of State Stimson, Mussolini stressed the important position of the United States in the decision which will determine the future of the world, "now at the parting of the ways."

Says U. S. Can Get Arms Cut.

The United States, as the most powerful country in the world today, can achieve disarmament "by pounding with hammer blows until disarmament is an accomplished fact," the premier said.

"This has got to be," he added solemnly.

"There is no other road, if Western civilization is to live. As we stand before 1932, we are facing a great uncertainty. On our decision depends the future of the world.

"If we decide for peace, we will have saved humanity. If we decide for war, we will plunge the world into chaotic disaster."

The duce earnestly declared that without the United States, the 1932 disarmament conference would be doomed to failure as has been the case with its many predecessors. But if disarmament comes, he said, the great powers will achieve much financial relief.

Peace Essential Need

"If only from an economic viewpoint," he pointed out, "disarmament is a pressing necessity, and since the average nation spends about one-fourth of its revenues on its military establishment, the value of lightening the burden is evident.

"Not secondary to the immediate economic saving is the guarantee disarmament will mean for a long period of peace. Unrest and stagnation follow the war and morale is low. The world is craving a sustained peace. The reestablishment of the normal flow of commerce and the resumption of industry make peace an essential part of the world program.

"Resumption must take place because another winter of hardship and misery will plunge Europe into despair. Do not forget that where there is dire distress, there you will find the way open for the germ of Bolshevism. In distressing times it is a real danger.

— 6,000,000 German Reds.

"There are in Germany today over 6,000,000 persons unemployed and if that number increases next winter we shall be face to face with Communism. Bear in mind that in the last elections the German Communist party polled over 6,000,000 votes, and upon distress and suffering the Bolshevist germ is best fed.

"We are now at the parting of the ways for modern civilization. This is the last stand. Upon our decision rests the life or death of our great inheritance."

The premier expressed the belief that already the restorative effects of President Hoover's moratorium proposal are evident, with decrease of unemployment in Germany, Italy and the United States, and signs of promise in England.

"We think we are much worse off than we really are," he said. "It takes some time for us really to believe our eyes that things are getting better because we have been thinking negatively all the time and living in a low morale with nothing but depression in our minds."

Starr Faithfull's Sister Joins Broadway Show

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Tucker Faithfull, sister of Starr Faithfull, whose recent death was a front-page sensation here and abroad, has signed a contract to appear in a Broadway show.

Tucker will have a minor part. She will be in the cast of "Once in a Lifetime," as also will Florence Rice Smith, daughter of Grantland Rice, and a figure recently in the Peter Arno-Cornelius Vanderbilt, jr., belligerencies.

Mexican Flight Pilots Return to Disabled Ship

Brownsville, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—Seth Yerrington and Edward Maloney, pilots of the plane Capt. Emilio Carranza, which was forced down on the Mexican coast while attempting a nonstop flight from New York to Mexico City, arrived in Brownsville today over the Pan-American Airways from Mexico City.

They planned to fly back to their disabled plane to ascertain what repairs would be necessary.

CONFERENCE TO FACE WORLD MONEY CRISIS

Paris, July 15 (A.P.).—The German financial crisis will be faced as a world problem at a "conference of six" which will take place here at 11 a. m. tomorrow, presided over by Premier Pierre Laval.

Present at the conference will be Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson of Great Britain, Foreign Minister Aristide Briand, Finance Minister Etienne Flandin and American Ambassador Walter E. Edge.

The conference was arranged late this afternoon, after a call by Secretary Stimson and Ambassador Edge on Foreign Minister Briand and Secretary Henderson's call on Secretary Stimson and Ambassador Edge.

Stimson Talks to Briand.

Three important interviews today prepared the way for tomorrow's one-day conference. Ministers Briand and Henderson conferred for an hour after a luncheon which the former gave in Mr. Henderson's honor. Secretary Stimson, Ambassador Edge and J. Theodore Marriner, counselor to the American Embassy, called on the French foreign minister at 5 o'clock and heard the French position regarding financial aid for Germany directly from M. Briand.

The third interview took place when Secretaries Henderson and Stimson conferred at the American Embassy for nearly an hour before dinner.

Briand was reported to have informed Secretary Stimson that France asks no political guarantees of Germany before extending further financial aid, but expects a gesture from Germany showing a willingness to help herself.

French Shift Is Seen.

He also was reported to have informed Stimson that he considered the visit of Dr. Hans Luther, president of the Reichsbank, to London and Paris of great value, because Dr. Luther learned and was able to report directly to the German government that political guarantees will not be asked of Germany in connection with financial aid, but that Germany was expected first to show confidence in herself.

Political questions, such as an Austro-German economic union and the guarantee of Polish frontiers by Germany, were reported not to have been raised in connection with the German crisis, but were reserved for the visit of Chancellor Bruening and Foreign Minister Curtius to Paris.

A slight shift was believed to have occurred in the French manner regarding the German financial crisis. Political guarantees were reported to have been "suggested" to Dr. Leopold von Hoesch, the German Ambassador, by Briand and Laval, but the reaction in Germany had taken so violent a tone that France was believed to have considered it a political mistake on her part to push the question of guarantees now.

Germans Prefer Bankruptcy.

A report from Berlin in L'Information by an observer, sent especially to portray the German reaction to the suggestion of political guarantees, says that many responsible circles in Berlin were described as preferring bankruptcy to yielding to political pressure.

Regardless of whether France has somewhat changed her attitude or is merely continuing the policy decided on from the start, French statesmen were not expected to bring political considerations into tomorrow's conference on means by which the United States, France and Great

Highlights in German Economic Predicament

(Associated Press.)

Communist riots broke out in several places in Germany last night at the same time that officials of the Government were announcing by radio a new series of decrees to reopen the banks for limited purposes and to impose drastic regulation on traffic in foreign currency.

The British government shortly before midnight announced it was inviting the ministers of various interested governments to meet in London on Monday.

Acting Secretary of State Castle at Washington said the United States would not allow itself to be involved in any political situation in connection with the extension of economic assistance to Germany.

A "conference of six" will be held in Paris at 11 a. m. today at which Secretary of State Stimson and Foreign Secretary Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, will be present.

U. S. TO HOLD ALOOF IN FINANCE POLITICS

(Associated Press.)

America drew aloof last night from all political considerations in connection with the German financial situation.

Acting Secretary Castle of the State Department said the United States would not allow itself to be involved in any political situation in the extension of economic assistance to Germany.

The French government, he added, has contended it did not ask directly for political considerations in connection with financial aid asked by Germany. Press dispatches from Europe earlier in the week said France had made political demands on Germany through Hans Luther, head of the Reichsbank, when he talked with French officials in Paris.

The Acting Secretary asserted he though it unlikely that other countries would extend credit to Germany before that nation took steps for a

France to Resume Trade With Soviet

Decrees Today Will Open Door to Economic Relations.

Paris, July 15 (A.P.).—Regular economic relations between France and Soviet Russia will be reestablished tomorrow by publication of two decrees simultaneously in Paris and Moscow.

The first decree abrogates one promulgated by France October 3, 1930, which was designed to check Russian "dumping." The second decree deals with the retaliatory measures by the Soviet subsequent to the French action, at which time commercial exchanges between the two countries virtually ceased.

The semiofficial News Agency regards this step as "permitting the Franco-Russian negotiators to pursue in a more favorable atmosphere the discussions begun in Paris June 5 in order to reach accord."

Navy Begins Plans to Build World's Fastest Airplane

(Associated Press.)

Launching a program intended to make the United States Navy supreme in fast flying, the department has placed a secret contract for development of a high-speed airplane engine. The specifications, which call for an engine of great power and efficiency, were carefully guarded. The Navy also declined to reveal the identity of the designer.

Virtually all of the $220,000 provided by the last Congress for high-speed plane development will be spent under this contract. To obtain funds for developing high-speed propellers and plane bodies, the Navy plans to ask the next Congress for a considerably larger sum. In the meantime some research along these lines will be undertaken within the department.

The Navy was sharply criticized last February by Representative LaGuardia (Republican), New York, on the ground that "England, France and Italy have developed higher speed seaplanes" than the United States, and that "we have not one ship fit or capable to enter in the international Schneider Cup race."

In reply, David S. Ingalls, Assistant Secretary for Air, said failure of Congress to grant appropriations for the purpose was responsible. Funds subsequently were appropriated, becoming available for the first of this month, and the Navy has lost no time in making use of them.

It was said there was not the slightest possibility of the Navy being able to enter a plane in the next Schneider Cup race, scheduled for this September, but the new plane may be ready to enter in 1933, if a race is held in that year. Navy men believe this year's event will see the British approach 400 miles per hour.

POLICE USE FIREARMS TO ROUT COMMUNISTS

Dresden, Leipzig, Karlsruhe Say Mobs Controlled; Radios Urge Quiet.

Berlin, July 15 (A.P.).—To the accompaniment of news of Communist rioting in many sections of Germany, Chancellor Bruening's government tonight broadcast a series of decrees by radio, opening the banks and clamping down drastic regulations on traffic in foreign currencies.

The news that riots had broken out in a number of cities where quiet had reigned throughout the day began to arrive in Berlin by telegraph at the same time that Finance Minister Dietrich was vigorously appealing by radio to the people to keep their nerve, to "use common sense," and to stand behind the country's leaders in their task of restoring financial and industrial equilibrium.

Although police were forced to resort to the use of firearms in Dresden, Leipzig and Karlsruhe, reports received up to midnight indicated they were able to control the situation everywhere.

Reopening to Be Today.

All banks in the country will be reopened tomorrow, the government decreed, but at least for the rest of this week they will take care of only such essential items as pay rolls, tax obligations and the unemployment dole.

It was made clear that Chancellor Bruening was determined not to permit a new run on foreign currencies or the resumption of raids on savings banks.

The government's action came a few hours after the Reichsbank had lowered the 40 per cent coverage on currency required by law, thereby releasing millions of marks to ease the credit situation created by heavy withdrawals of foreign credit during recent weeks.

Rediscount Rate Raised.

The Reichsbank also raised its discount rate from 7 to 10 per cent and boosted the rate on loans against collateral from 8 to 15 per cent—both measures being taken to keep the expanded currency down to the actual needs of the nation and to forestall inflation.

In appealing to the people to show a sporting spirit, the government broadcaster pointed out that savings accounts, tied up by the bank closing order, were intended for use in rare emergencies and not for current expenditure.

The decree affecting foreign currencies, also read over the radio, restricts buying and selling to the Reichsbank and its duly appointed agents. It prohibits the quotation of any except official rates of exchange which will be determined in Berlin.

Quotations Are Banned.

The decree also forbids publication of unofficial stock and bond quotations as well as all trading in foreign exchange futures.

The radio broadcast closed with the government's assurance that the restrictions would be removed shortly from remittances of money through banks and postoffices and that "gradually, but rapidly, as the situation permits the banks will be allowed to return to full normal operation."

The foreign exchange decree vests the Federal minister of economics with authority to inspect books and to demand sworn statements from all persons buying or selling foreign currency, and lays down drastic penalties for violations.

Prison, Fines Penalties

Offenders not only are liable to imprisonment and fines of ten times the value of the currencies involved, but the currencies themselves may be confiscated and the offender's property attached.

After the decrees had been broadcast Herman Dietrich, finance minister, used the radio to appeal to the public to view the situation with coolness and common sense and to bear personal inconveniences with patriotic patience.

There was absolutely no ground for fear of inflation, he said, referring to the lowering of the Reichsbank's gold reserve. Before the war, he pointed out, the gold coverage was only 33 per cent.

Hoover Plan Praised.

Herr Dietrich said that as a result of today's decision the Reichsbank coverage will fluctuate between 33 and 40 per cent—in other words, will be as high or higher than it was before the war.

Foreign Minister Dietrich also asked the people not to forget that "it is not the government, but private industry which is pressed for cash."

The Hoover plan, he said, with Chancellor Bruening's drastic economy program, has put the German exchequer "on its feet" and even enabled the government to begin repaying some of its floating debt. Already, he said, several hundred millions have been returned to industry.

One Fatality Reported.

One fatality from the rioting throughout the country was reported late tonight. The demonstrations were widespread and directed largely against reduction of the dole.

In Leipzig the Communists fired upon a police lorry. Twenty-six were arrested in a succeeding demonstration in which the police used blackjacks. A woman and a man were wounded when the police used their pistols in Dresden to disperse a group of rioters. In Gelsenkirchen, in the Ruhr district, about 500 Communists fired from housetops upon the police, and one policeman was injured. After the arrival of reinforcements order was restored.

Pistols were also used in a fray at Inschwerte, near Dortmund, and one man was killed and another injured.

Germany Pays Annuity; To Get It Back as Loan

Basel, Switzerland, July 15 (A.P.).—Germany paid over to the World Bank $51,000,000 today, representing the unconditional reparations annuity under the Young plan, but, in accordance with the Franco-American agreement on the Hoover moratorium, the entire sum is to be loaned back to Germany immediately.

The bank directors settled one of the points left outstanding by the Franco-American agreement by voting permission to France to pay in monthly instalments the guarantee fund which she would be called upon to deposit with the bank in case Germany should declare a moratorium under the Young plan at the expiration of the Hoover year.

Two more matters remain to be settled before the Hoover Moratorium can go into operation fully. These are credits to the central European countries and German deliveries in kind.

domestic economic adjustment. He expressed a belief the American Federal Reserve System would extend credits to Germany only in concert with all interested banking sources, including the Bank of France.

A more optimistic and hopeful view of the German situation was expressed at the White House and State Department late in the day. Germany's fulfillment of her obligations under the moratorium plan by paying unconditional annuities due yesterday, strengthened official confidence that the situation was clearing.

The money, under the plan, will be reloaned to Germany.

Late in the day President Hoover summoned Acting Secretary Castle to his office and they conferred for more than an hour.

Afterward, Castle said there had been no new development, but that he and the Chief Executive had discussed a number of measures which the German government had indicated will be taken tomorrow to restrict credit and allay the fears of the German people.

The White House earlier in the day made known that Great Britain, France and Italy had advised the United States they did not expect to collect their shares of reparations from the International Bank. Italy put the moratorium plan into effect when payments from her debtors fell due July 1. Great Britain waived reparations due July 15 a few days later.

Secretary Stimson, who is now in Europe conferring with leading statesmen, has not yet reported to Washington on his conversations. It was believed he would wait until his talks had encompassed more viewpoints than those of Italy and France before reporting to President Hoover.

He is directing particular attention to the disarmament question, but will endeavor to secure informally a thorough understanding of all political and economic problems.

The Department of Commerce issued yesterday a report from H. L. Groves, its commercial attache at Berlin, placing German unemployment at 3,962,000 on June 30.

Stimson to Avoid Pledge.

Neither an agenda nor commitments constitute a part of the conditions under which Secretary Stimson will participate in tomorrow's conference of statesmen. Realizing that his participation means further help by America in adjusting Europe's affairs, the Secretary is said to deem it his duty not to pledge his country in any way.

On the other hand, however, he believes that the German problem, and the connected problem of disarmament, is intercontinental in its effects and for this reason he decided that it was imperative he take part in the conference with his fellow-statesmen of Great Britain and France.

It was understood tonight that the conference was arranged after a suggestion by Foreign Minister Henderson, of Great Britain, and it was believed in some quarters it might be the precursor to a later one to be held in London, to which the German ministers would be invited.

Common Policy Sought.

The principal object of tomorrow's conference, it was learned tonight, is to reach a common policy toward Germany. The notion is that to avoid the possibility of wounding Germany's patriotism or sensibilities, any suggestions should come from the three powers, rather than from France alone.

Mr. Stimson surprised M. Briand at their interview today by speaking fluent French. Embassy Counselor Marriner was not called upon do any translating.

The American Secretary and the French minister got down to a business-like exchange in snappy French sentences, and when they separated each knew exactly where the other stood on the big problems of the day.

The cabinet at its regular meeting Friday is expected to decide on its answer to the appeal for help made by German Ambassador von Hoesch to Premier Laval.

ARLINGTON COUNTY BUREAU OF THE POST.
Tel. Clar. 509. Clarendon, Va.

The county board of supervisors, deferred action for 30 days after hearing the appeal of Capt. Crandal Mackey, former Commonwealth's attorney for Arlington County that it should proceed to file a suit in the Circuit Court of Arlington County to test constitutionality of the act of the legislature at its 1930 session providing for a change in local county government.

Capt. Mackey said it is important that some action be taken.

There is nothing in the State constitution which permits the abolition of magisterial districts which this act proceeds to do," he stated.

"If you abolish the magisterial districts which this act proceeds to do," he stated.

"If you abolish the magisterial districts there will be some sections of Arlington County which will have no representation on the county board as provided by the new form of government," he said.

"This board did not inspire such a move; it would have condemned it. The Commonwealth's attorney of this county was given no chance to study the bill; in fact I understand he did not see it. I say that those persons who pressed this legislation had a grievance against the board."

"This move is a distinct move backward; what Arlington County needs is more magisterial districts, not abolish them.

"Ninety-nine of one hundred counties in the State would not tolerate such a change.

"This is the most important question that has come before a board of supervisors in the history of the State and I feel that there should be no delay. Every official in this county is anxious to see the act tested," Mackey said.

After more than two years' effort of the Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association assurance was given by the board that inasmuch as the matter of rights of way has almost been cleared up, the Washington street approach to the new Arlington Memorial Bridge will soon be built.

Supervisor B. M. Hedrick said that as soon as the question is out of the way he is ready to build the road.

Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth reported that both Miss Bessie Christian and H. R. Dulaney have offered free rights of way across their property.

Engineer C. L. Kinnier was instructed to go over the two routes and to determine which will be the best suited for the roadway.

The board awarded to Carson & Gruman, of Washington, contract to build what is known as the Oil road leading from Rosslyn to the south wall of the Arlington National Cemetery, a distance of .78 of a mile. The accepted figure was $22,241.42. The road will be constructed to a width of 20 feet with a concrete surface.

Efforts of officials of the town of Falls Church to acquire the water lateral lines within the town from Arlington County was given a sudden block by a decision given by Commonwealth's Attorney Gloth, which reads:

"No authority is given in the act of the Legislature for the board of supervisors of the county to sell or assign this water system or any part of it; and, in my opinion, the only way any part of the system could be disposed of, either by sale, lease, or assignment, would be by an act of the Legislature authorizing same."

Robert E. Plymale, former president of the Arlington County Civic Federation and president of the Fort Myer Heights Citizens Association, filed yesterday as a candidate for one of the five seats on the county board with the clerk of the court.

Plymale announces he is making the race as an independent.

"Unselfish endeavor in helping underprivileged children has made Kiwanis the outstanding organization it is today in 1,880 cities, towns and communities throughout the United States and Canada," Edwin F. Hill, member of the Kiwanis international publicity committee and vice president of the Washington Club, told the Arlington County Club at its meeting at Windsor Arms yesterday. Other objectives of the organization, Mr. Hill said, are elevating citizenship to a higher plane, creating a better understanding between the farmer and city man and vocational guidance for young me nand women.

"Kiwanis Clubs," he said, "like public utilities, are known by the service they give to the communities of which they are a part. The clubs which will be best known for their helpfulness will be those that have some definite objective and then will have given that objective their preferred attention."

Final reports last night of the ticket committee indicated that the dinner to be served at the Lyon Park Community House tonight from 5:30 to 7:30 o'clock by the men of Lyon Park will be largely patronized.

The dinner is being prepared and served exclusively by the men of the Lyon Park Citizens Association for the benefit of the community house fund. Women are invited, according to E. O. Wiesman, chairman of the general committee, but none will be permitted in the kitchen, he said.

Partial Moratorium Is Declared in Chile

Santiago, Chile, July 15 (A.P.).—A partial financial moratorium was declared in Chile tonight. The moratorium, it was announced, will be only temporary.

Much consideration has lately been devoted by the Chilean government to the country's financial condition. A little more than two weeks ago it was announced negotiations were nearing completion for a visit to Chile by a group of American and British banking experts to investigate the country's financial situation, with particular attention to government obligations. The situation was said to have been acute because of the depression in the nitrate and copper markets this year.

German Situation Worst In History, Gerard Thinks

By JOHN DALY

While the wizards consult, an American student of affairs adopts the age-old philosophy of Seneca, the Stoic, and gets to the root of the trouble. It was Seneca's maxim that no problem could be solved until it was approached from the point of origin.

As James W. Gerard, of New York, former Ambassador to Germany, raced through the bullet-swept streets of Chicago, on his way to a ranch in Montana, his mind naturally turned toward peace and the beginnings of war. A breathless reporter captured his quarry far enough from Michigan boulevard so that, over and above the sound of machine gun fire, he could hear what the statesman said.

All the world is watching Germany. A financial crisis impends. Communism is rowing up the Rhine. What is going to happen? Where will it all end? The world wants to know. Who better to ask than the former Ambassador to Germany? The ambassador, though, believes with Seneca: Before you get to the end you must always start at the beginning.

NOW in his sixty-fourth year, Mr. Gerard was Ambassador to the House of Hohenzollern in the year 1913, which was just before the World War. Then, Germany was one of the greatest nations in all the world. That was the Germany of Kaiser Wilhelm and the Double Eagle—the Germany of the Saengerfest und Saengerbund, the happy-go-lucky beer-drinking, pretzel-munching, sauerkraut und hausenpheffer Germany, the Land of the Stein Song. It was just before the time that Col. "Marse Henry" Watterson began to rattle his saber and shout: "The Hapsburgs and the Hohenzollerns—to hell with 'em!"

Germany, in 1913, might have looked all right to the outside world—Germany clinking glasses, going to gymnasium, meeting in the great public squares, rolling ten-pins, listening to the thundering basses of Wagnerian grand opera, smoking meerschaum pipes, shouting once in a awhile, "Hoch der Kaiser!"—but Germany at that very time was preparing for the plight that now confronts her. She was mumbling, under her breath, Deutchland uber Allies.

Ambassador Gerard was there at the time. He began to look around. The results of these observations are set down in his book, "My Four Years in Germany." Though it was not written in those pages, the prophecy Mr. Gerard gave out in Chicago may be read between the lines of the book. It is this: The situation in Germany, the outgrowth of what took place in 1914, is the most threatening the world has ever faced.

When the reporter had induced the ambassador to say that much, the rest was comparatively easy. Led on, the statesman asserted: "If Germany goes bankrupt and the Bruening cabinet falls, the country will be left at the mercy of the Communists and the Hitlerites."

* * * *

THERE was accomplishment, though nothing new in the thought. The ambassador, however, did not stop there; though he made no further conjectures. It is generally assumed that Adolph Hitler, Fascist leader, is ready to take over control of the German government, by force, if necessary. Hitler, himself, stands in fear of the Bolshevik wave sweeping over Europe.

All these are known facts. The thing to do was to get the former ambassador to put his finger on the pulse and say: "Here is what's wrong."

On his way to Montana, the former Ambassador to Germany was guided by an astute interviewer past all the obvious and trite comments flooding the daily press. He went direct to the root of the problem, following the maxim of Seneca.

Let Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, basking on the sands at Cap Ferrat, mull over the situation to his heart's content, and bring home a series of statements. Let Col. Henry L. Stimson, blase Parisian, whisper in the ear of Premier Laval, as they motor up the Champs Elysee. Let Acting Secretary Ogden Mills of the Treasury, taking the place of Mr. Mellon in Washington, and Undersecretary of State Castle, holding down the fort for Col. Stimson, give out little interviews to the press. Let them talk on the radio. Such discussions are timely, and to the point; but they get not at the nub. Go back, then, to the beginning of it all. So Ambassador Gerard, through the reporter, flashes to an expectant world this startling paragraph:

"Germany can blame no one but herself for her present plight. If she hadn't gone to war in 1914, Germany, within the ensuing 20 years, would have gained control of most of the world's gold, based on the economic progress she then maintained."

* * * *

THERE you have Seneca's method. Get to the point of origin. The former Ambassador to Germany survived the ordeal in Chicago like the good lawyer he is, pushed away the clouds and brought out the sunshine, so that the massed mobs of Chicago, like the villagers in Goldsmith's poem, might have stopped in wonder as the train bore this statesman on his way to mountain recesses in Montana:

"And still they gazed, and still their wonder grew

CONFERENCE OF SIX TO PLAN REICH HELP

U. S., England and France Will Meet Today as Latter Drops Guarantees.

Britain can come effectively to Germany's financial aid.

Today's meetings were considered only contact sessions, but tomorrow's conference, which will meet at the ministry of the interior, will have the whole problem of Germany before it.

Edge to Give Luncheon.

Ambassador Edge was scheduled to give a luncheon for Secretary Stimson tomorrow. The French guests will include Premier Laval, M. Briand, Andre Tardieu, Minister of Marine Dumont, Gen. Gouraud, military governor of Paris and war-time friend of the Secretary of State, who met him in the United States, and Rene Massigli, expert on naval affairs at the foreign office. Minister of War Maginot was invited, but will be unable to attend.

Americans invited to the luncheon include Frank B. Kellogg, former Secretary of State; Gen. John J. Pershing, Edward Tuck, philanthropist; J. Ridgeley Carter, of the Morgan Bank in Paris, and Col. William M. Taylor, president of the American Chamber of Commerce.

Consul General Leo Keena, Norman Armour, former counsellor to the American Embassy; Capt. Lebreton, naval attache; Robert Pell, member of the embassy staff; Mr. Marriner and Allen Klots, secretary of Mr. Stimson, also have been invited.

Zionist Congress Elects Executive

Revisionists and Radicals Excluded From New Directive Body.

Basel, July 15 (A.P.).—After more than two weeks of debate the steering committee of the Zionist Congress this afternoon submitted a slate for the new resident Zionist executive. It was approved, 103 to 42, at the closing session.

The revisionists, excluded from the new executive, voted against the slate and the radicals, the only other party not represented on the new executive, abstained from voting, the Jewish Telegraphic Agency reports.

The new executive, which will guide the Zionist organization for two years, consists of Dr. Chaim Arlosoroff, Palestine Laborite; Prof. Selig Brodetsky, British general Zionist; Heschel Farbstein, Polish Nizrachist; Emanuel Neumann, American general Zionist, and Berl Locker, American Latborite.

Four Persons Hurt When Autos Collide

Four persons were injured in an automobile collision at Seventh and H streets northeast yesterday afternoon, when a taxi collided with a large touring car. None were seriously hurt.

Jack Cockrill, 49, of 617 Nineteenth street northwest, was driver of the taxi, and John Weatherford, 35, of Quantico, Va., of the large car. Mrs. Anna Mae Weatherford, wife of the driver, and her daughter, Elsie Mae, 3, were taken to Casualty Hospital for treatment for small cuts and bruises, as well as Robert M. Cockrill, 7, who was riding with his father in the cab.

STATESMEN CALLED TO LONDON SESSION

Conference Set for Monday; Debt Experts to Give Aid to Ministers.

London, July 15 (A.P.).—A conference of ministers, to follow immediately upon the heels of the experts' meeting which begins Friday to study details of the Hoover reparations moratorium plan, will be held here beginning next Monday, the British government announced tonight.

As soon as the ministers convene the experts' committee will place itself at their disposal, the government's statement said. It added that Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson, of Great Britain, will return from their visit to Germany in time for the ministers' conference.

The statement announcing the ministers' conference was issued by the foreign office at midnight. It said:

"His majesty's government has decided that it is now necessary to summon immediately the conference of ministers which was foreseen at the time of the invitation for the experts' committee.

"It is desired that the conference of ministers meet in London at 6 p. m., July 20. The experts committee will, as arranged, arrive Friday and will place itself at the disposal of the ministers Monday.

"Prime Minister MacDonald and Foreign Minister Arthur Henderson will go to Berlin, as arranged, on Friday, returning in time for the conference of ministers on Monday. Invitations for the ministers' conference are being sent."

New York Banks Vote To Pay German Drafts

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Representatives of leading New York banks decided at a meeting today to honor drafts by German banks when properly drawn.

The action followed upon a lack of uniformity of practice which developed earlier this week. Some banks declined then to honor drafts on the expectation that with a virtual moratorium on all payments in effect in Germany as a result of the bank holiday, their own drafts could not be collected in Germany because they could not be presented. The reopening of German banks tomorrow will remove this difficulty, however.

Diamond Faces His Next Trial in New York City

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Jack "Legs" Diamond, gangster, who has spent a large part of his 36 years beating criminal charges, will have his next set-to with the law in New York.

Federal Attorney Medalie announced today that as soon as John Scaccio, reputed strong-arm man in Diamond's gang, is tried by the State in Catskill next week on charges growing out of the alleged torturing of a truckman, a date will be fixed for the gangster chieftain's trial here on Federal charges.

Kenneth Harlan, Actor, Fined on Drunk Charge

Malibu, Calif., July 15 (A.P.).—A report to the sheriff's office here today disclosed that Kenneth Harlan, motion picture actor, was fined $25, and Dorothy Webb, film actress, paid a fine of $50 on charges of drunkenness and disturbing the peace at a night club here.

A 30-day jail sentence given Miss Webb by a justice of the peace was suspended.

CRIME BOARD HITS PLIGHT OF MOONEY

Wickersham Group Assails Also Work of Lower Courts Generally.

(Associated Press.)

The laws under which Warren K. Billings and Francis J. Mooney, imprisoned years ago for the San Francisco preparedness day bombing of 1916, have been barred from a new trial were assailed yesterday by the Wickersham Commission.

The commission embedded its first mention of the famous case deep in a report on criminal procedure. In it ten of the eleven members criticized the Nation's inferior courts, asserting a continuing breath of "scandal" hangs about them.

The report recommended principally the need of a complete divorce between politics and the administration of justice and laid at the door of an unnamed group of "incompetent, weak and politics-ridden judges," the blame for much of the general complaint against the country's criminal procedure methods.

Calls Situation "Shocking."

The commission did not recommend directly that the Mooney-Billings case be reopened. It cited it, however, as an unusual example of a case in which motions for a new trial upon the ground of evidence discovered after sentence were "inadequate to prevent injustice."

"Such a state of law," the report asserted, "is shocking to one's sense of justice."

The commission scored the California Supreme Court's decision "that a new trial could not be granted upon matter not appearing in the (trial court) record, even though the new matter consisted of evidence charging perjury on the part of a material witness for the State."

It was cited further that the trial court likewise declined an additional application, despite it being based "upon the ground that the prosecuting attorney had been guilty of fraud in withholding from the trial court information impeaching the testimony of certain witnesses for the State."

Lemann Did Not Sign.

As a remedy for this "state of law" the commission urged the universal adoption of the proposed code of the American Law Institute. This would provide specifically, it said, for the granting of a new trial upon grounds similar to those existing in the Mooney-Billings case.

The full report of the commission appeared without the signature of Monte Lemann, New Orleans attorney, who also withheld his name from the commission's prohibition report.

Lemann asserted that some of the statement's of the commission in the present document "may be well-founded, but no facts brought to my attention would permit me to join in their confident assertion." He added that without adequate research he did not believe "generalizations" would help.

He objected specifically to a statement that newspapers "in a majority of jurisdictions' undertake to try cases in advance," thereby influencing the impaneling of juries. He took issue also with the commission's view that the press of modern business, coupled with frequent elections and numerous jury terms "call for more than the citizen may reasonably be expected to do."

Court Standard Raising Urged.

In its report the commission lodged a plea for raising the standards of the inferior courts. Describing them, it said:

"The bad physical surroundings, the confusion, the want of decorum, the undignified offhand disposition of cases at high speed, the frequent suggestion of something working behind the scenes, involved in the casual conferences of magistrate and politician lawyers, not audible to the public in attendance—in short, the atmosphere of the inferior criminal courts—create in the minds of observers a suspicion of the whole process of law-enforcement.

"Taking the country as a whole there has been and continues to be scandal in connection with these inferior tribunals in noteworthy contrast with the almost uniformly clean records of the superior courts during a century of immersion in politics."

Men Are Real Criterion.

The commission concluded, however, that "most of the things of which there is general complaint depend not so much upon the machinery of judicial procedure as on the men who work it."

In a list of fourteen recommendations for improving procedure, there were included suggestions for a wider use of administration rather than arrest, and a more general use of the summons instead of arrest in starting petty prosecutions.

Other recommendations were that juries be examined by the court instead of by the opposing counsel as a means of saving time and money, and that legislation be passed allowing the waiver of jury trials in criminal cases.

Dreiser Moves to Halt Film Version of Novel

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—The Paramount-Publix Film Corporation announced today legal steps to prevent production of the film version of Theodore Dreiser's novel, "An American Tragedy," had been taken by the author.

A summons to show cause why an injunction should not be granted was served on officers of the corporation, they said. The order was signed by Supreme Court Justice William F. Bleakley, of White Plains. The order is returnable July 22 in the White Plains court.

FIREMEN LAY PLANS FOR STATE MEETING

Alexandria Companies Seek Virginia Recognition as Unit Department.

THE WASHINGTON POST BUREAU.
907 Prince St., Alexandria, Va.
Phone Alexandria 523.

Chief James M. Duncan, jr., has announced that three companies of the Alexandria Fire Department will participate as a unit in the annual State convention and parade in Winchester August 13, whether or not they will be eligible for parade prizes. This decision was reached by the executive committee, he said.

Potomac Truck and Engine Company No. 2, which last week voted to participate as a company, will hold a special meeting tonight and will be asked by Chief Duncan to reconsider its action and join with Companies Nos. 1, 4 and 5, so the entire local department can parade together.

The department has not given up its attempt to win recognition as such, but will participate in the parade this year while continuing the fight against a ruling of the Winchester committee that all companies must compete separately, he explained.

Alexandria representation, under plans outlined, will consist of the Citizens Band, 125 uniformed firemen, members of Potomac Rescue squad, the Ladies' Auxiliary, the ambulance and the old hand reel, which will be specially decorated and drawn by firemen.

The convention will be held August 12, 13 and 14.

July meeting of the Business and Professional Women's Club held Tuesday evening in the George Mason Hotel was featured by talks on the State and national conventions in Richmond the week of July 3, with 30 members of the local club in attendance. Miss Margaret Germond, of this city, is first vice president of the Virginia State Federation and Miss Alice Gronau was in charge of the peagant staged the final night of the convention.

All club members who tatended gave short talks on the part of the meeting that made the greatest impression. Mrs. Otis H. Hullings, who, with her husband, is owner of the Banner Laundry, attended the owners of business breakfast, while Mrs. Elizabeth Keegan tatended the one for unusual occupations, and at her particular table was awarded a prize as maker of exclusive patterns of men's ties. Mrs. D. C. Book, musician, tatended a music round table. Mrs. Charles A. Power spoke on the Judges' breakfast, when Judge Camille Kelley, of the juvenile court of Memphis, Tenn., was speaker.

Mrs. Lillian Stubbs Elmore was elected a member of the club. Her name was presented by the membership chairman, Miss Eleanor Watkins. Tellers for the election were Mrs. Jack Alton Sullivan and Miss Florence A. Long.

The president of the club, Mrs. Charles M. Shepperson, and the program chairman, Mrs. Albert M. Briggs, will arrange for a picnic to be held in Augnst in place of a regular business meeting.

Gardner L. Boothe, attorney for R. L. May, owner of the electric railway and the A. B. & W. bus line, operating between this city and Washington, stated yesterday that no definite arrangements have yet been made regarding a terminal in Washington when the present stand at Twelfth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest is abandoned, as it will have to be shortly in improvement of the triangle.

Mrs. Viola Hudson presided at installation of newly elected officers of Liberty Rebekah Lodge, No. 16, Odd Fellows, Tuesday night, in the presence of more than 200 members of local lodges and visitors.

Mrs. Lillie V. Cunningham, of this city, president of the Rebekah Assembly of Virginia, was the principal speaker and presented the past grand jewel to Mrs. Thelma Schroyer, retiring noble grand.

Officers installed were: Mrs. Annie Henry, noble grand; Miss Dorothy Miles, vice grand; Thomas Schroyer, recording secretary; Mrs. Josephine Gaines, financial secretary; Mrs. Bessie Kringler, treasurer; Mrs. Thelma Schroyer, past grand; Miss Josephine Williams, left support to noble grand; W. H. Scott, right support to noble grand; Mrs. Lena Scott, warden; Mrs. Helen Grant, conductor; Mrs. Mary Priest, chaplain; Miss Rietta Butler, right support to vice grand; Mrs. Margaret Simpson, left support to vice grand; Miss Lucy Herrell, inner guard, and Mrs. Vaughan Hutchinson, outer guard.

The Citizens Band has issued an appeal for $350, remainder of money needed to meet the purchase price of new uniforms, $1,200, contract for which has been placed. The band has never asked compensation for its services, and depends upon support of the public for its upkeep. It is called upon to play on all public occasions.

Secretary of Labor William N. Doak will speak at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Kiwanis Club at 12:30 o'clock in the George Mason Hotel. He will be introduced by Irvin Diener, chairman of the entertainment committee for the day.

Clarence Gaines, 13-year-old Negro boy, who broke the bars in the detention room at police headquarters June 1, while locked up waiting to be taken to the State Reformatory, was captured Tuesday night by Sergt. Eveerly, Patrolmen Embrey and Grimm and Special Officer Costello. The boy has been locked in a cell and will be sent to the reformatory. He broke into and robbed the Parker-Gray School.

Spanish Assembly Busy Examining Credentials

Madrid, July 15 (A.P.).—At its second session today, the Assembly spent most of its time examining credentials of deputies. As soon as the documents of three-fourths of them have been approved, the Assembly will be formally constituted.

It was learned the cabinet ministers are planning on asking for an increase in salary. Under the dictatorship, ministers earned 40,000 pesetas (about $3,800) a year. One of the first gestures of the ministers when the republican government was installed was to cut the pay to 30,000 pesetas.

Drug Pact Studied Here.

(Associated Press.)

The State Department yesterday received the text of the convention approved Monday by the conference on limitation of the manufacture of narcotic drugs at Geneva. The convention has been signed by 28 countries and is being studied at the department preliminary to American signature.

FAIRFAX CHAMBER'S OFFICERS SELECTED

County Agent Is to Direct Visitors on Tour of Poultry Farms.

FAIRFAX BUREAU OF THE POST.
P. O. Box 245, Fairfax, Va.
Phone Fairfax 166.

The Fairfax County Chamber of Commerce at its meeting in the auditorium of the Franklin-Sherman High School at McLean elected John W. Brookfield, sr., of Springfield, president for the year. Earl Saum, of Burgundy Farms, in Mount Vernon district, was elected first vice president; William J. Cleveland, of Seminary, second vice president; Robert R. Buckley, of Fairfax, treasurer, and Mrs. G. Ashley Money, of Colvin Run, secretary.

Directors were elected for three-year terms: Robert R. Buckley, of Fairfax, to succeed M. S. Kellsgarde, Centerville District; J. W. Brookfield, of Springfield, to succeed Martin T. Webb for Falls Church District; Mrs. Nathan Davis, for Lorton, to succeed W. F. Halley for Lee District; Franklin Williams, of Woodford, reelected for Providence District; A. E. Rosenberger, of Herndon, reelected for Dranesville District; Arthur D. Kerby, of Groveton, to succeed the late George Pickett for Mount Vernon District; Carroll V. Shreve, reelected for Falls Church; Dr. Frank W. Huddleson, reelected for Fairfax; George Harrison, reelected for Herndon; D. W. Buckley, to succeed R. R. Buckley from Clifton; Leon L. Freeman, reelected for Vienna, and J. W. Gaines, of Annandale, and Herbert Williams, of Woodford, to succeed Capt. Thurlow, of Balleys Cross Roads, and George B. Robey, of Fairfax, as directors-at-large.

A resolution urging that the Town of Fairfax provide adequate parking space for tourists was referred to the Fairfax County Bicentenial committee.

A resolution asking that the State highway commission take over part of the State highway system, the Georgetown-Dranesville pike, from Langley to Dranesville, the cut off of the Lee highway around the Town of Fairfax, and the road through the Town of Herndon from Mocke Corners to Chantilly, was referred to the chamber's highway committee.

A resolution was adopted whereby the chamber urged the State highway commission to appropriate funds to build the Lee boulevard from its present terminus in Arlington County, approximately 1,200 feet further, to the edge of the Fort Myer Military reservation.

A committee consisting of Capt. Thurlow White, former Senator Bristow and Martin T. Webb was appointed to appear before the State corporation commission in Richmond to indorse a protest recently filed by the Fairfax County Board of Supervisors, protesting the closing of an agency at the Springfield Station by the Southern Railway.

A committee consisting of Earl Saum, Capt. Thurlow White and A. M. Romashell was appointed to cooperate with a similar committee from the Alexander Chamber of Commerce in an effort to obtain a terminal in Washington for the Alexandria, Arlington & Fairfax Railway line.

M. C. Kilpatrick, secretary of the State Poultry Federation and Fairfax County Agricultural Agent H. B. Derr, have arranged for a tour of a number of Fairfax County poultry farms today. Visitors are coming from a number of nearby counties. Places to be visited are the Dr. Walford farm on Telegraph road, near Dogue Run, where a completely equipped house with ventilators will be inspected; the Gailliott Poultry Farm, on Telegraph road, near Potters Hill School, where visitors will find a completely equipped plant with its own feed grinders and mixers; the plant of E. D. Vosbury, on the Lee highway, near Merrfield, equpped wth ncubators, battery feeders and range shelters, and the poultry farm of Milton Robert, in West Falls Church.

County Agent Derr is arranging for orchard and dairy farm tours this summer and expects dairymen and orchardists will cooperate.

The women of Vienna will hold a rummage sale this afternoon under the direction of Mrs. Arthur B. Barringer for the benefit of the triangle park planting fund on Church street, in Vienna.

The 4-H Club, of Pender, will meet this morning at the home of Miss Ella Denny, when Miss Sarah E. Thomas, Fairfax County home demonstration agent will demonstrate the making of yeast bread. This afternoon Miss Thomas will give a demonstration on the care of floors and the making of wax polish for floors and furniture at a meeting of the Home Demonstration Club at Navy.

Mrs. Harry L. Rowe, giving her address as Richmond, Va., was arrested yesterday on the Washington-Richmond Highway, near Accotink, by Sergt. E. J. McDermott, of the State highway police, on a charge of driving while under the influence of intoxicating spirits and the transportation and possession of a half gallon of ardent spirits. At a preliminary hearing before Justice of the Peace Harry Shepherd at Fairfax she was held for the grand jury at the September term of the Fairfax County Circuit Court.

Department should have approved any such decision, and I am sure that the American people would never consent to such a concession of honor and glory for the sake of a wholly imaginary prejudice."

Representative Bloom declared that Yorktown was the climax of "that period of blood and tears which cost so many sacred lives and which is unequaled in sacrifice and devotion in the whole history of the world."

"Are we to say these heroes were wrong?" his statement demanded.

"I believe no greater blunder could be performed, no greater mistake could be made, than that indicated by this alleged decision of some of the men in the State Department.

"Yorktown means more to civilization than any other military victory ever achieved. The whole world is reaping the benefits of that campaign which ended so wonderfully on the banks of the York River. Besides this, I think it is wholly unwarranted to assume that British sensibilities after 150 years are to be wounded by reference to that battle and that victory."

Representative Bloom declared that as far as his commission was concerned "we certainly will not change our program until we have had official information from the Secretary of State that this decision, made during his absence abroad, bears his indorsement."

Attaches of the Yorktown Commission offices were emphatic in denying that any suggestion to cut the surrender scene emanated from the State Department, and it was hinted that such a statement must have come from the offices of another commission.

The first suggestion to do away with the actual presentation of Cornwallis' surrender came several months ago from Senator Swanson, head of the commission, before his departure on a trip to Europe.

Representative Bland, the commission's secretary, confirmed this statement in an interview in Richmond.

"We are depicting something bigger than Cornwallis' surrender," he asserted. "We are depicting an idea and what it meant to the world. My own thought is that this is a bigger idea."

However, it was learned that there has been some division of thought among members of the Yorktown Commission over presentation of the surrender, particularly in view of the fact that the British government has been asked to send official representatives to the pagent.

The State Department consulted by some of these members, it was said, agreed it would be tactful to omit this scene.

However, the State Department yesterday was just as vigorous in its denial that it had ordered the scene stricken out as was the office of the Yorktown Commission.

Officials there said that there had been no official representation made to guiding lights of the pageant, but that if any State Department official dropped an unofficial hint on the matter that was his own responsibility.

Meantime, any plans for the surrender scene are definitely out, it was said at the commission offices, although all ideas for the pageant are quite tentative. Representative Bland said the details would not be worked out until next month.

Women of Atlanta Demand Drier City

Mayor Tells Delegation He Is Doing His Best at Enforcement.

Atlanta, Ga., July 15 (A.P.).—A Woman's Christian Temperance Union delegation headed by Mrs. Marvin Williams, State president, called on Mayor James L. Key today to inquire about his attitude on prohibition and to ask for stricter prohibition enforcement in Atlanta.

The delegation told him his "deplorable interviews regarding prohibition have demoralized our people and have increased drinking 5 per cent."

Mayor Key declared "we are earnestly trying to enforce the prohibition laws and sad as the failure is, I believe our enforcement is as good as that anywhere in the country. I have never said that we are not trying to enforce the law, but I do say that the people are not in sympathy with it and that it is corrupting our people and our government."

Bankokentucky Bill For Receiver Denied

Wilmington, Del., July 15 (A.P.).—Chancellor J. O. Wolcott in chancery court late today dismissed the bill asking for a receiver for Bankokentucky, a Delaware corporation.

Receivership action was brought by Lon, Fon and J. L. Rogers, trading as Rogers Bros., of Louisville, Ky., on the general ground of insolvency.

MOTHER OF VALLEE EXPIRES IN MAINE

Radio Crooner Is at Bedside When End Comes; Will Remain for Funeral.

Westbrook, Me., July 15 (U.P.).—Mrs. Katherine L. Vallee, mother of Rudy Vallee, popular newly married radio crooner died at her home here today.

At her bedside when death came at 11:40 a. m., were her husband, her two sons, Rudy and William, and her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Lenneville, of Westbrook.

Suffering from a heart ailment and general failing health, Mrs. Vallee, 61, had been in a semiconscious condition for more than 36 hours. She rallied slightly Monday night when Rudy and his brother flew to her bedside from New York, but the change was shortlived.

Rudy, grief stricken and wan after his long vigil, received newspapermen shortly after his mother's death, and said he had canceled all his engagements and will remain here until after his mother's funeral.

Thunder Is of Aid To Truck Robber

Man Climbs Aboard Vehicle and Takes $125 From Laundry Driver.

A robber took advantage of the crash of thunder and noise of the storm yesterday to hold up Arthur J. Gray, of 612 Keefer place northwest, a driver of an Arcade Sunshine Laundry truck. Gray was relieved of $125.

When vision was poor at the height of the storm, a light-skinned colored man accosted Gray as he stopped at the intersection of Lincoln road and Bryant street northeast.

The robber opened the door of the truck and told Gray to "stick 'em up" while he was talking to 14-year-old Harry Artley, 3641 Warder street northwest, employed as a hopper on the truck. Gray gave him the day's laundry receipts. The robber was described as about 5 feet 9 inches tall and 25 years of age.

Huge Oversubscription Meets Treasury Issue

(Associated Press.)

Acting Secretary Mills announced yesterday an offering of $50,000,000 in Treasury bills dated July 17 and maturing October 15 had been applied for to a total of $209,314,000.

The highest bid was 99.898, equivalent to an interest rate of about 0.41 per cent on an annual basis, and the lowest 99.875, equivalent to an interest rate of one-half of 1 per cent.

SCENES AFTER STORM THREATENED LIVES AND DAMAGED PROPERTY

Pictorial evidence of the storm which hit the Capital and environs yesterday. Shown above are John Powell, who had a narrow escape from drowning after his sailboat capsized in the Potomac River; a large tree on the East Potomac golf course which was destroyed, either by lightning or wind or both; the 85-foot steeple of Anacostia Memorial Methodist Episcopal Church, which was struck by a bolt, and the mirror lake around a hangar at Bolling Field.

WOMAN HURT IN CAR CRASH; DRIVER DIES

G. H. Payne Loses Control of Automobile Near Fort Humphreys Gate.

Gerald H. Payne, aged 37 years, of 231 Bryant street northeast, died at the Alexandria Hospital yesterday morning as the result of injuries received when the automobile he was driving ran off the road on the Richmond-Washington highway, at gate post No. 5, Fort Humphreys.

Mrs. Elizabeth Moreland Maury, giving an address as 191 Lee Highway, Cherrydale, Va., who was in the car with Payne, was also taken to the hospital, unconscious, but suffering only from minor bruises and cuts. She left the hospital for Washington about noon in a private ambulance. Both were taken to the Alexandria Hospital in the Fort Humphreys ambulance, and were treated by Dr. S. B. Moore.

Both of Payne's legs were broken and the right arm so badly fractured that had he lived amputation would have been necessary. His wife and young son reached the hospital before his death.

Dr. T. Marshall Jones will hold an inquest at 10 o'clock this morning at police headquarters in Alexandria. So far as can be learned there were no witnesses to the accident, but Payne is stated to have said he lost control of the car.

Parking Lot Cars Shifted, Say Police

Sent Outside Congested Zone During Day, Is Driver's Story.

The curiosity of Private F. J. Rowen, of the Traffic Bureau, yesterday unearthed another one of those activities known as a "racket," this one being in connection with the paid parking privileges afforded motorists on vacant down town lots.

Rowen espied several cars in single file being driven by several youths on C street northeast near Second. He stopped one of them and asked for his driving permit. It was not forthcoming and the boy, Leroy G. Eakes, 18, 113 C street northeast, was arrested.

Eakes told police he was employed to drive cars from a down town parking lot to points outside the congested area and then later in the day drive the cars back to the original parking place.

Police saw in this a scheme to enable parking lot managers to handle more cars than their actual space made possible. They believe the practice was restricted to cars which the managers knew would not be called for until the end of the day.

LIGHTNING HITS U. S. BUREAU AND CHURCH; FARMER KILLED

ly before 3 o'clock, young Powell attempted to reach shore, but found the heavy winds too much for his frail craft. Navigating to within 75 feet of the Hains Point sea wall, Powell lowered the sails and dropped anchor.

As the intensity of the storm increased, the small boat rocked from side to side, and despite the boy's efforts it finally overturned.

Rescued After Long Fight.

Clinging to the side of the upset craft, Powell shouted for aid. His cries went unheard, however, as at that moment the storm broke in all its fury, and persons who had been enjoying river breeze a short time before were seeking shelter away from the river bank.

Employes of the United States Naval Air Station, on the opposite side of the river, who had been scanning the waters for sight of any craft which might have been caught in the gale, saw Powell struggling to keep afloat. A naval launch was immediately sent to his rescue, but experienced difficulty in navigating the rough waters.

For more than twenty minutes the youth clung to the side of his boat. As his strength slowly ebbed and his cries became more feeble, it was apparent that his grip on the overturned craft would give way.

Powell Sinks Into River.

Lashed about by waves, of proportions rarely seen on the Potomac, Powell's fingers finally slipped from the side of the boat and he sank below the surface.

No sooner had he disappeared from sight, than a river tug, which had also seen his plight, arrived at the scene. The youth was dragged from the water, and once on board was soon revived. The tug continued down the river toward Alexandria, Va., and Powell was later transferred to a private launch and returned to this city.

In the meantime, the naval launch which had gone to the boy's rescue, not having seen him picked up by the tug, drew alongside of the stricken sailboat. When it was found the boat could not be moved, and the boy was thought to be drowned, the launch returned to the wharf of the Semmes Speedboat Service to enlist the aid of harbor police.

Police Are Notified.

After police were notified, and despite the velocity of the wind, A. B. Berger, an employe of the Semmes corporation, and William Semmes, nephew of an official of the company, took out in a speedboat in an effort to find Powell's body.

They were soon joined by police and together the small sailboat was brought back and lashed to a wharf.

Returning to the spot, an extensive search was started, and for more than an hour they dragged for the youth's body. Seaplanes from the Naval Air Station were dispatched and repeatedly landed on the water seeking signs of the youth they supposed to be drowned.

As all hope of finding the boy's body vanished, and the search was given up, another speedboat arrived with Powell sitting in the front seat, apparently none the worse for his ducking. He expressed surprise that a search was being made for his body, declaring, "Shucks, I have been out of the water a long time."

Many Heat Victims.

Numerous heat prostrations were reported to police, hospitals and private physicians before the rain brought the temperature down, but none of the victims was believed to be seriously affected.

The farmer killed by lightning was Hardy Grim, 50 years old. With his son, Charles, and three others, he was loading hay when the bolt struck. Two horses were killed and the other men stunned.

Lightning struck the steeple of the Anacostia M. E. Church, Fourteenth and U streets southeast, while the storm was at the height of its fury shortly after 3 o'clock. The tower blazed into flames which were quickly extinguished by apparatus from the No. 15 Engine Company, which is housed just a block away.

Truck Rushed to Scene.

No. 8 Truck, rushing to the scene of the burning church, crashed into five parked automobiles at Nichols avenue and V street southeast, when it failed to turn the corner and skidded. None of the cars were occupied. The truck was attempting to turn from Nichols avenue into V street when the operator at the rear of the vehicle saw that it would be impossible to negotiate the turn. He tried to straighten out the truck, with the result that it skidded into the parked automobiles.

When the bolt of lightning struck the church steeple, Charles P. Ruby, of 1715 Fourteenth street southeast, was driving an ice cream truck nearby. Ruby said he heard a terrific crash and two children who were in the truck with him screamed. Slate from the church steeple rained down on the roof of the car.

The Rev. Thomas Davis, pastor of the church, estimated the damage at $200. Aid in putting out the fire was rendered by Engine Companies 27 and 25 and by Trucks 8 and 7.

Hospital Flagpole Demolished.

When the storm was at its height a bolt of lightning also struck the 135-foot flagpole in the Naval Hospital grounds, and demolished it.

Sections of wood were hurled more than 100 feet, and the concrete base was shattered beyond repair. The pole stands about 100 feet in front of the medical school, which is in front of the hospital proper. It was valued at $250.

George Massegrill, colored, 37 years old, of 814 Second street southeast, was prostrated by the heat while working at Virginia avenue and I street southwest. He was removed to Casualty Hospital, where he was treated. Massegrill is an employe of the District government.

Hail Falls in Arlington.

In Arlington County the storm developed into a hailstorm, when hail stones described as "bigger than pigeon eggs" fell over large portions of the county. No report of crop damage or other effects of the downpour had reached county officials last night.

Yesterday's heat brought about at least one death, that of a small colored boy, who sought relief from the heat in the waters of the Potomac River near Washington Airport. The boy, William Caldwell, 10 years old, of 939 F street southwest, was beyond medical aid when his body was recovered from the water by James Howell, an assistant clerk of the Supreme Court of the District, who swam around and dived for 30 minutes before locating the body.

The hourly reading of the kiosk in front of The Post Building on Pennsylvania avenue, beginning at 8 o'clock, and climbing until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, was 79, 81, 90, 94, 96 and 98, and shortly after 2 o'clock had reached 99 degrees. The storm brought an immediate drop to 80. The kiosk climbed to 82 later in the afternoon.

Official Mercury Record.

The Weather Bureau official recording for the corresponding periods, beginning at 8 o'clock and running until 1 o'clock in the afternoon, was 76, 79, 82, 86, 90, 92, and at 2 o'clock was 94, the highest official recording for the day.

Bureau officials forecast continued warm weather for today, with slight changes in temperature, either higher or lower.

A small Douglas army observation plane was turned up on its nose at Bolling field by the wind, but escaped damage, as mechanics immediately righted the craft and rolled it into a hangar.

Tree of Civil War Fame Set Afire by Lightning

A sturdy old poplar tree on the Chain Bridge-Fairfax highway, which is in front of the home of Randolph Leigh, about 2 miles from Chain Bridge, and which was used by Union soldiers as a sentry post during the War Between the States, still stands today, a bit weak, perhaps, although it was struck by lightning during yesterday's storm and narrowly escaped destruction.

J. H. Beattie, chief of the McLean, Va., Volunteer Fire Department, which extinguished the blaze after almost five hours' work, estimated that 1,000 pounds of dead wood were ripped from the historic landmark by the bolt.

At first it was thought that the tree would have to be cut down. Inspired, however, by the part it played in history, the volunteer firemen laboriously ran a hose line to the poplar's topmost branches and prevented its total loss.

517 Per Million Blind in America

New Mexico's Ratio Highest; District Has Fewest Deaf Mutes.

(Associated Press.)

The 1930 census found 63,489 blind persons in the United States, or 517 per million population. This was an increase of 10,922 over the 1920 blind census. The figures, announced yesterday by the Census Bureau, also listed 57,084 persons as deaf mutes, the ratio being 465 per million. This was an increase of 12,199 over 1920. There were 1,942 blind deaf mutes in 1930.

New Mexico showed the highest ratio of blind, while Wyoming showed the lowest. Kansas had proportionately more deaf mutes and the District of Columbia the lowest ratio. New Mexico's blind totaled 607, or 1,432 per million. Wyoming, with 53 blind, had a ratio of only 235 per million.

Kansas had 1,173 deaf mutes, or 624 per million, while the District of Columbia's ratio of 242 per million was based upon a total of only 118.

Dry Investigator Quits New York State Post

(Associated Press.)

Prohibition officials said yesterday that Charles W. Kress, prohibition investigator in central New York State, had submitted his resignation to the bureau after making a series of sweeping charges against dry law enforcement conditions there.

Howard T. Jones, acting prohibition administrator, explained, however, that Kress had not resigned because of the conditions of which he complained, but because he did not desire to work under Andrew McCampbell, administrator for the New York district. Kress resigned, he said, rather than accept a transfer to New York City.

GULF COAST SWEPT BY TROPICAL STORM

New Orleans, Bay St. Louis and Gulfport Suffer Losses of Small Craft.

New Orleans, La., July 15 (A.P.).—A tropical storm, riding a 50-mile-an-hour wind, lashed the Louisiana and Mississippi coasts today, damaging small craft, sweeping away bathing piers and fishing camps and hampering traffic. No casualties had been reported early tonight.

The Weather Bureau here reported the center of the disturbance moving inland between New Orleans and Morgan City, to the west of here, but it was to the east, along the Mississippi coastal area, that the hardest blow was reported this afternoon.

A steadily rising wind finally reached a velocity of 40 to 55 miles an hour in the vicinity of Gulfport, Biloxi and Bay St. Louis. Accompanied by driving rain, the gale kicked up a 6-foot tide that pounded the sea wall and dashed over into the coastline highway, wrecking public and private piers.

Yachts gathered at Biloxi for the annual regatta sought the safety of the inner harbor there, where they were joined by fishing smacks and schooners. Numerous small boats were battered to pieces against the seawall.

Power and telephone lines were generally damaged in the section, and trains were halted for a time at Bay St. Louis. At midafternoon the barometer at Gulfport had fallen to 29.88 and appeared to be stationary there.

The disturbance was heralded in New Orleans early today with a 30-mile wind and a 5-inch rain. Planes attached to the national air tour were held at the local airport on advice of the Weather Bureau.

Morgan City, which had prepared for the worst of the blow, appeared to have come off lightly. The wind there today was not more than 25 miles an hour and the barometer, after dropping to 29.60 at noon, began to rise a few hours later.

Confidence Revives In German Bonds

Rally on Exchange Cuts Down Losses Except in Reich Loans.

New York, July 15 (U.P.).—A rally in German bonds near the close of the session on the New York Stock Exchange today suggested the investment fraternity was regaining some confidence in Germany's ability to work out her own salvation, but the list of Reich loans at the close showed the results of another day of aggressive liquidation that carried the issues down to new record low levels.

Bond.	Sales.	Close.	Net loss.
German 5½s.....	$693,000	58	1

Gunnery Trophy Given To Battleship Idaho

(Associated Press.)

The battleship Idaho yesterday came into possession of a trophy she will be unable to defend. The ship captured from the New Mexico the bronze plaque awarded annually as a gunnery trophy. In addition $20 of prize money goes to each enlisted man on the ship along with a letter of commendation to Capt. H. L. Wyman and other officers and another trophy from the Society of the Sons of the Revolution in Massachusetts.

The Idaho will not be eligible to compete for continued possession of the trophy, as on October 1 she is scheduled to undergo modernization which will take about two years.

Record Dry Force Ready for Drive

(Associated Press.)

The biggest force of Federal prohibition agents in history last night was prepared to act upon instructions from Washington for a campaign against commercial liquor law violations, leaving private violators principally to other agencies.

Information at prohibition headquarters during the day was that the last of the 335 new agents had finished their schooling yesterday, and most of them had reported for duty at their new posts.

Although formal announcements were lacking, official indication was given that the drive of the augmented dry forces was centered particularly upon the New York, Philadelphia and Chicago districts.

Of the 165 new agents placed in the field some months ago, as the advance guard of the 500 additional men authorized by Congress, more than 65 were sent into these districts.

FORGERY IS CHARGED TO BRENTWOOD MAN

Three Convictions Follow Prohibition Case Trials in Prince Georges.

Arrested on a charge that he forged a check of the Brentwood Volunteer Fire Department for $15, Belt Lee, of Brentwood, yesterday asked to have his case continued for one week when it was called in Prince Georges County Police Court in Hyattsville. Judge J. Chew Sheriff granted his request.

According to Edward R. Stewart, who swore out the warrant against Lee, the accused man signed the names of H. S. Allison, chief of the department, and Albert M. Wolfinger, secretary, to a $15 check. The check was given to Stewart in payment for an inner tube and Stewart, a storekeeper, gave Lee the balance in cash. Lee is free on bond of $250 furnished by his parents.

Convictions resulted in three liquor cases heard yesterday in the court, the fines ranging from $50 to $200. Raymond Riggs, who was caught with a load of fourteen cases on the Riggs road, was fined $200, with an alternative of six months in the House of Correction. Ernest E. Skinner, who was caught in a lumber yard on Rhode Island avenue, was fined $125 for transportation and possession. Ralph A. Packard, of Washington, paid $50 for possession, having been arrested near College Park.

Francis M. Richards was held for the grand jury on a charge of non-support of his wife, Maude, and child, posting bond of $200. Sam Jeffries, of Glenn Dale, was fined $50 for assault on Nelson Harvey, a volunteer fireman of Glenn Dale. Jeffries accused Harvey of having informed on him to police. Last week Jeffries was fined $100 for possession.

R. N. Fry, of East Riverdale, was fined $1 for having no registration card and $1 for having no license. Thomas H. Brown, an examiner at the Patent Office living at 633 Maryland avenue southwest, forfeited $5 for failing to keep to the right and $5 for exceeding 25 miles per hour. Herbert R. Dean, of 1716 C street northeast, forfeited $5 for having no registration card and $5 for exceeding 25 miles per hour. Ray Lucas, of Christiansburg, Va., was fined $5 for speeding but a charge of reckless driving was dismissed.

George Adams, of Capitol Heights, a former carpenter, has been appointed building inspector for the metropolitan district of Prince Georges County and opened his office in the Hyattsville County Building yesterday.

Coincidental with Mr. Adams' appointment yesterday the new building code for the area went into effect. The Park and Planning Commission was authorized by the recent Legislature to draw up such a code and appoint a man to enforce its provisions. The new code is drawn so that it does not conflict with other regulations in force in various municipalities in the county.

Mr. Adams, who is 54 years old, has been active in public affairs in Capitol Heights for several years. He was one of the organizers and first chief of the volunteer fire department, and has been a trustee of the school for seventen years. He has also seen service on the building committee of the school and the building committee of the Maryland Park High School. He was once a candidate for mayor and is now president of the Community Band. His salary will be $1,200 a year, but he will have to pay his own traveling expenses.

Hereafter building permits for the metropolitan area will be issued from Mr. Adams' office in Hyattsville. Formerly all permits were issued in Marlboro. Mr. Adams will make a monthly report of building activities to the county commissioners.

The new code provides an inspection fee of $5 for the first $5,000 valuation of a building, with an additional fee of $1 for each additional $1,000 of valuation. All buildings costing between $1,000 and $5,000 will have to pay the $5 fee, but those costing less than $1,000 will pay only a $1 fee. All these funds will go to the park and planning commission. There is also the usual $1 county fee for issuing the permit, which will go to the county, as in the past.

The town council of Edmonston will meet tonight to name the new town officers and to swear in the newly elected mayor and councilmen. Those to be sworn in are Eldridge Lusby, mayor-elect, and George W. Sheet and W. Brook Hunter, councilmen from the First and Second Wards.

Claiming that the removal of the fire hydrant in front of the Murray Marshall estate leaves them without fire protection, residents of Decatur Heights have appointed a committee to lay their complaint before the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission. The committee is composed of Arthur P. Owens, Stedman J. Cannon, W. R. Beattie, and E. J. Cannon.

High-powered street lights will be installed along the Baltimore boulevard in Bladensburg as soon as the road has been widened, according to an announcement made by the town commissioners. They will be similar to those installed in Hyattsville.

No action has been taken on the proposal to put lights along Bryant avenue in Decatur Heights, the commissioners waiting to learn how much the improvement will cost. Bryant and Eleanor avenues have been surveyed in an effort to make an estimate of the cost of grading them. Other street and sidewalk improvements are planned, although the tax rate was reduced from 30 to 25 cents this year.

Trust Law Repeal By Filipinos Urged

Gov. Gen. Davis' Message Asks Legislators to Drop Politics.

Manila, Thursday, July 16 (A.P.).—Filipinos were urged today by Gov. Gen. Davis in his annual message to the insular legislature to turn their minds from political to economic problems in order that the Philippine Islands may hold their place in world commerce.

"For thirty years," Mr. Davis told the Legislature, "politics, not economics, have held the public attention. In our present critical condition, economics must dominate politics, not politics dominate economics."

Urging repeal of antitrust laws, Davis said they were "bred on unsound theory prevalent thirty years ago in the United States, but now discarded. Consolidations permit better management and economies which bring lower prices to the people, and in time of financial distress save business from disasters harmful to the whole community," he added.

GROUP OF COLORED POSTAL MEN MEETS

Special to The Washington Post.

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15.—The sixth biennial session of the National Alliance of Postal Employes, a colored organization, opened today at Herron Hill High School following a preliminary address at an informal meeting by Senator James J. Davis, who, with Arch Coleman, First Assistant Postmaster General, flew from Washington for the occasion, returning there immediately afterward. In urging members of the organization to higher service, Senator Davis paid tribute to the character of governmental service rendered by President Hoover in a time of serious economic crisis.

"From the President to the humblest worker in governmental service," he said, "we must think what to do for the man farthest down. There is no man, with larger heart, striving to do more for our people than Herbert Hoover. If you men of the Postoffice Department will strive to give, likewise, a greater and better service to the people of the United States, the Nation, through Congress, will show appreciation of your work."

Greetings from Postmaster General Walter F. Brown were brought by Mr. Coleman, while those of Gov. Pinchot were extended by Charles C. McGovern, county commissioner. A letter from W. M. Mooney, postmaster at Washington, was read to the convention, and ordered printed for general distribution.

Mr. Mooney said: "There could be no better example of high principles and splendid manhood than that displayed by the president of the Washington branch of your organization, James V. Stevenson. He has been of invaluable help to me in carrying out some ideas I have tried and put into practice for betterment of conditions in connection with some of the colored employes of the Washington office, which have proved successful.

"A survey of colored personnel of the Washington office reveals out of 1,800 employes, 474 colored clerks and carriers, 41 colored special clerks and 110 colored special delivery messengers, a rather high percentage in comparison with other offices of its size. The personnel consists of a high grade of individuals. I have just signed a recommendation for promotion of 24 clerks of the highest automatic scale to the special clerk grade, six of whom were colored. It will be my pleasure and duty to continue to recognize efficiency in connection with the colored employes of the Washington office."

The letter was brought to the convention by Clarence W. Alexander, a delegate.

Doak and Alpine See Hoover on Idle Service

(Associated Press.)

Secretary Doak and John R. Alpine, head of the Federal Unemployment Service, discussed the unemployment situation at some length yesterday with President Hoover.

After the conference Secretary Doak said he and Alpine had outlined to the President the set-up of the Employment Service which has been completed by Alpine since Congress adjourned March 4.

FARM BOARD CHIEF SEES WIDER GAINS

(Associated Press.)

The Farm Board completed its second year yesterday, with its policies the center of growing controversies. While Chairman Stone was pointing to the growth of cooperatives as the board's outstanding achievement, the low price of wheat in the Midwest grain belt continued to hold attention.

The agricultural marketing act, creating the board, was adopted June 15, 1929. A month later the board was called together and since has been the center of numerous sharp disputes.

These have revolved around the purchase of wheat and cotton to steady declining markets, loans made to cooperatives, competition with private trade and now over the disposition of surplus wheat.

Increased assistance in forming cooperatives will be the principal aim of the board during the coming year. Mr. Stone predicted a large gain in membership despite what he termed a concerted effort on the part of private traders to prevent farmers from organizing.

He said the success of cooperatives lies in more orderly marketing, greater money returns and better quality of crops.

BANKS AND INSURANCE MEN URGE INCREASE IN RAIL RATES

Tax Burden Is Felt.

In order to keep railroad securities legal for mutual savings bank and life insurance investments they must earn 1½ times fixed charges in many States. Mr. Parmelee said in 1929, the record year for railroad earnings, net earnings for the carriers as a whole were 2.28 times fixed charges, but this dropped in 1930 to 1.76 and for the first four months of 1930 to 1.27. Taxes other than Federal now take more than one-third of the net income of the lines, he said.

R. H. Aishton, president of the American Railway Association, said it was his observation that further improvement in efficiency and economy in opeartion brought about by better use of facilities must largely depend on expenditures of large amounts of capital for improvements. Economies in operation in the future, he added, depend largely on development and improvement of locomotives, cars, improved machinery and shops and general maintenance facilities.

Railways Still Mainstays.

"I do not think it is possible," he added, "to overestimate the importance to the Nation as a whole of maintaining railroad credit at a point which permits a continuation of the capital expenditures which are essential not only that the railroads may provide at all times a machine adequate in every respect to the transportation demands of the country but also that their business may be conducted at the lowest possible operating cost. * * *

"Since it is admitted by everyone that the railroads are and will continue to be the mainstay of our national transportation system, it is my judgment that it is in the best interests of the people as a whole to keep them in a position where their credit is sound and where required capital is available in order that they may function efficiently in time of peace and be instantly available for service as one of the principal means of national defense."

He said the roads had reduced operating expenses in 1930 as compared with 1920 by a total of $1,896,662,459.

Proposal Is Outlined.

The proposal of the railroads for increased coal rates, which are excepted from the blanket increase proposal, was outlined by Roy S. Kern, Pittsburgh, rate expert.

Mr. Kern explained that rates to the West of the Pittsburgh district would be based on what is known as the Inner Crescent group. This is one of three Central Freight Association groups, known as the Ohio, Inner Crescent and Outer Crescent, taking in the great coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, Kentucky, Virginia and West Virginia.

The Inner Crescent rate would be increased 15 per cent and the resulting figure in cents would be applied to the rates to all points from each district. The same application would be made to Illinois and southern and northwestern Indiana. The Inner Crescent base increase would be applied to points west of affected territory with existing differentials preserved.

GOVERNMENT DENIES FLOGGING CHILDREN

Justice Department Reveals Efforts to Have States Punish Delinquents.

(Associated Press.)

The Department of Justice yesterday issued a formal denial of reports that children were being flogged in institutions under the charge of the Federal Bureau of Prisons.

Such statements arose, the department said, from a recent report of the Wickersham Commission upon juvenile delinquents and their treatment under the Federal system of justice. In it were descriptions of floggings and harsh treatment given Federal juvenile offenders confined in State institutions.

At the same time, the department revealed the prison bureau had been at work for months drafting legislation to bring about results, while the Wickersham report made "no definite or concrete proposal for legislation."

One of these legislative suggestions, it was said, would authorize the "discontinuance of prosecutions against juvenile offenders in the Federal courts wherever it appears they may be dealt with properly by State or local authorities."

Other proposed laws included authorization for transporting child offenders in Federal custody back to their homes for prosecution under State law and the authorization of Federal aid to local training schools where Federal offenders may be confined.

R. S. HAND, OFFICIAL OF TREASURY, DEAD

Coroner Declares Suicide in Auto Fumes Poisoning in Garage.

A certificate of suicide was issued yesterday in the death of Robert Godfrey Hand, 52 years old, commissioner of accounts and deposits of the Treasury Department, who was found dead by his wife and a colored man in the garage of his home, 1331 Gallatin street northwest, about 5:30 o'clock yesterday morning.

Doors and windows of the garage were tightly closed and Mr. Hand's bed had not been slept in. The family physician, Dr. William M. Sprigg, 1801 I street, was called and pronounced the Treasury official dead. Coroner J. Ramsay Nevitt issued the suicide certificate after talking with Dr. Sprigg, but members of the family and a representative of the Treasury Department insisted the death was accidental.

John Lambert, colored, employed by the Hand family, came to the home about 5:30 and heard the motor of the automobile running in the garage. He aroused Mrs. Hand and together they entered the garage and found the man slumped over the steering wheel of the car.

Talked of Taking Life.

Dr. Sprigg said he had been treating the man for the last two months for a nervous ailment. Mr. Hand during that time had talked several times of ending his life with carbon monoxide gas, poison generated by the exhaust of gasoline motors.

Mr. Hand had virtually retired from his work at the Treasury two months ago to recover from effects of overwork, members of his family said. They said he had worked ten or twelve hours a day continuously for years.

The Treasury official was a native of Shubuta, Miss. He entered the service of the Treasury Department in 1902 on a $660 yearly salary in the office of the auditor. During his years in the Treasury he had built a reputation as a fiscal expert.

Held High Position.

As commissioner of accounts and deposits he kept accounts of incoming and outgoing money and directed the deposit of receipts and disbursement of Government moneys through various branches and Federal Reserve banks. His estimates as to the income of the Government and its expenditures were accepted by the Treasury as the basis on which future plans were formulated.

Last year Mr. Hand was direct representative of Secretary Mellon and the Undersecretary. His figures on conditions in the Treasury were on their desks every day. During the war Mr. Hand served in the War Loan Office and as assistant treasurer. He was named commissioner of accounts and deposits in January, 1920.

Mr. Hand is survived by his widow, the former Miss Ruby Woolverton, also a native of Shubuta, and two sons, Robert, 18, and Francis, 20. Private funeral service will be Friday after arrival of a brother, Dr. William Hand, professor of chemistry at Mississippi Agricultural and Mechanical College, where Mr. Hand was graduated; a sister, Mrs. Fannie Beck, of Charleston, S. C., wife of Henry L. Beck, head of the Atlantic Coast lighthouse division, and William Woolverton, Birmingham, Ala., attorney.

Helped Draft Debt Plan.

Mr. Hand drafted many details of President Hoover's debt holiday plan, studying the intricate figures which make up international money exchanges, when the idea was first projected. Commenting on his death, Acting Treasury Secretary Ogden L. Mills said the Government had lost a public servant of the finest type.

"He had served the department for more than 30 years, and through successive assignments to the different offices acquired an unrivaled knowledge of the finances of our Government," Mr. Mills declared.

"He rendered extraordinary service during the period of war and postwar financing. In the important position which he had held for eleven years he was responsible for much of the technical work in connection with the fiscal operation of the Government. He had broad knowledge and sound judgment. In all matters relating to Government financing we all looked to him for guidance and counsel.

"Devotion to duty and a high ideal of public service were the guiding principles of his life. His untimely death was due to a nervous breakdown which unquestionably resulted from overwork and the inability of a frail body to stand the demands of an indomitable spirit. In his death the Treasury has suffered an irreparable loss and those of us who worked with him have lost a loyal and devoted friend."

Stone Mountain Plan Faces Loss

Special Issue of Coins Must Be Disposed Of Soon, Keyes Says.

Atlanta, Ga., July 15 (A.P.).—Mayor Keyes said today the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial project faces the prospect of losing more than half a million in potential construction funds unless its business is stabilized so that a special issue of memorial half dollars can be disposed of in less than a year.

He said he had been informed by the Atlanta Federal Reserve Bank that more than 1,000,000 of the coins held at the bank would be shipped immediately to the Philadelphia Mint to be held there only until next June 30, and not that long if need should arise in the meantime for the bullion.

When the coins were minted the plan was to dispose of them for $1 each, the profit going to the memorial. Many were sold on that basis. Federal Reserve authorities announced some time ago that some disposition of the coins must be made since they have constituted for several years a frozen asset of the Atlanta branch. Congress originally authorized a $5,000,000 issue of the coins, but not all of them were minted.

3 Taken After Escape In County Sheriff's Car

Denton, Md., July 15 (A.P.).—Two men held in connection with the $50,000 robbery March 16 of the Bank of Ridgely and another charged with bootlegging escaped from the county jail here last night in the sheriff's automobile, but were recaptured early today.

The three left the jail by means of a passkey stolen by a trusty, Sheriff Gurney Tarbutton said. They are George Blanchfield, Jerome Skaggs and Russell Dean, the latter held on a dry charge.

Program at Akron NamingAnnounced

Mrs. Hoover to Go to Ohio City in Private Car on August 8.

Akron, Ohio, July 15 (A.P.).—The program for Mrs. Herbert Hoover's christening of the Navy Zeppelin Akron here August 8 was announced today. The First Lady, arriving here shortly before noon by private railroad car, will proceed with her party to Portage Country Club where they will be guests of the Akron women's chapter National Aeronautic Association at a luncheon.

At the conclusion of the luncheon, Mrs. Hoover will receive guests and then proceed to the Zeppelin dock where she will release a flock of white pigeons and formally name the Akron as the climax of a half hour ceremony, scheduled to start at 2:30 p. m.

Following the christening Mrs. Hoover will attend a reception in her honor at the home of P. W. Litchfield, Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation president. Departure for Washington is set for 7:50 p. m.

Alleged Virility Drug Held Fraud, 2 Seized

Nashville, Tenn., July 15 (A.P.).—Dr. Edgar Gleaves and Miss Lena Davis, his secretary, were at liberty today under bonds of $1,000 each on Federal charges of using the mails to defraud in connection with national sale of a preparation advertised to restore virility.

Assistant United States District Attorney W. Poe Maddox said cases against the two and a third person not yet arrested had been worked up by special agents from Washington, D. C., and that indictments had been returned at the spring term of court.

St. Jean, Cap Perat, France, July 15 (A.P.).—Secretary Andrew W. Mellon will leave for home early next week probably by way of Paris, his secretary said today.

200 ROAD WORKERS ARRESTED IN STRIKE

Demanded $5 Daily Wage; 19 to Face Deportation Proceedings.

White Plains, N. Y., July 15 (A.P.). After a series of disorders which at times reached riot proportions, police tonight had arrested more than 200 striking road workers, 19 of whom are being held to face deportation proceedings.

An all-night search was to be conducted by police in hotels and rooming houses here in an effort to locate 150 others who they said participated i nthe disturbances today.

One striker was shot and several others injured during the day when police used clubs to restore order after 750 road workers walked out in protest against wage cuts to 40 cents an hour.

Compromise Is Refused.

They refused a compromise of $4 per day and demanded a flat $5 daily wage. Those who walked out were replaced by white-collar workers, a dozen of whom were at work near White Plains when police said, the strikers began to throw stones and shout at them.

A few shots into the air failed to halt them, and Patrolman Joseph McCue fired at Arthur Rose, 40, one of the leaders. Rose fell, a bullet in his shoulder. As he went down his followers melted away.

Pittsburgh, July 15 (U.P.).—Strikebreakers were fired on and an attempt was made to bomb coal company buildings at Daisyville today in the tri-State mine strike.

Sprayed With Shots.

Two cabs bearing twelve strikebreakers from Wheeling to Pittsburgh were sprayed with machine-gun fire from a passing automobile. Windshields and tops of the cabs were shattered, but none of the occupants was injured.

Police employed by the Vesta Coal Co. said that a bomb set off behind five company buildings was placed too far away to cause any damage. Owners of the cabs which were fired on said they had been warned to quit transporting strike-breakers.

Today's bombing was the fifth this week.

Flint, Mich., Man Backs Sea Flight

Retired Sausage Maker Repays Sentimental Debt to Hungary.

Flint, Mich., July 15 (A.P.).—While George Endres and Alexander Magyar, in their plane, Justice to Hungary, flew through the night over the north Atlantic a retired Flint sausage manufacturer, who made the flight possible, was in Budapest awaiting the completion of the latest European aerial crossing. The sausage manufacturer is Emil Szalay, who invested $30,000 in the flight to pay "a debt of gratitude" to the land of his birth.

Szalay met Endres and Magyar at Detroit last year and heard their dream of making a flight from Detroit to Budapest. The fliers were without funds so Szalay bought the plane and financed preparations for the flight.

The flight is to call attention to what Hungarians believe was an unfair division of Hungarian territory after the World War. This sentiment suggested the name for the plane.

Seventh Escape Made by Convict

Six Others Leave Georgia Prison; Man Has 145 Years to Serve.

Milledgeville, Ga., July 15 (A.P.).—Leland Harvey, under sentence of 145 years for banditry, made his seventh escape from the State penitentiary here. Six other prisoners were reported to have escaped with him.

Harvey first was sentenced for robbery in 1924. He escaped four times in the succeeding eighteen months. He was pardoned by Gov. Hardman in 1927, but was convicted again in December the following year. Ten days later he had escaped from the chain gang.

Early the following year Harvey and a friend protested a bill in a Miama (Fla.) night club. Harvey held up patrons of the club, but as the men left the place they were confronted by police.

In February, 1930, Harvey led two companions in an escape from the prison farm, but was recaptured.

Five Million Bond Issue Sold.

Jackson, Miss., July 15 (A.P.).—Mississippi's largest bond issue in history, $5,000,000, was purchased today by a syndicate of bankers and bond houses at par and accrued interest of 4½ per cent. The bonds are to take up outstanding guaranty deposit certificates held by depositors in State banks which failed prior to March 11, 1930.

Radio Firm Decides to Back New System of Television

Philadelphia Company Brings Inventor of Receiver Without Rotating Disks to Work on Experiments; Guess Refused on Marketing Date.

Philadelphia, July 15 (A.P.).—Philo T. Farnsworth, 24-year-old San Francisco engineer who has developed a system of television transmission without the aid of moving parts, is to carry on future development work in the East.

Announcement was made here tonight that the Philco Radio Corporation and Farnsworth had reached an agreement to that effect. Farnsworth is due here tomorrow to take up his work in the local laboratories, which have been making an investigation of his system for some time.

"Under an agreement made between Philco and Philo T. Farnsworth," the statement said, "further development work on the Farnsworth television system will be carried on in the Philco laboratories.

"Company officials are confident that the Farnsworth system will be the one finally adopted because of elimination of all rotating disks or other moving parts, and equally important because of the narrow broadcasting band necessary for transmission, which will multiply many times the number of broadcasting stations which can operate simultaneously without interference.

"The company wishes to point out, however, that much development work still is to be done before television is ready for the market."

The Farnsworth system consists of the use of special cathode ray tubes both in the receiver and the transmitter. These do electrically the work that other television systems use scanning disks and motors to perform. In other words, it is a method of electrical scanning.

HUNGARIANS WING WAY OVER OCEAN

Favorable Winds Indicated, but Heavy Ceiling May Impede Progress.

longitude 73:30 west, and the airplane at the time was 143 miles to the southeast of there.

Although the straight line distance from Harbor Grace to the point was given by the Radio Marine Corporation here as about 1,100 miles, it was said the fliers actually had flown between 140 and 160 miles farther. The route they followed was not the most direct.

Sky Remains Clear.

The heavy clouds which threatened to make the plane's journey a perilous one apparently had disappeared, a message received by the Radio Marine Corporation here indicated. That message, sent by the Stavangerfjord at 7:40, Eastern standard time, contained the brief information:

"All's well. Had bad weather, but now clear sky."

The S. S. Stavangerfjord, a ship of the Norwegian-American Line, left Bergen, Norway, for New York on July 11, and is due here July 20.

Harbor Grace, Newfoundland, July 15 (A.P.).—The Hungarian army reserve officers, Alexander Magyar and George Endres, today joined the small group of aviators who have attempted the west-to-east crossing of the Atlantic. They took off in their airplane, the Justice to Hungary, at 1:48 p. m., Newfoundland time (11:18 a. m. Eastern standard time) for Budapest, and in the absence of radio reports were believed to be far out to sea tonight.

Wireless on Board.

The Hungarians had a wireless on board and said they would send the call letters KHNZA on 600 meters every hour if they believed it necessary. Weather reports just prior to the take-off indicated the fliers would have favorable winds over most of their route, but a dangerous ceiling formed by dense clouds might impede their progress.

Light rain fell here soon after the take-off, and the wind had shifted to northwest from the west.

The Justice to Hungary got away to a good start considering the heavy load of gasoline on board. Some difficulty was experienced by a mechanic in starting the motor, but, after it had been warmed up for about 40 minutes, everything mechanical was pronounced satisfactory.

Object of Flight

The object of the flight, Endres and Magyar had previously said, was to call the attention of the world to what they termed wrongs done Hungary after the World War.

Magyar and Endres both supervised the work of placing food and clothing aboard the plane. Their food supply included ham, chicken and tomato sandwiches, two quartrs of ice water, two quartrs of black coffee and a score of chocolate bars.

While the motor was being warmed up, an unidentified woman took advantage of a slowing down of the engine to present rosary beads to both men. They smiled their appreciation as the roar of the motor drowned out the words of their admirer who wished them good luck.

Laura Ingalls Arrives In New York for Start

(Associated Press.)

Laura Ingalls arrived at New York at 2:45 p. m. (E. S. T.) yesterday from St. Louis on the last leg of her flight from the West Coast to the starting point of her flight to France. As Ruth Nichols did, she will attempt to win the honor of being the first woman to pilot a plane across the ocean. Miss Nichols cracked up at St. John, New Brunswick, and is still recovering from an injured spine.

Wiley Post and Harold Gatty, who recently flew around the world in less than nine days, arrived at New York yesterday to complete arrangements for a lecture tour of the country by air.

Otto Hillig and Holger Holriis, first to cross the north Atlantic by air this year, will arrive by steamer tomorrow to receive honors such as already accorded Post and Gatty, honors which will be given Magyar and Endres and Miss Ingalls if they are equally successful.

DO-X Will Fly Next Week.

The seaplane DO-X was at Rio de Janeiro for a complete overhauling in drydock following upon its recent transatlantic hop. It will start a leisurely flight to New York late next week.

Edward Maloney and Seth Yerring, who attempted a nonstop flight from New York to Mexico City only to be forced down near the Mexican border, flew to the beach where their plane was damaged in the forced landing Monday. They hoped to repair it in time to fly to Brownsville, Tex., last night.

Joseph Le Brix and Marcel Doret, French fliers who were forced down in a remote portion of Siberia on their attempt to set a new straight-line flying record, plan to board a train for Moscow tomorrow. They probably will reach Paris next week, where another plane, similar to the Hyphen in which they attempted the unsuccessful flight, is waiting for them should they elect to make another effort.

Roosevelt Field, N. Y., July 15 (A. P.).—Clyde Pangborn and Hugh Herndon, jr., youthful fliers who are planning a flight around the world, said tonight they would not attempt an Atlantic hop-off until entirely satisfied the weather was in their favor.

150,000 Tickets Sold To Field in Budapest

Vienna (Thursday), July 16 (A.P.). Hungarian aviation authorities received a message at midnight (6 p. m. E. S. T.), from the airplane Justice to Hungary, "now ove rthe Atlantic on a flight from Harbor Grace, N. F., to Hungary, saying "All is well, going fine."

Approximately 150,000 tickets of admittance to the landing field at Budapest were reported to have been sold to the public up to tonight.

Interest in the flight was said to be extremely keen and a great crowd was expecte dto greet the fliers if they arrived there.

Police Hurt In Viennese Riot.

Vienna, July 25 (A.P.).—Seven policemen were injured, three of them seriously enough to be taken to a hospital, in a clash with a crowd of Communists tonight on the Lorenz Bayerplatz. The Communists were celebrating the successful coup of 1927. Police arrested 40.

Farm Leader Requests Short Sellers' Names

Amarillo, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—L. Gough, president of the Farmers Protective League, said today he had mailed a letter to President Hoover, asking the President to reveal the names of the "limited number of speculators" whom he accused of short selling to depress the price of wheat.

"These men are violators of the law, and the grain futures act provides that they can be exposed by the Secretary of Agriculture 'through a court of competent jurisdiction,'" Gough said.

THE RAILROAD CRISIS.

The railroads of the United States have asked the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant an increase of 15 per cent in rates. An emergency has arisen. The railroads are not earning enough to enable them to operate efficiently. Congress intended that they should have fair returns. The depression has hit the railroads hard. They have taken the only step open to them, which is to ask the Interstate Commerce Commission to revise the rates.

It is the duty of the Interstate Commerce Commission to adjust rates so that the railroads shall earn a fair return. This duty the commission has failed to perform.

The railroads may not be entitled to 15 per cent increase. It is for the commission to decide whether an increase shall be granted, and how much.

The emergency demands that the commission shall give a prompt decision. The railroads can not give efficient public service when they operate at a loss. Congress long ago recognized the fact that upon the welfare of the railroads depends the welfare of the public served by them. A just and fair revenue is commanded by law.

The Interstate Commerce Commission, instead of meeting this emergency, has issued an order whose only purpose seems to be to delay. It proposes to investigate "certain practices" of the railroads of the entire country, to determine whether the roads have been efficiently managed. Among the practices to be investigated in exhaustive hearings are the handling of coal at tidewater, lake coal, private freight cars, spotting of cars at industries and construction of sidings for shippers. Other subjects will be taken up "from time to time."

The question whether the railroads have been efficiently managed can be answered now by the Interstate Commerce Commission. It has its investigators on every railroad. It possesses all the facts. If through its own inefficiency the Interstate Commerce Commission is unable to determine whether the railroads are efficiently managed an investigation of the Interstate Commerce Commission is in order. Every one knows that the railroads are more efficiently managed now than ever before. Had they not practiced rigid economy and increased their efficiency they would now be in an even worse predicament.

In this emergency the future of the railroads and $24,000,000,000 of securities is at stake. The railroads ask for a decision on the specific request for an increase of revenue to enable them to operate. The Interstate Commerce Commission is in a position to give a decision. It is dodging its responsibility by pretending that it is in need of information on minor questions which require many hearings in various parts of the country. The commission seems to be utterly unaware of its responsibility to the American people, who demand that every branch of the United States Government shall do everything possible to counteract the depression and give individual citizens a chance to make a living.

Edward D. Duffield, president of the Prudential Life Insurance Company of America, told the Interstate Commerce Commission yesterday that the interests of 50,000,000 life insurance policyholders and 13,000,000 savings banks depositors are threatened by the decrease in railroad revenues. Insurance companies and savings banks hold railroad bonds amounting to $4,700,000,000. Mr. Duffield told the commission that if the credit of the railroads could not be conserved the insurance companies and savings banks would be compelled to refuse to lend further money to them.

The railroads of the United States are owned by the people. The roads must operate if the people are not to be robbed of their businesses and livelihood. A great emergency requires the Interstate Commerce Commission, acting for the Government and the people, to act promptly. Having failed to adjust rates that would have kept the railroads from danger, the commission should now retrieve its error by establishing just rates without delay.

STUDY OF MUSCLE SHOALS.

A new chapter in the tangled history of Muscle Shoals has opened with the appointment of President Hoover's committee of experts. Tennessee and Alabama have already selected committees to restudy methods of using these nitrate and power plants for the benefit of the people. They will cooperate with Edward A. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, and experts from the Army, who constitute the Federal committee, in working out a new plan for presentation to Congress.

Muscle Shoals has come to be considered in many quarters as a hopeless enigma. The advocates of Government operation as an experiment in socialism have not been strong enough to secure the adoption of their program. When it became apparent that Congress could not agree upon a leasing act, the Norris bill was passed last March. But President Hoover vetoed it and laid plans for a new approach to the subject. His purpose is to let the people who are most concerned with the fate of Muscle Shoals work out a plan for its operation. Apparently the committee will be given a free hand to devise some means of putting these expensive plants to work for agriculture.

The President's suggestion in his veto message was that a joint Federal and State commission be given authority to lease the Muscle Shoals plants on terms that it might find advisable. Congress has not given the commission that authority, so it can only suggest a solution. Nevertheless, its recommendations will exert a powerful influence over members of Congress. Hope for enactment of the Norris bill is dead and must remain so as long as President Hoover is in the White House. Congress is anxious to put Muscle Shoals to work. If the commission comes forth with a practical arrangement which does not seek to put the Government into competition with its citizens and which protects the interests of the taxpayers in this project, Congress may authorize the commission to puts its plan into effect.

President Hoover deserves credit for saving the country from what probably would have been a costly venture in socialism. If his present plan results in a practical solution of the Muscle Shoals problem he will be entitled to double commendation.

A CORTES AGAIN IN SPAIN.

The provisional government of the Spanish Republic has delivered its assumed authority to the newly elected constituent assembly and awaits its decision as to the character of Spain's future government. There appears to be little doubt, however, that the constitution prepared by the Zamora cabinet will be adopted without material change, since the Republican-Socialist combination supporting the provisional authorities is also in control of the Cortes.

For the first time in 50 years a really popular assembly is in session at Madrid. It was ushered in amid the joyous acclamations of the people, and while many serious questions of policy confront it, the sessions began with promise of orderly consideration of all vital matters affecting national welfare. Religious, land and labor problems await decision and the autonomous rights of Catalonia and other regions may lead to spirited controversy.

In his opening address President Zamora expressed the belief that "this will be the last of Spanish revolutions and the first which opens the pathway to social justice." "The revolution," he continued, "showed no signs of greed. The men who present themselves before you come with clean hands. The republic has come after a quarter of a century of struggle for liberty as the perfect example of a peaceful revolution."

The American people are gratified to see the Cortes begin work on a new charter of government under such favorable circumstances.

CHINA'S CONSTITUTION.

China is the third nation within a month to announce a new constitution. The people's national convention at Nanking has anticipated both Spain and Argentina by adoption in provisional form of a fundamental charter declaring that "the sovereignty of the republic of China is vested in the people as a whole." This new "Yueh Fa" provides for a "unified republic forever" and proclaims as its first aim the education as rapidly as possible of China's millions to prepare them for self-government.

All citizens of China, regardless of races, sex, religion or caste, are declared to be equal before the law and no person may be arrested, tried or punished except in accordance with the law. Any one arrested must be given a hearing before competent authority within 24 hours. Only persons in active military service are to be tried by court-martial, except in time of war. Such regulations can not, of course, be put into full effect while large portions of China are ruled by autocratic war lords.

Freedom of speech and publication is assured. The national government pledges activity in the reclamation of waste lands, in fostering irrigation works and the development of oil, coal and minerals. At the same time the state reserves the right to "regulate the production and sale as well as the market price of daily necessaries of the people." Strict supervision over all public and private educational institutions is reserved, provision being made for free education for children and all illiterates. Provinces and counties will be given the greatest measure of autonomy possible.

During the period under the provisional constitution, while the nation is understood to be serving its "political tutelage," the present organization of the Nanking government will remain unchanged. This means that the Kuomintang party and its national congress continue to be the supreme power.

If President Chiang Kai-shek is as successful in subduing the Canton revolt as he was with the northern rebellion, he can then turn his attention to a more energetic campaign against the Communists who have overrun several provinces. Bandit hordes are said to have massacred 250,000 Chinese within a year. So long as these conditions prevail constitutional guarantees are meaningless. China has a long way to go before it can be considered a republic in the Western sense of that term.

Now come the farmers of South Dakota with a plea for a moratorium on grasshoppers. That's a suggestion for those Democrats who want to initiate some kind of a holiday of their own.

"Explosives used for construction in 1930 exceeded the 1929 total." But they won't begin to compare with the explosives that will be used for destruction in 1932.

When Prof. Rogers injected himself into the Department of Commerce row he may have been merely trying to work out a problem in snobbery.

The President wants a moratorium on short selling, but an international holiday for wheat growers might be even more effective.

GEORGE WASHINGTON

From the Saturday Evening Post.

Six years ago a forehanded Congress, by joint resolution, set up a commission charged with the fitting celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington, which will fall on the 22d of February, 1932.

This body has not been idle. It was given a big job, and it has undertaken it in a big way. It has supplemented its own ideas with the advice and assistance of many experts. It has canvassed every practicality, from the participation of school children to the completion of ambitious public works designed as enduring memorials of the character and services of the Father of His Country.

The success of the commission's undertaking is, to a certain degree, already assured, but if its largest possibilities are to be realized it must have the hearty cooperation of every State, town and village; of all public institutions, of churches, universities, schools, women's clubs and social organizations throughout the land.

The commission will endeavor through the daily press, the movies, radio broadcasting and other channels of Nation-wide publicity to keep the public informed as to its activities. In the meantime, the executive offices of the commission for the celebration of the 200th anniversary of the birth of George Washington in the Washington Building, Washington, D. C., may be addressed by those who desire its literature or seek information more specific and extended than that found in its printed matter. The sympathetic collaboration of the commission may be counted upon by those who are trying to further its aims. One of its brochures contains clean-cut suggestions for universities and schools, for patriotic and historical societies, for churches, women's clubs and mercantile houses. Other plans contemplate making all the national holidays which will occur in 1932 contributory to the importance of the bicentenary celebration.

Congress has already appropriated $50,000 for the rehabilitation of Washington's birthplace in Virginia. Another Federal project now under way is the construction of the boulevard from our first President's home at Mount Vernon to Washington, twelve miles away. Provision has already been made for the preservation, as a parkway, of a strip of charming country stretching from Mount Vernon to the Capital City. The United States Mint will strike off a commemorative medal. A definitive edition of Washington's writings is in preparation, and a dozen other appropriate undertakings will round out the list.

History affords no more satisfying national nero than George Washington. The more his life and achievements are studied, the more apparent become the many-sided nature of his genius and the spaciousness of his character. These hard and trying times are meet for such studies. A people habituated to living on the fat of the world, we are feeling the pinch of poverty. We are passing through the doldrums of stagnant business, accentuated by unemployment and agricultural depression. In addition to the hardship everywhere apparent about us is the invisible toll that has been exacted from us in worry, apprehension and impairment of our personal well-being. Our nervous reaction, if we are to believe some of the specialists, is more grave and more widespread than that which we experienced in 1893.

In such dour circumstances Washington would have shown the temper of his steel. His biographers are agreed that he was never more truly at his best than in situations which were seemingly hopeless. Whether in the wilderness or on the battlefield, in the council chamber or in the halls of Congress, whether in jeopardy of armed foe or of treacherous colleagues, the more overwhelming the odds against him, the higher rose his courage, the more inflexible became his will, the more complete became his mastery over himself and those about him. Adversity only stiffened his resolution. Danger only increased his coolness or heightened his resourcefulness, and the joy of battle gave strength and steadiness to his performance.

His whole career bristles with examples of his personal courage, his contempt of danger and hardship and his unacquaintance with fear. If at Yorktown he was the beau ideal of the military hero, at Valley Forge he was the demigod.

A substantial blessing, easily acquired, is a fuller and more intimate acquaintance with the character of Washington. Neither young nor old can acquire this knowledge, with alert and imaginative minds, without thereby becoming wiser and better. There is no reason why such studies should be deferred for another year.

Teaching a Dog Show Tricks Won't Enable Him to Bring Home the Cows.

By ROBERT QUILLEN

I AM sending my daughter to college, but I have little faith in the value of "formal education."

I am sending her because she lives in a region where it is customary to ask young ladies: "Where did you finish?" I am sending her because her friends are in college and she would be bored at home. I am sending her because she may wish to teach school, as other girls do in this region while waiting for a husband, and she can't get a job unless she has a college diploma. And, finally, I am sending her because she lives in a rural village and college training gives village girls a poise and worldly-wisdom they can not acquire at home.

If she could hope for no benefit except the book learning an ordinary college provides, I should keep her at home. The game isn't worth the candle.

There are statistics which prove that college graduates earn more money than high school graduates, but they are misleading.

Most of our professional men are college graduates, but their earning ability is derived from their special training—not from the college course that preceded it.

Most of our successful men are trained in college, but it does not follow that college made them successful. It is more probable that native ability and ambition made them what they are, for other men have won equal success without college training and thousands have failed in spite of it.

Colleges can't make dull youngsters brilliant. If college-bred men are able, it is because able men attend college.

Statistics may prove the college man a money-maker, but statistics are used to prove many things that aren't true.

The sane and scientific way to judge the worth of colleges is to observe college graduates.

The few score I know are no better informed and no more intelligent than other men and women of their age and class.

They remember little of the knowledge they "crammed" to pass their examinations. They have no taste for learning. They read nothing except headlines and popular fiction.

With all its faults and limitations, college is a necessary preliminary in training for the professions. Its associations give some breadth and poise to provincials. And in a land of climbers, well stocked with snobs, a college diploma gives some prestige.

But the boy or girl who has a living to make, and isn't brilliant enough to survive competition in one of the over-crowded professions, will do well to stay out of college and spend that four-year period learning to render some service for which the world is willing to pay.

Moratorium in Politics.

South Bend Tribune (Dem.).

With a presidential election campaign coming the moratorium can not be divorced from partisan politics. Indeed, no official acts can be. Theoretically, of course, the moratorium is nonpartisan. It was proposed by a Republican President, but it can not become effective without legislative cooperation; and that is impossible, in view of the partisan division in the next Congress, without Democratic effort. In effect, then, the moratorium eventually will be a bipartisan development. But as it may be the foundation of domestic and world business revival each party will try to capitalize it. That is politics; it is futile to hope for anything else.

President Hoover's personal position has been strengthened and his party is likely to benefit by the moratorium. It must be remembered next year that the President formally made the moratorium offer at a time when the public's probable response was debatable. He ran the risk of offending the many Americans who are suspicious of all war debt negotiations. As it turned out he was in no danger; but that does not lessen the credit due him.

Most of the Democrats in Congress pledged cooperation when it was politically safe to do so. The securities markets had been strengthened by the President's announcement and the general response was highly favorable. When credit is given, therefore, the Republican administration deserves the lion's share. President Hoover has carefully refrained from words and acts indicating partisan feeling, but other Republicans may be forgiven if they speak loudly at times and point with pride. The Democrats may truthfully say that their pledges of cooperation were a powerful factor. The Republican administration, however, provided the leadership.

Conducting the biggest business in the world, Uncle Sam is said to be quite ignorant with reference to his realty holdings. This amazing situation is now in the way of belated correction.

Shortly after the World War the Federal Real Estate Board was created. It is about ready to announce the findings of the first property census in the history of the Nation. This compilation of Government property will make it possible to show on demand just how much real estate the Government owns, its history, extent, location and value. Until the completion of the survey it can not be known how much real estate and property the Government owns outside the District of Columbia. It is said that while the various executive departments of the Government have a record of their real estate and property holdings, few of them have an accurate knowledge as to its value. There is, up to the present, no complete single list containing a compilation of the Government's real estate.

American Intelligentsia Under Iron Heel of Proletariat Hoodlums While Red Russia Turns Pale.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Have you any hope that the crude experimenters may get discouraged before higher civilization goes smash?

The latest news from Russia gives me hope. Stalin, the iron dictator, is in a melting mood. He recommends certain changes in Soviet policy as if it were all something new and original, but only what civilized people have been doing for ages. For one thing, he recommends that responsible individuals direct State trusts—at present guided by commissions. Why, history teaches us that all responsible accomplishment has ever been through the individual.

Stalin also recommends differentiation between wages of skilled and unskilled labor. Yet economic values have always depended on that principle. The prize man gets the prizes. Any other course brings chaos.

The trouble is that Stalin needs money. And the only way to get same is to seek it from the capitalists. Here is where we laugh the horse laugh. How about that international revolution for doing away with capitalists? He says he is now willing to sacrifice red ideals to the exigencies of the situation.

Also he is kind and condescending enough to recommend that the intelligentsia no longer be treated like "uncaught criminals." Good. He sees the need for using their brains. Being Dictator of all the Russians is too big a job for him. Right here is where I want to speak up for our own intelligentsia.

For some time here the red virus has been working. Our own intelligentsia (unless protected by high position or wealth) have been hustled about. The hoodlum and the roughneck have been fed up to think the world is theirs. We don't use the catch phrase, "Dictatorship of the proletariat" in so many words; but the theory is in the air. The cultured and refined class—unless protected by a butler, a valet and a few private guards, are hustled about. Those who sit in high places and don't know "how the other half lives" may not realize the situation, or may not feel it the most popular course to interfere. Let some of our own Stalins wake up. There is too much theory. The only people putting the new fangled theories into practice are the hoodlums.

Ancient Fire Wagon Is Considered Eligible for Retirement in Smithsonian Institution.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Having heard that organizations in various fields are presenting representative antiques to the Smithsonian Institution, I write to suggest that the Washington Fire Department is in a position to contribute the venerable white hose-wagon now in use as tender to Engine No. 1 on K street.

To attempt to describe it would be the task of a historian, but suffice it to say that it is a survival of the era of goggles, dusters, and other such relics of the automobile's first days.

Not only does this moth-eaten remnant serve a large part of Washington's business district, but it is actually the first piece to respond to an alarm from the White House. If that were the sole protection of the executive mansion, it would be well to organize a citizens' volunteer fire department for the safety of the President alone.

Visiting firemen from such well-protected towns as Clarksburg, W. Va., and Richmond, Ind., where apparatus is occasionally replaced, no doubt are awed by the all too apparent age of this hose-wagon which still serves the Nation's Capital.

Why not send it to the place where moth and rust doth not corrupt—the museum? That's where it belongs.

"Sandy" Is Taken to Task for Suggestion That Trees Be Cut Down to Allow More Room for Parking.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have just finished reading Sandy's letter in today's Post and wish to state that he appears to be like a great many other selfish automobile owners. He wants to deprive the whole city of the benefits of our few beautiful trees just so that he can have more room to speed through the streets of Washington. Take away all our trees and I will wish that I lived in the country.

It is a wonder he does not ask that the sidewalks be converted into streets for his convenience.

MEY.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

THE LITTLE TASKS.

The little task asks nothing more
Than tapping at a neighbor's door
And passing in a small bouquet
Of summer blossoms, fresh and gay,
For one upon a bed of pain,
Yet long its memory will remain.

Thought whispered, "Just a mile from here
Lives one who needs a word of cheer,
Five minutes of your time is all
'Twill take to make that promised call.
Turn now and go your friend to see
And long remembered you will be."

The simple tasks, so quickly wrought,
Ask just a little time and thought,
A moment here, a moment there,
Which every mortal has to spare,
But they are cherished when are lost
The glories gained at greater cost.

Occasionally life has need
Of one to do some daring deed,
But every hour of every day
Best loved and honored most are they
Who think to stop where troubles dwell

(Associated Press.)

Approval of plans for the sale by Armour & Co., of Illinois, of all its holdings, together with those of its subsidiaries in public stock yard market facilities was announced yesterday by the Justice Department.

Hailed as an important step in the final execution of the packers' consent decree of 1920, the department disclosed that an order approving the sale had been signed by Justice Jennings Bailey in the District of Columbia Supreme Court.

The Armour holdings involved consist of 59 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the Jersey City Stockyard Co., and 30 per cent of the outstanding capital stock of the General Stockyards Corporation.

This corporation, in turn, holds stock in seven different stockyards in the United States and Canada.

The Justice Department said the Stanmour Corporation, owned by Philip Armour; the Armforth Corporation, owned by Lester Armour, and the Valmay Corporation, owned by their mother, Mrs. May L. Valentine, had been designated as the purchasers.

"None of these parties," the department said, "holds any substantial voting interest in the Armour packing business, and it is understood that representatives of that business now on the board of directors of the General Stockyards Corporation will withdraw.

"The transfer removes any identity of business interest in the control of the stockyards involved and the operation of the Armour business."

Gangland Bullets Kill Reputed Aid of Capone

Chicago, July 15 (A.P.).—Death from gangland's bullets today ended the crime career of Edgar A. (Spike) Smith, reputed henchman of Alphonse (Scarface) Capone, and bodyguard of Danny Stanton, with whom he had been accused of killing Jack Zuta, alleged brains of the now extinct North Side gang.

His body was found slumped in a blood-stained automobile on the South Side, shot three times through the head. James Quigley, 40, reputed ally of Edward (Spike) O'Donnell, South Side beer baron, in what police said was a three-corner gang warfare, was arrested.

Fall Kills Man at 109.

Ferrol, Spain, July 15 (A.P.).—Romero Valera, a farm hand, reputed to be 109 years old, died today as a result of a fall from a horse. During his lifetime he had been ill only five days.

PANAMA CELEBRATES FOURTH

Panama celebrated the Fourth of July with parades and colorful ceremonies. The crack squad of Panama "soldados" shown above was inspired by Mercedes Davis, the 7-year-old daughter of Roy Tasoo Davis, United States Minister to Panama. She is leading the marchers.

Jazz Will Be Played Again At Buckingham Palace Ball

"Peanut Vender" Understood to Be Included in Music List for This Evening; Event Given by King and Queen Primarily for Younger Set.

London, July 15 (A.P.).—Buckingham Palace tomorrow evening will resound for the first time since 1924 to lilting waltzes, rhythmic tangoes and the jazz tunes of the modern dance.

Youth of the empire aristocracy will gather for the ball, which, lacking the formality of a state affair, is being given by the king and queen primarily for entertainment of the younger set. During the months of his majesty's illness and the succeeding period of recuperation the young people have seen almost no royal gaiety.

In accordance with precedent selection of music for the royal balls lies in the hands of the king and queen, but the Prince of Wales, recently returned from an extensive South American tour, has requested inclusion of two or three tangos.

Queen Mary, when at Windsor Castle recently, asked to have the popular "Peanut Vender" played for her by the Scots' Guards, and is understood to have included it in the music list.

The ball will be the most brilliant informal function of its kind in many years. The ballroom will contain the official dais and thrones for the king and queen, with chairs for the Prince of Wales and the Duke and Duchess of York.

In accordance with the queen's wish, the ball will be opened with the customary royal cotillion and quadrille.

Officers have been warned they must leave their swords on the gilt chairs at the edge of the ballroom while dancing, since not to do so might endanger the ladies' gowns.

BOMBS IN PEN FORM WOUND 2 FASCISTS

Genoa Police Discover Plot Against Party Leaders; 40 Are Mailed.

Genoa, Italy, July 15 (A.P.—An alleged bomb plot in which the bombs were 40 fountain pens loaded with high explosive, resulted in the wounding of two Fascist officials here, it was revealed today, and mobilization of all political police units.

Police said the fountain pens were sent through the mail to Fascist leaders and that the first two, which were opened by the recipients, exploded, wounding the men. A bomb also exploded on the dock here during the day, but it injured no one.

The plot was discovered two days ago, it was said, but the pens were arriving in the mails today. Efforts to trace the origin of the bombs have so far been fruitless, but postal authorities were working on clews tonight.

After the explosion of the first two pen bombs, all Fascist leaders were warned not to open small packages, but to bring them to police headquarters for examination.

The bombs were said to have been very cleverly made, and to have been accurate copies of fountain pens.

Street Traffic Blocked As Guns Blaze in Duel

Gorman Wright, 23 years old, colored, is in Emergency Hospital with five bullet holes in his body, received, police say, in a shooting bout with George Palmer, also colored, 30 years old, of 1901 Seventh street northwest, after a quarrel over a card game.

The shooting took place in C street, between Second and Third streets southwest, and traffic was blocked during the affray and until police arrived and cleared the street. Palmer was arrested by Private F. R. Gue, of the Fourth Precinct, and charged with assault with intent to kill. Wright is not expected to die. He lives at 933 Golden street southwest.

14,000 Endeavorers Take Stand for Peace

San Francisco, July 15 (A.P.).—Peace because "war interferes with the progress of the race, tearing down all the high principles and best living of its day" was advocated today by 14,000 delegates to the convention here of the International Society of Christian Endeavor.

Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk, of New York, associate secretary of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, told the delegates "young people have done their full share of the world's shooting and pillage under the orders of their elders. Rifle bearing and bayonet plunging must go."

Grace Moore, Singer, Wed To Spanish Movie Actor

Cannes, France, July 15 (A.P.).—Grace Moore, American singer, and Valentine Parara, Spanish motion picture actor, were married by the deputy mayor of Cannes today, in a civil ceremony at the city hall.

Guests at the party, including celebrated authors, actors and society folk, came in dress varying from formal afternoon attire to pajamas and one-piece bathing suits. Among the list of distinguished names were Charlie Chaplin, Gloria Swanson, Mrs. Gloria Vanderbilt, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Arlen, Signora Toscanini, wife of the conductor; Maurice Dekobra and Mrs. Dorothy Benjamin Caruso.

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Broadway wondered tonight whether the young Spanish moving picture actor, Valentine Parara, who was married in Cannes, France, today to Grace Moore, blonde American soprano, is a tenor. Recently the slender, internationally-known singer was asked what type of husband she would choose. Her terse reply was that she would marry "anything but a tenor."

Low Wheat Price Reverses Row.

Salina, Kans., July 15 (A.P.).—With wheat selling at 25 cents a bushel, D. K. Fitch and Ivar Custine have added variety to the perennial landowner-tenant dispute over the division of crops. Each has urgently invited the other to take it all. Each has declined the other's offer. Custine is the tenant on an 80-acre farm of Fitch, Salina chief of police.

Muscle Shoals Group Greets Hurley Today

Florence, Ala., July 15 (A.P.).—The city of Florence tonight prepared to welcome Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley and a commission of nine who tomorrow will seek a plan for disposing of the Government's $150,000,000 war time project at Muscle Shoals.

The commission, three named by President Hoover and three each by the governors of Alabama and Tennessee, will meet with Secretary Hurley, who will fly here from Washington, to lay groundwork for solution of a problem that has vexed Congress for ten years.

EVENTS OF INTEREST IN SOCIETY CIRCLES OF CAPITAL

Many Capital Folks Sailing Abroad Today

Swiss Minister Among Diplomats Taking Steamers.

THE lure of the sea and shores beyond prove the magnet these summer days for an exodus of Washingtonians, many going abroad for visits, others to official posts, or for travel. The Minister of Switzerland, Mr. Marc Peter, will sail today on the Lafayette to pass the remainder of the summer in Europe. He will join Mme. Peter in Geneva, where the latter has been for about a month. Recently their daughter-in-law, Mrs. George Peter, of New York, and her small daughter, departed to join Mme. Peter. The minister and Mme. Peter will return to this country early in the fall.

Sailing on the America, of the United States Lines, today will be Senor Dr. Don Carlos Leiva, Minister of El Salvador, and Senora de Leiva, who will spend some time abroad. Virtually recovered from injuries suffered at the hands of liquor thieves earlier in the summer at the legation, the minister now will take a rest in Europe.

Appointed recently minister here, Dr. Leiva presented his credentials to President Hoover after having been charge d'affaires since 1928, which year marked the departure of Minister Francisco A. Lima. Dr. Leiva has been in his native land only twice since his escape from prison on political charges in 1918, when he went to San Francisco, where he was established in medical practice until coming to Washington in 1927. He returned to El Salvador in 1927 when President Romero Bosque came into power and again last fall for the inauguration of President Araujo, an old friend and fellow exile in San Francisco.

Mr. W. Devereux Green, of Georgetown, will sail today for Copenhagen, where he will join Mrs. Green and their daughter, Miss Devereux Green. The family will return on the George Washington on September 10 after visits in London and Paris. Another interesting passenger will be Judge Finis J. Garrett, former minority leader of the House of Representatives and now a member of the American Battle Monuments Commission, who is going to Paris.

Bound for his post in London is Maj. Martin Scanlon, or "Mike," as he is known around the country's most important aviation fields. Appointed two years ago as military aviation attache at London, Maj. Scanlon crossed in May to New York and came to Walter Reed Hospital for observation, his place at London remaining vacant during his absence. An expert in his line, "Mike" Scanlon taught the fine points of flying at Langley Field and at Fort Worth before going to England, in the interim establishing an enviable popularity in Washington, where he has been among the most "likable eligibles."

Others sailing on the steamer include Dr. Henry Krogstad, Washington physician, who will make an extended stay in Europe, having retired from practice. He will be with his son and daughter abroad; Mr. George A. Finch, secretary of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace, and Mrs. Finch; Mrs. John F. Butler, Mr. Leigh Hunt, assistant trade commissioner at Brussels, and Mrs. Hunt, and Lieut. Comdr. and Mrs. M. J. Forster, of 3700 Massachusetts avenue, who are making an extended vacation trip and will not return home until October.

Vice President to Visit At Daughter's Home.

The Vice President will leave today for West Warwick, R. I., where he will be the guest of his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Webster Knight 3d, at their summer home. Later he will go to Siaconset, Mass., to be with his daughter, Mrs. Charles P. George, wife of Maj. George, of Fort Myer, and their children, who are in the North for the season. Maj. George will join his family for his summer vacation.

Mr. George Bowie Chipman will leave July 25 on his yacht Rima to join Mrs. Chipman and their son at their summer home in Chastine, Me. Mr. Chipman will engage in his usual pastime during the summer, taking a hand at the wheel and sailing to various ports on the Maine coast.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Frederick Robert Harris arrived yesterday at the Atlantic Beach Club of Long Island for a stay of several weeks.

Rear Admiral Hutchinson I. Cone is in New York and will join Mrs. Cone in Champaign, Ill., where she is visiting in her former home. Mrs. Cone was before her marriage Miss Julia Mattis, niece of the late Senator William B. McKinley.

Commander and Mrs. Frederick G. Remicke, of Washington, who have been in Paris, recently arrived at the Savoy Hotel in London.

Capt. and Mrs. F. K. Hill have gone to Saranac Lake, N. Y., and will be for some time at Saranac Inn. Also at the Inn is Mrs. N. K. Wright who will spend a holiday in the Adirondacks.

Mrs. Richard H. Lane has gone to Cape May and is at the Admiral, where her daughter, Miss Dorothea Lane, will join her on the completion of her visit with Miss Emily Cookman and Miss Mary E. Nicholas, of Cincinnati, who are at Cape May for the summer.

Mme. Skalicky, wife of the Counselor of the Legation of Czechoslovakia, has left Washington for Suffern, N. Y., where she will be the guest for a few days of Senator and Mrs. Royal S. Copeland, at their summer home.

Mr. and Mrs. Goff Entertain After Grande Semaine.

Mrs. Williamson S. Howell, wife of the first secretary of the American Legation in Paris, recently entertained at a charming costume garden-party at her country place, The Cottage, Val d'Or, in celebration of the birthday anniversary of her young daughter, Barbara. There were twenty guests.

Miss Sally Ann Williams, who makes her home with her grandmother, Mrs. Russell B. Harrison, at the Winchester, will return to Washington late in the week from a visit in West Point and New York.

Miss Marvin Breckenridge, who has been with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John C. Breckenridge at their summer home in Maine, paid a visit to Washington friends last week-end and returned yesterday to the North, planning to stop in New York for a brief visit.

Miss Alice Fleming has returned from Rehoboth Beach, where she went recently with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert V. Fleming, who journeyed there with Mr. and Mrs. John Lewis Smith, the group having left town about ten days ago.

Mrs. Catherine Filene Dodd left Washington yesterday for New York, after several days spent in town. Mrs. Dodd has been visiting in Weston, Mass., for several weeks.

Mrs. Robert C. Goetz will leave the Wardman Park Hotel today where she has been staying for the past month with her husband, Maj. Goetz, and her two young daughters. She will go to Connecticut for a few weeks, accompanied by the children, and Maj. Goetz will remain in Washington until her return. They will sail for Europe at the end of July.

Mrs. Gardner Eggleston entertained informally at dinner on the Shoreham Terrace last evening.

Mrs. Forster Plans Party For Small Granddaughter.

Mrs. Rudolph M. Forster, wife of the executive secretary of the White House, is giving a party Saturday afternoon for her little granddaughter, Joan, who is visiting in her apartment at Wardman Park Hotel. Invitations have been issued to 16 young guests, and moving pictures will be one of the forms of entertainment.

Mr. and Mrs. Frazier Jelke arrived in New York yesterday on the Bremen after an extended trip in Europe. They will go immediately to Eagles Nest, Newport, for the remainder of the season. Mrs. Jelke was before her marriage last spring Miss Underwood, niece of Mrs. Oscar Underwood, widow of Senator Underwood. Her marriage took place at Mrs. Underwood's home in nearby Virginia.

Mr. Donald MacDonald 3d is spending a few weeks in Blacksburg, Va., before going to Southampton, Long Island, and Lake Superior for the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. G. Erlebacher, of Woodley Park Towers, is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Davis Elkins, at their summer home in Margate, Atlantic City, N. J.

Mrs. W. A. Gregg, of Washington, and her son, Mr. W. R. Gregg, of New York, have arrived at the Homestead at Hot Springs for a long stay. They were joined Tuesday at luncheon at the Cascades Club by Mr. W. A. Gregg, who flew down from Washington.

Dr. and Mrs. William Chase have gone to Atlantic City, where they will be at the Ambassador for a brief holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor B. Deyber, Miss Virginia Deyber and Mrs. R. H. Moler will sail for Europe tomorrow.

Mr. W. S. Loftis, of Atlanta, Ga., has arrived in the Capital for an indefinite visit, and is staying at the Potomac Park Apartments.

Mr. Anton Kaspar will have charge of the music at the Arts Club this evening, when the program will consist of a violin quartet and baritone solos by Dr. Harold M. Dudley, with Mr. Karl Holer at the piano.

Italy's Cadets Party Guests At Embassy

Forty Young Fascists Are Entertained by Ambassador.

The Italian Ambassador, Nobile Giacomo de Martino, entertained yesterday afternoon at the embassy on Sixteenth street in honor of a group of Fascist cadets from the Fascist Academy in Italy, who spent a few hours in the Capital, having come to pay tribute to the Unknown Soldier and to place a wreath on his tomb at Arlington.

About 40 young men were received at the embassy, where the ambassador was assisted in receiving by Contessa Roncalli, wife of the first secretary; Signora Sbernadori, wife of the air attache, and Contessa de Gropello, wife of the assistant naval attache, all of the embassy staff.

The young students came with Conte de Furegoni, head of the group visiting this country for a survey of gymnastic methods here. Their visit has covered four months and they will sail within a few days for Italy. The reception yesterday was very informal owing to court mourning for the Duke d'Aosta, whose death occurred recently in Italy.

Mrs. Thomas J. Mangan, jr., and her two children, Barbara and Thomas, will leave tomorrow to spend the summer at their cottage at Margate, N. J. Mrs. Mangan before her marriage was Miss Elsie Haas, of Georgetown. The family will be joined week-ends by Mr. Mangan.

Sylvan Theater Festival Will Be Held Tomorrow

Sylvia and Julian Altman, 15 and 17 years old, respectively, will entertain with piano and violin numbers tomorrow night, when the Denishawn dancers present the second in the series of summer festival programs at the Sylvan Theater.

The sisters, children of Mrs. Jeanette Altman, formerly of Washington, have been featured for several years as members of the Gold Medal Trio, over National Broadcasting Co. stations. The Denishawn Dancers, directed by Lester Shafer and Marian Chace, will appear in fifteen dance numbers.

New Set of Furniture In White House Offices

(Associated Press.)

The lobby of the White House executive offices yesterday had a handsome new set of furniture. It came from the recently disbanded Wickersham Commission.

A half-dozen leather upholstered sofas and a dozen or more arm chairs to match composed the new additions. The $900 mahogany table around which the commission discussed its findings, was not in the group.

Slim Yacht Maribell Is Focal Point

Mrs. Huntington, Visitor From Florida, Is Feted Here.

Lying at anchor in the Potomac not far from the Yacht Club pier is Maribell, slim white yacht of Mrs. William Huntington, of Bradentown, Fla., who is being feted this month while a guest in town of Maj. and Mrs. David B. Wills. Not to be outdone by her hosts Mrs. Huntington has "cleared the decks" of the sumptuous craft for several delightful boat suppers and dances.

Motoring from Florida a week ago, Mrs. Huntington will visit here about a month—time all too brief for friends to entertain for the visitor. Among those giving dinners the last day or two were Mr. and Mrs. Albert Pike, who entertained at dinner and bridge Tuesday night; also Mr. and Mrs. Allen Morrow, hosts Monday night at the Shoreham to a group of congenial friends, gathered in honor of the Florida visitor.

A visitor here last year, Mrs. Huntington's yacht was then the focal point for smart little teas and gay little groups, the craft at that time being the splendid Ripple, of larger dimensions but no less luxurious than its successor, the Maribell. A crew of five maintains the spick and span appearance of the yacht, which will be anchored here during Mrs. Huntington's stay.

Mrs. Frederick T. F. Johnson has returned to her apartment in the Mendota, after a ten days' visit on the Eastern Shore of Maryland.

The Modern Way to Wash, Rinse and Dry Dishes in the Home

SO delightfully easy—so highly efficient—that you can't understand how you were ever able to endure the old-fashioned hand method of washing dishes, one by one. Just a snap of the switch on the CONOVER Electric Dishwasher, and swish goes the hot, soapy water, washing the dishes, thoroughly but gently from every side. Then two quick hot rinses, and you take out the dishes beautifully clean, with the hot, dry feel that is a joy to every housewife.

HOW IT BEGAN

By Russ Murphy and Ray Sarnusky

LEADING A DOG'S LIFE

GENERATIONS AGO, EACH CITY HAD NUMEROUS SCAVENGER DOGS WHICH LIVED ON REFUSE. THESE DOGS WERE ABUSED AND ILL-TREATED BY NEARLY EVERYONE, AND GAVE OUR ANCESTORS THIS EXPRESSION. SHAKESPEARE MENTIONS DOGS FREQUENTLY BUT NEVER IN A KINDLY WAY.

RING OFF!

EARLY TELEPHONES HAD A BELL WHICH FOLKS RANG TO NOTIFY THE TELEPHONE OPERATOR THEY HAD FINISHED SPEAKING. THAT GAVE US THIS SLANG EXPRESSION AS A WAY OF ASKING SOMEONE TO STOP A BORING CONVERSATION.

IN FULL BLAST

WHEN BLAST FURNACES WERE FIRST USED ON A BIG SCALE, THIS EXPRESSION WAS APPLIED TO THEM WHEN THEY WERE WORKING AT FULL CAPACITY. NOW WE USE IT TO INDICATE ANYTHING IN ACTIVE OPERATION.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

MONKEYS AND DRUG ADDICTION.

KOLB and Dumez have demonstrated that monkeys react to dopes about as human beings do. They can be quieted by them or poisoned by them and they can become addicts. The experiments of these gentlemen show that codeine is far from being a harmless product made from opium.

A comparative study of nervine, codeine, and morphine shows that all three can be beneficial or harmful according to how they are used. They grade as follows, under three headings:

Toxicity—Heroin decidedly the most toxic, morphine least so, and codeine in the middle position.

Harm to general health—Codeine decidedly most harmful, heroin least so, and morphine in the middle.

Dependence producing properties—Morphine most potent; potency of codeine very slight or non-existent; heroin in the middle.

To illustrate what is meant by toxicity, we cite the reaction of a monkey that has been given full doses of heroin. Five minutes after the drug was injected the animal was unconscious and remained so for five hours. Several monkeys were killed by large doses of heroin.

After injections of codeine many animals became excited. Several had convulsions and some died. Convulsions never followed the use of morphine, not even in the monkeys that died.

Illustrating the harm to general health: When a monkey was given a daily injection of codeine he rapidly became stooped and aged in appearance. There was a thinning of the hair. The animal became emaciated. The tip of the ear ulcerated. Convulsions developed. It is a well known fact that some people use morphine for a long time without showing any ill effects, that is, provided they keep the dose down and watch their step. The harmful effects of small doses of heroin are still less marked.

By "dependence producing properties" is meant the tendency of the drug to cause a habit-addiction—to hook the man. The experiment with these monkeys showed that in this respect morphine was much the most dangerous of the three. Before a monkey had taken morphine for many days he was hooked. He had to have his daily dose. When the effect wore out and the hunger was on he sat hunched up, depressed in spirits, downcast in appearance, and irritated by being handled. Given his shot, he pepped up and became normal. The dose required rose very rapidly. A tolerance was acquired. When the drug was gradually withdrawn the animals at first suffered very little, but after they got below a certain level evidence of drug hunger appeared. Some died from the effects of withdrawal.

Codeine had almost no tendency to hook the monkeys that were dosed with it.

NIGHTMARE.

J. N. H. writes: I have been subject to nightmare all my life. I inherited it from both parents. If I can be pardoned for contradicting so distinguished a physician, I want to say you are mistaken in saying nightmare is due to fear.

All my father's descendants are more or less subject to it. Let me give you the symptoms:

As a general rule—not always—my mind awakes. I know exactly where I am and I am perfectly conscious of everything around me, and I have even been able to speak. But there is not another muscle that I am able to move. I am just as inert as if I were dead.

Several years ago when I was recovering from an illness the friend who was nursing me—a very strong woman—picked me up and literally shook me awake. I was not asleep, but had been.

REPLY

There is more than one kind of night terror. I am sure you are right in saying that a tendency to night terror can be inherited.

Turkish Reds Use Schools.

Aldin Turkey, July 15 ((A.P.).—The Kemalist government's pursuit of Communists led to discovery here of a Red society using Turkish public schools as centers of propaganda. The police arrested two teachers, a student and three mechanics attached to the school of arts and crafts.

INSPECTOR KEENE AND CASSIDY WERE STUNNED WHEN MISS STEELE RUSHED TO THE CAPTURED MAN AND FRANTICALLY EMBRACED HIM
WOT THA-?!
SPEAK UP, MISS STEELE! WHO IS THIS MAN AND WHAT IS HE TO YOU?!
OH, INSPECTOR, HE IS MY BROTHER HARRY! SENT TO JAIL THREE YEARS AGO THRU THE VILLAINY OF DR. CLYMER. I DIDN'T KNOW HE WAS HERE BUT I CAN'T BELIEVE HE IS GUILTY OF MURDER!!
MURDER?! WHY, 'SIS,' WHAT ARE YOU SAYING? WHAT MURDER? I ADMIT I BROKE JAIL BUT I'VE NEVER KILLED ANYONE!!
STEELE, DR. CLYMER WAS KILLED IN THIS HOUSE TO-NIGHT!!
WHAT? WHY, I DIDN'T EVEN KNOW HE WAS HERE! I ESCAPED FROM JAIL AND MADE MY WAY HERE TO ASK 'SIS' TO HIDE ME!! I HAVE BEEN TRYING FOR HOURS TO GET INTO THIS HOUSE AND CONCEAL MYSELF IN HER ROOM!!
INSPECTOR, PLEASE BELIEVE THIS! I ONCE LOVED CARL CLYMER AND IN ORDER TO GET A LARGE SUM OF MONEY WHICH HE PROMISED TO RETURN IMMEDIATELY, I PERSUADED HARRY, THEN CASHIER IN A BANK, TO TAKE OUT THE MONEY THINKING OF COURSE THAT CLYMER WOULD PAY IT BACK IN A FEW DAYS AND THE SHORTAGE WOULD NOT BE DISCOVERED!!
BUT DR. CLYMER TOOK THE MONEY AND SET OUT ON AN EXPEDITION TO SOUTH AMERICA AND HARRY EVENTUALLY WENT TO JAIL!!
WELL, FANS, THINGS ARE CERTAINLY GETTING PRETTY WELL MIXED UP AND THE MURDER IS STILL UNSOLVED!!

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

INITIAL public tests under actual working conditions of one of the most ingenious rescue contrivances for disabled submarines yet developed by the U. S. Navy, will be described this afternoon at 5 o'clock over W. R. C.

The device is a bell-shaped chamber operated by two men. It can locate a submerged craft on the floor of the sea, attach itself to a hatch, and permit the men imprisoned in the helpless submarine to escape. The chamber will be carried to Great Salt Pond, off Long Island Sound in Block Island, on board the U. S. S. Falcon. Accompanying the Falcon will be the S-4, the Navy's experimental submarine.

Arriving at Great Salt Pond, the S-4 will dive to the bottom and rest on the ground as though disabled. It will send up a marker buoy to guide the crew of the Falcon in lowering the rescue chamber. The chamber will attach itself to the S-4, a hatch will be opened and members of the crew will transfer to the rescue chamber to be hauled back to the surface.

"A steam calliope," consisting of three ocarinas and a 10-cent flute, will be a feature of the Philco Dance Orchestra program which will be broadcast in transcription form from Station WMAL tonight at 10 p. m.

AN entirely new angle of police radio, revealed in dispatches from Los Angeles, is that ambulance chasers now keep in close touch with nightly alarms broadcast by the police. Likewise garages which cater to the wrecking and hauling in business and automobile insurance men are also reported to be installing short wave sets to pick up the flashes of automobile smashes.

The California police report that these people are often on the job as quickly as they are.

By arrangement with the Fox Film Corporation, station WMAL will broadcast, tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock, the first of a new series of entertainments.

Each program will be based on a feature picture, that of tomorrow's broadcast on "Annabelle's Affairs," which will be shown for the entire week commencing Friday at the Fox Theater.

Post and Gatty, the around-the-world fliers, are reported to receive a guarantee of $1,200 for each of their personal appearances during the forthcoming six weeks' tour of the country under the auspices of the National Broadcasting Co.

GREETINGS by President Hoover, speaking from the White House to delegates to the fiftieth anniversary meeting of the International Society of Christian Endeavor, in convention in San Francisco, this afternoon at 2:15 o'clock, will be heard over WRC and WMAL.

Tune in tonight and see if this can be true! The sponsors of the Melody Girl (WMAL, 8:15 p. m.), a new weekly feature, promise that there will be no commercial announcements during the entire broadcast.

The manufacturers of a dictating machine have suggested the following rules for effective radio speaking:

Ascertain net time allotted; write out exact wording; time its reading; start with one or two striking sentences; present your subject simply; be brief.

Avoid preaching or scolding; speak distinctively; do not change position to microphone after voice test in studio; what you write may not sound as well as it reads; dictate to a machine and listen back.

BACK from an extended summer cruise on Lake Erie and points north, Lynne M. Lamm reports several "dead spots" in the Great Lakes, which, as yet, radio has not been able to pierce.

There was formerly a notorious "dead spot" between Baltimore and Washington, but this has been more or less overcome by Station WBAL in Baltimore stepping up its power.

Dare Interprets the Mode

New York, July 15.

THIS isn't a beauty column except insofar as beauty affects fashion—and there's one little thing that is a beauty matter, but that has so much bearing on the fashion world that I'll just have to speak about it.

For instance, if you wear a lovely sweeping hat that you paid a fortune for here in America because it was a special import from Paris, and a lovely graceful frock, and an expensive silver fox, and your matched pearls, would not you honestly think that you'd be beautiful to all beholders? But to me you wouldn't be—if you had a drooping, wrinkled chin! It just simply spoils the ensemble, no matter how careful you've been about every other detail. 'N' this isn't a matter for older women only—you'd be astonished if you could see how many slender young things have such poor head posture that there is a roll of unsightly flesh where there should be the chiseled line of clean-cut youth!

* * * *

And speaking of double chins reminds me that the other day I promised to tell you about what my 80-year-old Lovely Lady did to prevent such unsightliness, even at her age! She started when she was very young. Every night she'd sit bolt upright in bed, with her chin held high. Then she crossed her hands at the wrists, and brought her crossed wrists, backs up, against her chin. Then, pressing the backs of her wrists and hands against her chin, she jerked her hands apart violently—and if you don't think the massage caused by this motion is strenuous, just you see how you feel after you do it a couple of times. She did this twenty times every night, all her life long—and the result of such a simple treatment was the miraculously beautiful chin I told you about before!

* * * *

I am going to tell you more about the frontless bathing suit next week—that's what the little lady in the illustration is wearing under her beach pajama. Let's call these beach pajamas the "ragged pirate," because she had the entirely amusing idea of slashing the trouser parts every which way and tying them back onto her—er-r-r—limbs again.

* * * *

* * * *

I love summery frocks, but I realize that most women are apt to take rather ordinary printed chiffons for want of something better! Don't ever shop so hastily that you make this same mistake—it would be better to make a frock of some lovely, unusual material, or have your clever dressmaker do it, now wouldn't it?

* * * *

The smarter the scarf, the smarter the frock! Have you noticed how dresses for morning, afternoon and evening all have scarfs of some sort? They're not the kind that you can pick up just anywhere——but are very individual, and absolutely especially designed for the frocks they accompany! 'N' they fascinated me so much that I had a lot of 'em made up, and then I got generous and wrote you a leaflet about them, which you may have by sending your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post. They are about a hundred times smarter than any you've seen before, I'll just bet!

Au revoir!

FRANCES M'DONALD

Pretentious Poverty.

DEAR Frances McDonald:

I wonder if you can help me?

I believe a few words from you might have some effect. I just married a cute little girl I truly love. We could be very happy, I am sure, if we start right, but we are starting all wrong and she can not see it my way.

To begin at the beginning, we are both of very poor families. Hers at one time were even helped by the local bureau of charities. I am not stating that out of meanness, but merely that you may see the point I am trying to make. Now that the children are working, things there are not so bad—but they are very poor. And my folks are in the same boat.

At present I am making exactly $31.50 a week. She is making $9.50. If we try we could save enough to be independent by the time we are 50 or so. I have already saved $400, this despite help I have had to give at home while younger children were in school.

My wife wants to pay $50 for an apartment, and buy furniture for four rooms. I want to move into a certain house that I expect to buy some day, occupying a two-room suite that has been offered us for $14 a month and which we could furnish completely and well without feeling it. The kitchen is large and sunny and the other room is as large again, overlooking a beautiful garden. We would share the bath with the elderly woman who owns the place but is seldom at home, having six married daughters who keep her on the go. I can buy this house on time payments later as my mother was this woman's laundress for fifteen years and she has great respect for mother and would give me a break on the house. A couple with one son have occupied the rest of the house twelve years. If it is not an ideal chance, then I can't be right in my head. But my wife will not listen to it. She says she is done with upstairs back rooms forever. She has paid a deposit on the $50 place, although she does not know that I know it. She has also picked out a rug for $65 for the living room. Now please do not call me tight. I love nice things, but suppose some emergency comes up? Why should we be so dumb as to say it won't?

Doing things my way we can put $80 a month in the bank. For our expenses of rent and food with gas and light would be less than $20 a week. And if she should have to stop working everything would be jake. Her way it will cost $36 a month more for rent alone, not to mention the payments on all the junk furniture. I hate to start right in fighting over money, but that is how it looks right now. Which one is right? TOO-TIGHT.

Most of the misery that exists among the poor of this country is due to the senseless pretentions of people who should know but do not know the value of a dollar. Why people in your walk of life should feel that there should be a $60 rug on the bedroom floor is beyond the understanding of the more intelligent. Your wife is entirely wrong, but that will not help things. All these matters should have been gone over in detail before the marriage, instead of after. Had you discovered in time that she was so unintelligent you might have made other plans for your life. As it is my advice to go on with your plan, take the rooms you can afford, furnish them well, and let your wife know that you have no intention of ending your days in the bread line or calling in the local charities to clothe your children. One brain in a family is not as good as two, but a lot better than none at all. So use yours to the best advantage.

What Today Means to You

"CANCER."

If July 16 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 8:45 a. m. to 10:30 a. m., from 3 p. m. to 6:15 p. m., and from 10:15 p. m. to 11 p. m. The danger hours are from 11:30 a. m. to 2:45 p. m., and from 7:30 p. m. to 10 p. m.

The astrological tendencies of July 16 are slightly unsettled. Changes are indicated in business connections, and many unforeseen circumstances will crop up during the day. It would be a wise plan not to attempt any long journeys, as a certain amount of risk would be involved. On the whole, extreme caution is advised.

A child born on this July 16 will possess a delightful, imaginative and impulsive nature. It will be inclined to be very self-willed and obstinate. It will have intelligence above the average, but will need a great deal of careful watching, as its temperament is too far nervous and highly strung. It will have a frank and genial disposition, although at times inclined to be a trifle moody.

Born on July 16, you have a very decided and fearless nature. You are extremely venturesome and take great risks, but although surprisingly lacking in caution, you usually succeed in your rash undertakings. This quality makes you a subject of admiration among your acquaintances, and you are easily a very popular person. This is very fortunate for you, as you are a type who craves attention and loves to be made a fuss over. Not that you are vain; on the contrary, for a person as talented and as interesting as yourself, you are surprisingly without conceit. You have tremendous possibilities, but are inclined to let your social activities interfere with your business. This is really a shame and something about which you should be very careful, as your career is really more important in the long run. You are too receptive to easy surroundings.

Money has very little value in your eyes. It is just something to be used, and nothing more. You are far too generous and never think twice before helping out a cause, whether worthy or unworthy. You should exercise a little more caution in this respect, as people are likely to take advantage of your generous instincts. You have a very affectionate nature, and your marital happiness is assured.

YOUR NAME — WHAT DOES IT MEAN?

THE family name "Stutz" is of German origin, and means "he who lives at or near the steep hill." It is found recorded at a very early date. A certain Chonrat Stucse is known to have lived in Zurich in the year 1149.

The family names "Rolls," "Roll," "Rolle" and Rolles" are all English forms of the old French "Roul" (modern French "Raoul"). "Roul," in turn, is a contraction of "Rodolf," which may be traced back ultimately to the old Teutonic "Hruodwolf" meaning "famous wolf."

The family name "Royce" (also spelled "Roys") generally means "the son of Roy." "Roy" generally represents the old French "rei" meaning "king," although in some cases it may stand for the Irish and Gaelic "ruadh" meaning "red" or "red-haired." In old English records the feminine personal name "Royse" (also spelled "Roysia") is of very frequent occurrence. There is evidence to show that it, too, is an occasional source of the modern family name "Royce." It is ultimately of Teutonic origin, and means "fame." A certain Roysia Avered is mentioned in an English document of the thirteenth century.

The family name "Ford" is one of the relatively few English names whose original meanings are indicated by their present forms. It generally denotes an original place of residence near a ford or river crossing. There is evidence that in some cases the persons who first bore this name occupied official positions as caretakers and supervisors of fords. The Hundred Rolls mentions a certain Richard de la Forde and a William de la Fords. An English document of the year 1313 bears the name of Peter ate Ford.

Culbertson on Contract

By Ely Culbertson

World's Champion Player and Greatest Card Analyst

WHEN TO PRE-EMPT AND WHY.

Pre-emptive bids have their place in Contract. They are an effective means of cutting off the exchange of information between opponents, but they should be used only on hands which are clearly of the pre-emptive type; i. e., hands which offer great possibilities in the way of attack and, generally speaking, but slight probabilities in the way of defense. So used, they may even produce games when otherwise the opponents, through the exchange of information as to their divided strength could get together were it not for the fact that the easy exchange of information had been inhibited by a Pre-emptive bid.

The one danger of this weapon in the hands of many Contract players is the tendency to use it on hands in which the free exchange of information should be encouraged—not discouraged. Its use, thus, ordinarily results disastrously for the partnership.

South—Dealer

	♠ Q 7 ♥ 10 6 5 4 ♦ K J 7 4 ♣ 9 6 4
♠ K J 10 9 8 ♥ A K 7 ♦ A 8 ♣ 10 3 2	N W E S	♠ A 6 5 4 3 2 ♥ Q J 9 3 2 ♦ 6 3 ♣ — —
	♠ — — ♥ 8 ♦ Q 10 9 5 2 ♣ A K Q J 8 7 5

The bidding on this hand was as diversified as the colors of Joseph's coat. Some players, with South's holding, passed because they did not hold 2-½ honor-tricks in two suits. Some weakly bid three clubs, a bid which might aptly be termed a goad to force the East and West players into their most desirable declaration. Others bid one club, the lure of the honor count deciding them to disregard the standard requirements for a one-bid. This course also is entirely ineffective and inutile.

Where West and East, who are vulnerable, and, therefore, prone to walk with caution had an opportunity to exchange information, they reached and made a Small Slam in spades. South, however, has an ideal hand for the Opening bid of five clubs. His hand contains seven sure tricks in the club suit and the length in the diamond suit is worth at least one additional trick. Not vulnerable, if he plays the hand at five clubs, his set can not exceed 400 points less 100 for the honors held, surely a small price to pay for the stopping of an adverse game. As a matter of fact, he needs to find but very little strength in partner's hand to turn his game-saving overbid into a game for his side. The bid might not work against all types of players, but West certainly requires no small degree of daring to bid five spades over an Opening bid of five clubs. If, on the contrary, West should decide to double, his partner must construe his Double as for penalties and played at five clubs, East and West can not find a way to defeat the contract.

Today's Pointer.

When partner's Opening bid is a minor suit, the Responding Hand, even if holding sufficient playing-tricks to raise the bid suit, should consider the advisability of a no-trump Takeout (if holding no bidable suit).

A no-trump Takeout, either of a major or a minor suit, does not necessarily deny adequate trump support:

If the Opening bid is one of a major suit, the Responding Hand may have enough honor strength to keep the bidding open but insufficient playing tricks to raise the bid suit. In such case a no-trump Takeout (a minimum response) is the correct course.

Indoor and Outdoor Gardens

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE tell me how to care for a wax plant. Mine grows tall and the leaves all fall off, leaving long unsightly stems. ESTHER L.

From your description I feel sure you refer to a begonia, which is commonly known as a wax plant. When a begonia begins to lose its leaves it is usually due to too much or too little sun, too much or too little water or too little fresh air. This plant does best in a soil composed of good loam and leafmold. The flowering varieties do best in sun and the other varieties in shade. Unless a plant is cutback at times, it is likely to become tall and ungainly. I wish I could give you a rule for watering the plant, but I can not do this, as each plant is largely a law unto itself. You must experiment and find out just how much water your particular plant will stand. Too much water causes the main stems of the plant to slough off close to the roots. This is a disease known as the rot.

Please tell me the name of the begonia from which the inclosed leaf was taken and the care of the plant. VIOLA M. W.

The leaf you inclosed was, I think, from the variety known as gracilis luminosa. It is hard to identify a leaf when it is brown and bruised. Better read the answer to Esther L. in this column.

Am inclosing a leaf from a Von Teplitz rose. The plant from which it was taken came into leaf quite normally, but in the last two weeks all the leaves on the plant have reached the condition of the one inclosed. Please suggest a remedy. I. W.

Your rose has been attacked by black spot and mildew. The best remedy is to dust it with Massey dust. This is a dust composed of nine parts of fine dusting sulphur and one part of dry lead arsenate. This dust must reach both sides of the foliage and cover every stem. Better collect and burn all leaves, as this will, in a measure, prevent a spread of the disease.

Please tell me the name and the care of the plant from which the inclosed leaf was taken. MRS. E. M.

I have some peonies which were transplanted from my neighbor's yard. Mine never bloom; hers bloom beautifully. Our soil is about the same, the only difference is that mine are planted against the house and hers are planted away from the house. Y. Y.

Peonies are not likely to bloom for two or even three years after being moved. They usually bloom the third season. As they demand a great deal of fresh air and sun, I doubt if they will ever bloom when shielded from a free circulation of air by the house. You might try watering them every day and giving them bonemeal every month, but I really think it would be better to transplant them to a more open location in the late summer.

Will you please print in your column the formula for the lead arsenate spray you mentioned some weeks ago? I cut it out, but have lost the clipping. AMY T. L.

Arsenate of Lead Spray.

Three teaspoonfuls of arsenate of lead powder.

One ounce of any liquid soap.

A gallon of water.

As this formula contains poison, it must be kept out of the reach of children or other irresponsible persons.

(Copyright, 1931.)

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed, stamped envelope is supplied.

Rotarians to Draft History of Club

Group Named at Session Which Hears Address by J. J. Esch.

Pointing out that railroad revenues in this country have decreased by one-half billion dollars, John J. Esch, former chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and coauthor of the Esch-Cummins act, yesterday discussed the proposed railroad rate increase before the weekly Rotary Club luncheon.

S. Percy Thompson, president of the club, also announced the formation of a committee to compile the history of the club. Members are Charles J. O'Neill, L. Bert Nye, Ralph W. Lee, George W. Harris and Roland Whitehurst. The club sent birthday greetings to Grover Blackstone, Charles Boglano and Ernest H. Daniel.

A newspaper account of the reception afforded Washington Rotarians when they gave a specially made flag to the city of Vienna also was read. The clipping was from the Paris edition of the New York Herald and was sent in by James Sharp. A cablegram of greeting from the Buenos Aires (Argentina) Rotary Club was also read.

Optimist International Leader Is Speaker Here

Addressing members of the Washington Optimist Club at a luncheon meeting in the Hamilton Hotel yesterday afternoon, Holmes A. Sperb, of San Francisco, made his first official appearance before an Optimist Club since his election last week at Detroit as president of the Optimist International.

Mr. Sperb's talk dealt with Optimism in general and with the good that it is accomplishing. He was introduced at the meeting by Frank Peirce, a past president of the local club and a friend of the new president of the international organization. Henry Schaffert, president of the club, presided.

Two Army Balloons To Enter Akron Race

POLICE ASKED TO AID GIRL-ATTACKER HUNT

Montgomery County Bureau of The Post, 9103 Conn. Ave., North Chevy Chase, Md. Telephone Wisconsin 4205.

Washington police have been asked by Montgomery County Police to look for Maurice A. Stewart, colored, alias Jack Stewart, 21 years old, wanted in Rockville for assault on a 13-year-old white girl of Germantown, Md.

The alleged assault was committed early Sunday morning, police learned yesterday, but the girl did not tell her parents until Tuesday. Sergt. Roy Bodmer, of the Rockville headquarters, had investigated the affair as a housebreaking case until the parents notified him that there had been a criminal assault.

The girl was sleeping in the house with her parents at the time of the assault. The attacker entered through a side window and attacked the girl in bed. The parents heard a noise and their movements apparently frightened the man who started to leave but was seen by the father, who fired two shots after him, without hitting the intruder, it is believed.

At that time, the parents believed it merely a housebreaking case and so reported to the police. Later, the girl told her mother of her experience.

Fire early yesterday destroyed the Triangle Garage on Georgia avenue just north of Forest Glen road, Montgomery Hills, and attracted large numbers of residents to the scene. Glare from the fire could be seen more than a mile away. Damage is estimated at $2,000.

The fire was discovered by a passing motorist, who went to the home of H. Rosin, proprietor of the Montgomery Hills Market, around the corner from the garage, and rang his bell until Mr. Rosin was awakened. The merchant called the Silver Spring and Takoma Park Volunteer Fire Departments, both of which made fast runs to the scene.

The garage was operated by Ralph D. Lindsay, of Woodside, and the building was owned by Joseph Childs, of Colesville road.

Responding to the alarm in his own car, J. N. Gittings of the Takoma Park department, was unable to control the machine as it rounded a curve and a tire blew out. One of the firemen was thrown from the car. Gittings and George Rabbitt, another fireman, were not injured.

The general committee on school matters of the Takoma-Silver Spring-Woodside area will assemble at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the Silver Spring County Building to tour the various sites proposed for a senior high school for the area.

Members will park their cars on the east side of Georgia avenue across from the county building and report to William H. Reynolds, who will furnish suitable markers for cars and assign them places in line.

Fifth annual outing of the Rockville Chamber of Commerce will be held today at Chapel Point, Md. Four hundred persons are expected to attend.

Roger Shaw is chairman of the general committee in charge of arrangements, which includes Bernard T. Brosius, Leonard L. Nicholson, W. Ernest Offutt, Albert A. Ady, Dr. George L. Edmonds, Warner E. Pumphrey, Curtis L. Ward, F. Barnard Welsh, Morris Stern, and William F. Prettyman.

Gaithersburg Chamber of Commerce will hold its third annual outing at Chapel Point, July 29, according to Ernest C. Gartner, president, who heads the general committee on arrangements.

Mail Fraud Count Laid to Two More

Julian Is Jailed Again as U. S. Agent Refuses to Lower Bond.

Oklahoma City, July 15 (A.P.).—Courtney C. Julian, slim builder of big oil enterprises, filed back into jail here today, after refusal of a United States commissioner to lower his $50,000 bond on a mail fraud charge.

Meanwhile Roy St. Lewis, United States attorney, filed information against two more codefendants, increasing to four persons not in custody in connection with the case. Their names are withheld.

"I couldn't make a $5,000 bond myself," said the immaculate little promoter, cool and cheerful in white apparel. However, J. B. Dudley, one of his attorneys, scheduled a conference with United States Commissioner George Eacock for tomorrow in another effort for bail reduction pending grand jury action in September.

Border Bridge Closing Lessens Strike Menace

El Paso, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—Possibility of a general strike in Juarez virtually passed today with issuance of an order by Mexican federal authorities closing the Santa Fe Street International Bridge to most classes of pedestrians from El Paso.

Gov. Andres Ortiz of Chihuahua recently ordered twelve saloons and cafes located near the bridge to close their doors at 9 p. m., until the federal government enforced a law routing pedestrians' traffic over the Stanton Street Bridge, several blocks away. He contended uptown businesses were being discriminated against.

Baptists to Meet Next Week.

Gordonsville, Va., July 15 (Special).—The annual convention of the Sunday School and Baptist Young People's Union will be held at Craig's Baptist Church July 22 and 23. Officers of the union are A. C. Limbrick, superintendent; C. O. Brown, associate superintendent; D. N. Davidson, secretary; Mrs. Charles Lumsden, treasurer.

Veterans Protest Pension Cut.

Brussels, Belgium, July 15 (A.P.).—Ten thousand former service men paraded today to the House of Parliament protesting against proposed reduction of war pensions. The marchers were dispersed by police before they could invade the government buildings.

Martinsburger Slashes Throat While Shaving

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 15.—Charles Cromwell Seibert, 74, for 50 years in the hardware business in this city, fatally slashed his throat while shaving at Relay (Md.) Sanatorium today, according to word received at his home here.

He had been in ill health for some months and had gone to the sanatorium for treatment. Plans had been made to have him return here Sunday. He was a native of the county and of a well-known Eastern Panhandle family. Burial will be made here Friday.

RUSS ESTATE RULE IS DUE IN FORTNIGHT

Special to The Washington Post.

Ridgway, Pa., July 15.—Eben George Russ, of Washington, D. C., who has contested the will of the late Mrs. E. J. Russ, of St. Mary's, estimated at $1,117,675.91, will know within two weeks whether he will receive the largest share of the estate.

Eben George Russ in bringing this suit claims that he is the sole heir to more than $600,000. At the time of Mrs. E. J. Russ' husband's death he left her a large fortune and it has increased steadily since. It has been estimated that it has increased by $600,000.

According to the will left by the late E. J. Russ, in the event of his wife's death, Eben George Russ was to receive the estate. But Mrs. Russ has divided the disputed $600,000 fortune between many beneficiaries.

Mr. and Mrs. Eben Russ also will receive one-fifth of the money left in two banks, 33 shares of capital stock of the Kinzua Valley Chemical Co., besides gifts of furniture, household effects, paintings and statuary. The hearing, twice delayed, will be held here on July 27.

Veterans to Meet In Clifton Forge

Arrangements Being Made for Entertainment of Women Visitors.

Clifton Forge, Va., July 15 (A.P.).—Special preparations are being made by officials for entertainment of women visitors here during the State convention of the American Legion August 23 to 26.

The entertainment program will be in charge of the local legion auxiliary. Various amusements are planned, including dances, banquets, picnics, scenic drives, special picture shows, parties and teas.

One of the outstanding events on the legion business program will be election of a State commander. Candidates for this office include Charles H. McKinney, of Harrisonburg, one of the vice commanders; Sam Heller, of Norfolk, head of the "40 and 8" in this State and M. E. Bristow, of Richmond, State service officer.

Wedged Barge Breaks, Halting Canal Traffic

Chesapeake City, Md., July 15 (A.P.).—Traffic in the Chesapeake and Delaware Canal was blocked today by a barge that had become wedged between the banks and broken in two. The barge, carrying cinders and iron from Philadelphia to Baltimore, became stuck in the canal, 4 miles from here, late last night. At low tide today the barge broke in half.

The Ericsson passenger boat John Cadwalader, which left Baltimore last night and was scheduled to arrive in Philadelphia early this morning, was forced to turn around. Officials of the line said the boat would go down Chesapeake Bay and come up the Delaware Bay, reaching Philadelphia Friday morning, 48 hours late.

Elopers of Clarksburg Now Race for Divorce

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 15.—Joseph Yost Hamilton and his pretty girl wife, the former Mary Louise Morgan, of Mount Hope, whose elopement from college to Oakland, Md., last November was a seven-day sensation, are running a race for a divorce. With the filing of a suit today in Circuit Court by the girl, it became known that Joseph had gone to Reno, Nev., to get one also and first, if possible.

Mrs. Hamilton, who has returned to her parents, charges desertion. Joseph is the son of wealthy and prominent parents, and has figured as a local beau brummel.

Virginia Press Body To Convene in Luray

Special to The Washington Post.

Luray, Va., July 15.—The two-day session of the Virginia Press Association, meeting here Friday and Saturday, will be the second time in 40 years that the Virginia editors have assembled here.

The meeting will be called to order by C. H. Edwards, president. The following editors will deliver addresses: P. H. Appleby, Paul Scarborough, J. C. Latimer, Louis Spilman. The Luray Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade and the local Rotary Club will tender the Virginia editors a banquet at Mimslyn Hotel Friday night.

Girl in Danville Jail Takes Morphine; Dies

Special to The Washington Post.

Danville, Va., July 15.—Jessie Johnson, aged 23, died at Memorial Hospital at 4 o'clock this morning after consuming three cubes of sulphate of morphine in the city jail. Her cellmate, according to Dr. J. E. Taylor, jail physician, was a drug addict and Miss Johnson consumed her opiate.

Within an hour she was found unconscious and was removed to a hospital, where efforts to counteract the dose failed. Authorities were trying today to reach relatives in Wilmington, N. C.

ORANGE HORSE SHOW ENTRIES REACH 580

Special to The Washington Post.

Orange, Va., July 15.—List of exhibitors at the annual Orange Horse Show, one of the Big Four shows on the Virginia Circuit, to be held here July 22 and 23, was announced tonight by H. C. Warren, secretary.

Tabulations show a total of 580 entries, with 148 stalls engaged, presaging the largest show ever held in this section. Each of the 35 classes is well filled, with a total of 57 entries listed for the event for green hunters. The list is said to establish a record in the local show for classes of this character and is expected to prove the big feature of the show.

"The Old Guard" class, presented by E. B. Sydnor, of Richmond, veteran member of the Deep Run Club, of that city, will also be a feature of the event. Conditions for the class call for mounts to be shown over four standard height jumps with riders in hunting colors.

Entries Are Prominent.

Entries in this class include H. G. Shackelford, Orange; John W. McComb, Wilmington, Del.; Eugene B. Sydnor, Richmond; Mrs. R. M. Brady, Rapidan; A. C. Wambersie, Orange; J. J. Woodriff, Somerset; H. O. Lyne, Orange; K. C. Johnson, Norfolk; Dr. J. S. Andrews, Orange; Edwin Conway, Unionville; James N. Andrews, Bethesda, Md.; Wallace Sanford, Orange; Dr. R. M. Harris, Orange; Mrs. Allen Potts, Gordonsville; Mrs. W. W. Osborne, Gordonsville; J. R. P. Woodriff, Somerset; Dr. L. S. Ricketts, Orange, and M. W. Carter, Orange.

A number of the exhibitors listed are new to the Virginia circuit. The complete list includes some of the leading saddle horses and hunter exhibitors in the East. In the division for saddle horses competition will be keen.

The entries include Mrs. Allen Potts, of Gordonsville, and George and Anthony Rives, of Cobham. Mrs. Potts will show Love Token, a consistent winner in the ring. The Rives brothers will show Sinbad and Bramble, which have had successful careers on the Virginia and Northern circuits. Cathode Ray, owned by Miss Elizabeth Nesbit, of Warrenton, will seek additional honors in the hunter class.

Mrs. Somerville President.

Preparations for the show are rapidly nearing completion, under direction of Manley Carter, manager. Mrs. Thomas H. Somerville, the former Marion DuPont, owner of a stable of high class show horses and a string of race horses, is president of the show. The racing committee is composed of M. W. Carter, chairman; H. C. Willis, H. O. Lyne, W. W. Sanford, Thomas H. Somerville and A. C. Wambersie.

James N. Andrews, Somerset; Dr. J. S. Andrews, Orange; Benton Stables, Middleburg; William B. Bogert, Keswick; Mrs. R. M. Brady, Rapidan; M. W. Carter, Orange; Mrs. M. W. Carter, Orange; Cleveland Farm, Orange; Edwin Conway, Unionville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank W. Corley, Midlothian; Crown Grant Farm, Orange; Lieut. and Mrs. Lawrence W. Curtin, Naval Air Station, Hampton Roads; D. O. Furr, Middleburg; D. O. Furr, jr., Middleburg; Billy Garth 2d, Charlottesville; Mrs. Alex W. Gregg, Washington.

Charlottesville, Va., July 15.—Official bulletin boards at the University of Virginia contain the names of twenty students who were dishonorably discharged from that institution by the student honor committee during the last session.

Nine of those discharged were from New York State, five from Virginia, two from New Jersey and one each from Wisconsin, Delaware, Pennsylvania and North Carolina. No meeting of the faculty was necessary in any of the above cases. Official action was forestalled by the voluntary action of the student body.

Great Overweight Is Fatal to Veteran

Special to The Washington Post.

Clarksburg, W. Va., July 15.—Injuries suffered in the World War that caused him to grow abnormally until he finally reached a weight of 400 pounds caused the death this morning of J. C. Dickenson, 37, World War veteran and school teacher, at his home at Rock Spring. A drink of cold water was said to be the immediate cause of his death.

Dickenson's affliction baffled physicians. Hospitalization and special treatments failed to abate the malady and he returned home, devoting himself to teaching the last four years at the Burke School.

4-H LEADERS PLAN FOR SHORT COURSE

More Than 800 Youths Expected to Attend Classes in Blacksburg.

Blacksburg, Va., July 15 (A.P.).—Junior leaders of the 4-H All-Star conference in Virginia will gather here Friday to make plans for conducting their annual meeting in connection with the 4-H Boys' and Girls' short course to be held at Virginia Polytechnic Institute next week.

Between 800 and 900 boys and girls are expected to attend the short course, which will start Monday and continue through Saturday. The short course is under direction of C. A. Montgomery and Miss Hallie L. Hughes, State boys and girls clubs agents. The courses in agricultural subjects usually given by V. P. I. specialists have been arranged.

An all-cotton fashion show will be part of the short course. The dresses and costumes will show the versatile uses of cotton as a fabric. State contests of demonstration teams in foods, clothing, home improvement, and a 4-H Club Girls' style revue will be held. Winners of these contests will be sent to the National 4-H Club convention in Chicago next November.

A leaders' conference will be conducted every day during the short course by Dr. Rolvix Harlan, professor of sociology and social ethics at the University of Richmond.

A posture clinic will be conducted through the short course by Miss Mirian Birdseye, nutrition specialist of the United States Department of Agriculture.

Bolt Kills Farmer; Stuns 4 Workers

Special to The Washington Post.

Winchester, Va., July 15.—A terrific bolt of lightning this afternoon instantly killed Harry Grim, 50 years old, well known farmer of the Kernstown section of Frederick County, and stunned his son, Charles Hardy Grim, and three laborers, who were helping the farmer load hay.

Two horses attached to the wagon were instantly killed and the load of hay was set afire by the bolt. Mr. Grim was on the wagon when struck. His body was badly burned. He was rushed to a local hospital, but was pronounced dead by Dr. J. E. Harris.

The storm, which broke without warning, was one of the worst electrical storms witnessed in the Kernstown section in years. Mrs. Grim accompanied her fatally injured husband to the hospital and on learning that he was dead was prostrate. She was, before her marriage, Miss Etha Crisman.

Orange Has Bumper Wheat Crop.

Orange, Va., July 15 (Special).—First wheat threshings in Orange County show yields ranging from 32 to 45 bushels per acre against a normal yield of from 20 to 25 bushels.

MARYLANDERS SET SAIL FOR BERMUDA

Free Staters, 100 Strong, on Five-Day Annual Trip on Bounding Main.

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—One hundred descendants of the first settlers of southern Maryland waved au revoir to New York's humidity today and set sail for four days on the bounding main and a day on Bermuda's strands.

It was the tenth annual cruise of the Southern Maryland Society—a club with a distinguished membership of Free Staters. Bankers, business men, educators, judges, lawyers and representatives of other professions were in the party.

Bennett Crain, chairman of the cruise committee, guided the excursionists from the train in which they started from Baltimore last night and J. Spence Howard, president, was everywhere making everyone comfortable. Included in the party was Judge Walter R. Dawkins, William E. Rawls, president of the Baltimore School Board, and Waldo Newcomer, banker.

As the Veendam swung out into the Hudson for the trip down the bay, preparations went forward busily for a long program of sports, including racing with wooden horses and a special musical program.

No women were in the party because the club since time immemorial has barred the fair sex.

Arriving Friday morning at Hamilton, the party will be greeted by the mayor and colonial secretary and it is expected the officers will be received by Lieut. Gen. Sir Thomas Astley-Cubitt, governor general. They will be back Saturday.

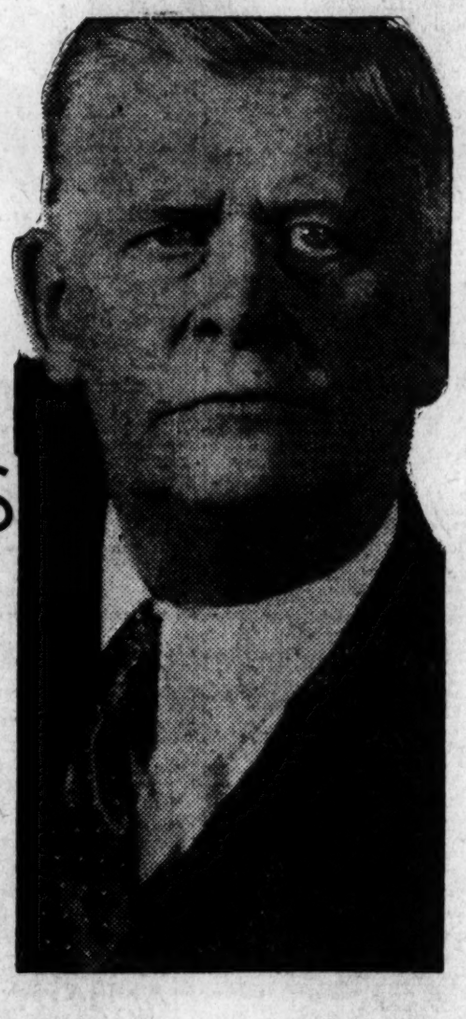
Gov. Albert C. Ritchie and John J. Raskob sent messages wishing the society a good time and regretting that press of work made it impossible for them to take the trip.

Loudoun Farm Group Will Study Alfalfa

Special to The Washington Post.

Purcellville, Va., July 15.—Loudoun members of the Tricounty Bankers Association are sponsoring an alfalfa day program at the Fair Grounds, near Purcellville, Wednesday, July 22. Farmers from Loudoun, Fauquier and Prince William counties will devote the day to practical study on growing alfalfa.

The program will start at 10:30 o'clock a. m. with a talk by a member of the forage crop staff of the United States Department of Agriculture on the varieties of alfalfa for northern Virginia and subsoil conditions that affect the crop. This will be followed by experience talks by farmers who grow the crop successfully.



MEN Of AFFAIRS

. . . Insist

Upon Timely, Accurate . . . NEWS

IT is a significant fact that ALL the leaders in the business, professional and civic affairs of Washington are subscribers to The Washington Post . . . They need information of world and local happenings FIRST, and they know that the majority of important news occurrences develop during the hours of night and are revealed FIRST in the morning Post. "Men of Affairs" insist upon accuracy—they must have the FACTS, uncolored by hypothesis or biased suggestion. They must have the complete story, but undecorated with meaningless phrases—the story as presented in the concise, modern manner of The Washington Post.

The factors that are so important to "men of affairs" have an equal value for men and women in all walks of life. A value that is appreciated and reciprocated by the staunch loyalty of Post readers . . . That is why Post advertisers secure results in maximum measure.

WOODLAND GLISTENS AFTER SUMMER RAIN

When a shower like that of yesterday afternoon has ceased and the air in the city again is heavy and warm, it is great to be out in the country where a rain leaves everything fresh and green.

Just such a spot is Woodland Beach, the summer home site of The Washington Post on the South River, in Maryland. It has an appeal at all times, but for those who are spending the summer months there, it is at its best just after a rain.

Its 4½ miles of waterfront glisten in the sun after a shower and forms a picture hard to equal in this section of the country. Those same miles of waterfront call to a hot and dusty public for a plunge as a sure relief from the heat of the city. The Beach's wooded areas are brilliantly colored and form an attractive background for the many summer cottages springing up in every corner of the property.

To those who have visited the Beach, or who have taken advantage of The Washington Post's remarkable offer of lots there, this description is unnecessary, but there are hundreds of other Washingtonians who have long been seeking such a site for a summer home who might well pay the Beach a call and learn of its beauties and facilities as a summer home.

Obtaining a lot at Woodland Beach is easy and inexpensive. All that is necessary is to pay $9 in cash, plus the cost of a subscription to The Washington Post, and you may begin plans for building a summer home. The remainder of the $93, price on each and every lot, may be paid in monthly installments of $3.50.

Woodland Beach, 32 miles from the Capital, is ideally located inasmuch as those who want to get an old-fashioned country "rest cure" may do so in the quiet environs of the site while it is close enough to Washington to enable the busy business man to attend to affairs in the city and still run out overnight for rest and recreation.

Lead in Air Tour Held by Russell

Fliers Land in Houston for Overnight Stop; Smart Is Second.

Houston, Tex., July 15 (A.P.).—Harry L. Russell, of Dearborn, Mich., maintained his point lead today as the national air tour touched Houston for a night stopover.

Russell, who came in shortly after James H. Smart, of Pine Bluff, Ark., had landed, was given an official point score late today of 33,647, while Smart had 31,236.

The other six pilots of the eight who left Shreveport, La., this morning finished in the following order, and their scores were: Lowell R. Bayles, Springfield, Mass., 23,663; W. N. Lancaster, New York City, 22,342; Eddie Stinson, Detroit, 22,142; Lee Gehlbach, Detroit, 21,483; Eddie Schneider, Jersey City, 19,714; Joe Meehan, Marysville, Mich., 18,876.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

IT has been pointed out here before that within the brief space of a single decade Fanchon & Marco have become the largest theatrical producers in America. With approximately 30 "Ideas" constantly on tour, and more soon to be needed by reason of new contracts which will place F. & M. units in both Paramount and Loew theaters in certain localities next month, this thriving firm employs more players, buys more railroad transportation, maintains a larger costume department and utilizes the biggest production studio of any similar organization on the continent.

The new studio, dedicated in Los Angeles last week by Gov. Rolph of California, covers a floor area of 50,000 square feet. "Ideas" are put together here after the manner of the assembly line in an automobile factory. When an "Idea" is conceived, blue prints are prepared in one end of the huge "plant" and started on their way to the other. By the time they reach their destination, that particular "Idea" is practically being presented to its first audience!

Each new "Idea" is presented first in Pasadena, Calif., and then, when properly polished and whipped into shape, is routed over the vast national circuit that spans the United States from the Pacific coast to the Atlantic and extends from Duluth to New Orleans.

For the coming season, two complete stage units will have to be turned out every week and sent to different parts of the country to keep up with the scheduled bookings of the Fanchon & Marco companies arranged by General Manager M. D. Howe.

That's a business!

Among the cleverest of the Fanchon & Marco graduates—although her present assignment makes no demands whatever upon her versatility—is Maxine Doyle, the demure and deservedly popular mistress of ceremonies at the Earle Theater, where she is now in her thirty-fifth week of continuous service.

While it may not be generally known in the Capital, it was not so long ago that Maxine Doyle was teamed with Charlie Murray, the celebrated Celtic stage and screen comedian, in an act that gave her featured prominence with the star.

As a memento of this engagement, the watch that adorns the Doyle wrist is inscribed to her from Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Murray, on such-and-such a date, marking her so-and-soth birthday.

And is she proud of it!

This charming young Californian, by the way, had never seen a lightning bug until this summer's crop began to illuminate Washington's summer nights. She hasn't seen one in close-up even yet, and feels just a little timid about grabbing one out of the air for fear it will burn her fingers!

Which probably explains why a dignified and elderly gentleman of the press might have been seen during a recent exceedingly early morning, executing gay pirouettes over the placid greenswards of suburban Washington in not very nimble pursuit of a solitary and elusive firefly which he strove unsuccessfully to capture in order that Miss Doyle might determine for herself just how that incandescent midsummer beacon is switched on and off.

There will be goings-on over and above the customary diversity of amusements at Glen Echo Park, come Monday.

Next Monday evening at 9 o'clock there will be a swimming meet in the new crystal pool, sponsored by the District of Columbia Amateur Athletic Union. There will be events for both men and women and gold, silver and bronze medals will be awarded those finishing first, second and third in the respective events. Team trophies will be awarded to winning relays.

This is a thoroughly feasible night project, since the crystal pool is brilliantly illuminated for night bathing in addition to boasting one of the most elaborate systems of submarine lighting ever installed in any similar natatorium.

Next week's big parade across the screens and stages of the Capital, before we both forget it, will be something like this: RKO-Keith's, Helen Twelvetrees in "A Woman of Experience," opening today; Columbia, Marion Davies, in "Five and Ten;" Fox, Victor McLaglen and Jeanette MacDonald, in "Annabelle's Affairs," and Fanchon & Marco's "Love Letters" Idea; Metropolitan, Charles Ruggles in "The Girl Habit;" Palace, Robert Montgomery, in "The Man in Possession" and Loew's "Revue Moderne;" Earle, Barbara Stanwyck and Ben Lyon in "Night Nurse," and Kitty Doner heading the vaudeville bill.

Just to keep the record straight, it might be remarked that the Jack Culpepper from whom Ginger Rogers secured her divorce, as divulged in yesterday's papers, was none other than the Jack Pepper who for many weeks was master of ceremonies at the Earle Theater, and since has appeared here more than once at the head of stage units, the last time at the Palace.

You must remember all those wisecracks that were made at the time of their marriage about "Ginger Pepper"—and if you don't, it's just as well.

Incidentally, for a good many seasons Jack Pepper always had with him two clever local youngsters by the name of Paul Garner and Jack Wolf—nut comics of purest ray serene, whatever that is. Well, they've divorced him, too.

Paul and Jack, clever clowns, stepped at once into a nice spot with Fanny Brice and Ted Healy in "Crazy Quilt," in whch they are now appearing.

A group of twenty Denishawn dancers of this city, headed by Marian Chace and Lester Shafer, will present a program of classic and modern dance creations, with George Cornwell at the piano, tomorrow night at 8 o'clock in the Sylvan Theater.

This is the second of the Summer Festivals, arranged and presented by the Community Center department, Office of Public Buildings and Public Parks, and the National Capital Civic Fund, and is open to the public. Amplifiers will insure easy audibility.

Topeka, Kans., July 15 (A.P.).—The Cities Service Co., embroiled in a controversy with Kansas officials over gas rates and the right to sell its stocks in the State, was pictured by company witnesses today as being on a sound financial basis and as having gas reserves equal to the holdings of any other company in the world.

The court battle has developed into a prolonged airing of Cities Service finances, holdings and organization since the company's initial victory in its suit to enjoin enforcement of a Kansas banking department order suspending the concern's curb stocks, except first preferred, from right of sale in Kansas.

Denial that Cities Service was "swaying dangerously" was made by F. C. Hamilton, member of the executive committee of Henry L. Doherty & Co., New York, who said the concern was in a position to "borrow many millions of dollars from banks which are looking for safe investments."

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—Net earnings available for common stock and reserves of the Cities Service Co. for the twelve months ended June 30, 1931, amounted to $26,692,084, compared with $40,338,435 for the corresponding period a year previously. This was equivalent to 85 cents a share on the average number of common shares outstanding compared with $1.44 for the preceding twelve months.

Gross earnings for the twelve months aggregated $48,812,303 against $56,217,279 for the previous period. Net earnings available for common stock and reserves for June totaled $360,435 compared with $3,811,842 for June last year.

Music Publisher Dies.

Woman and Two Men Die in French Plane

Grenoble, France, July 15 (A.P.).—Two men, one the pilot, and a woman model employed by a Parisian dressmaking establishment, were killed today as their airplane hit a mountain south of Grenoble.

The plane was on its way from Cannes. Two other passengers, a woman and a man, were seriously injured.

New York 5-Cent Fare Upheld.

Albany, N. Y., July 15 (A.P.).—The 5-cent fare of subway and elevated lines in New York City was upheld by unanimous decision of the court of appeals today. The decision of the high court sustained the judgment of the supreme court and appellate division.

BASTILE DAY JOYS SHARED BY 'ENVOYS'

Special to The Washington Post.

Paris, July 15.—America's "Envoys of Friendship," the group of young people on a good-will mission to France under the auspices of the United States Flag Association, were guests of honor at the celebration of Bastile Day yesterday, witnessing the great display of fireworks last night from a special government boat on the Seine, placed at their disposal by the French government. They also witnessed the great Bastile Day parade, one of the most colorful events of the year in France, from special government boxes.

Tonight the "envoys" were guests of M. Bario Roustan, commissioner of public instruction and fine arts, in his official box at the opera. M. Roustan has taken a deep interest in the mission of the "envoys," with which he is heartily in accord, and hopes to be instrumental in carrying out the wishes of President Doumer that a delegation of French children may be sent to the United States next year to return the visit of the American boys and girls.

The "envoys" were the cynosure of all eyes at the opera tonight. As is usual when attending any official event, they wore their uniforms provided by the Flag Association and attracted great interest, many prominent officials and others visiting the box between acts. As usual they were asked numberless questions regarding their mission to France and answered readily, astonishing the adults with their knowledge of world conditions.

Paris has received the "envoys" with open arms. The leading newspapers devote a great deal of space to their various visits and use photographs at every opportunity. They are so well known now that they can scarcely appear on the street without being recognized and acclaimed by the passing throng.

Every indication points to a visit from a similar group of French children to the United States next year and possibly a group of British school children at the same time. Col. James A. Moss, president general of the United States Flag Association, has assured the government of both countries of his willingness to cooperate in any possible way to bring about closer relations among the children of the world today in order that these friendships may react toward a peaceful settlement of any disputes that may arise among these nations in future years, when these children are the governing forces of their respective countries.

American Rifle Team Members Tour Scotland

London, July 15 (U.P.).—A six weeks' tour of the continent was begun by C. N. Johnson, of Philadelphia, member of the American rifle team, when he departed today for Paris. The head of the team, Maj. Hatcher, of Washington, and three companions are now touring Scotland and will return to this city on Friday.

Other members of the group are in Belgium and will sail for the United States from Cherbourg at a date not yet determined.

Poles Accuse Staff Major.

Warsaw, July 15 (A.P.).—Maj. Demkowsky, of the Polish general staff, was arrested today charged with participating in an espionage plot in behalf of a foreign country.

Rainbow Division Elects Californian President

Macon, Ga., July 15 (A.P.).—Lawrence E. Gibbs, of Los Angeles, Calif., who served in France with the 149th Field Artillery, was elected national president of the Rainbow Division Association at the final business session of the organization's thirteenth annual session here today.

Los Angeles was selected as the 1932 convention city. Mrs. W. C. Kinney, president of the Macon Chapter, and a member of the Macon Board of Aldermen, was selected national president of the auxiliary.

Strikers Return to Work.

Fifth Avenue Fashions

Here's a marvelously slimming model—and so easily fashioned.

It has so many points well thought out to give the heavier figure a slender line. Look at the deep dip in the hip seaming that does so much to narrow its breadth. And the open V-neckline rolled into revers is so becoming and slimming. It may be worn without the tiny vest, if desired. The attractively shaped cuffs are cut to make the arms appear slender.

And it's so delightfully cool in batiste prints, dimity prints, cotton mesh and tub silks.

Style No. 215 comes in sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44 and 46 inches bust. Size 38 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material with ⅞ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

And to make it! The bodice cuts in one until it joins the skirt. Just a few seams to join! Try it!

STOCK PRICES BREAK ON FINANCIAL NEWS

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—While Germany was taking steps today to bolster her own financial structure without the immediate aid of additional foreign credits, markets in New York, London and Paris turned rather severely reactionary.

Weakness at London and Paris had an immediate influence on stock prices here, and the market quickly tumbled out of the narrow trading range of the last few sessions under the push of heavy selling. At the day's lows most of the recovery since President Hoover's debt moratorium plan became public had been lost. On the basis of final quotations, which averaged about two and a half points lower, roughly 25 per cent of the advance remained.

Reichsbank Rate Raised.

The Reichsbank raised its discount rate to 10 per cent from 7 and simultaneously reduced the legal requirement for gold note coverage to 30 per cent from 40, which will make possible a currency increase of a billion reichsmarks. With the banks reopening tomorrow, the government obviously had to fortify them with strenuous measures, even to the extent of some eventual, if temporary, inflation.

Sterling exchange surprised the markets by breaking to $4.83 15-16, the lowest since stabilization six years ago. It rallied a little before the close. With the rate below the gold export point to both New York and Paris, bankers here believed the Bank of England would increase its discount rate by tomorrow's meeting as a means of checking shipments. It was hardly thought probable, however, that any metal would be sent from London to New York.

The German mark was quoted nominally, occasionally dipping under 21 cents. The French was very strong, both here and at London. A $10,000,000 increase in earmarked gold at the New York Federal reserve bank was assumed to be for French account.

Stock Losses Spread

Stocks opened heavily and quickly extended their losses as offerings became larger. Some of the selling was said to have come from abroad. This was unconfirmed, but the market improved when the European exchanges had closed. At their worst, prices on numerous principal issues were off 3 to 7 points.

U. S. Steel, which closed Tuesday at 94½, broke to 89¾ and finished at 92. American Can, after going under 100, closed at 101¾, off 3¾.

There were recoveries of similar extent in many other leaders at the finish, Allied Chemical, Case, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific, Chesapeake & Ohio and a few others were down about 4 to 5, while American Telephone, Westinghouse, National Biscuit, Consolidated Gas and Union Carbide showed losses in the neighborhood of 2 points. Atchison's net decline was 7¾. Sales totaled 2,600,000 shares.

Hopes For Steel

Steel reviews continued to hope that the industry was dragging on bottom, but "Iron Age" reported that widespread industrial shutdowns for vacations and inventories had reduced both demand and operations, the latter having sagged a point to 32 per cent of capacity. The publication said there was "no evidence yet of a definite turn upward in requirements."

The late recovery in wheat, accompanying rust reports from Canada and better export inquiry, sent quotations up ⅝ to ⅞ net. July, which had touched the new low of 50¼, or ⅛ under the record 1894 minimum, finished at 51⅜. Corn closed strong, 1¼ to 2⅜ higher.

There was active covering in the July position, while the market generally was helped by dry weather and small country offerings.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—After declining under comparatively small offerings inspired by favorable weather and crop reports combined with easier Liverpool cables and the early weakness of the stock market, cotton developed considerable strength in today's late trading.

October contracts sold up from 9.00 to 9.20, or within 2 points of yesterday's closing quotations, on covering of reburying and closed at 9.18, with the general market closing firm at net declines of 2 to 7 points.

The opening was steady, 8 to 10 points lower under liquidation and local selling, which was evidently influenced by the unsettled situation in Europe and reports of additional rains in the South. Prices here were not a full response to the Liverpool decline, which probably led to some foreign selling here, and the market weakened lower after the publication of the weekly weather report.

Offerings were not heavy, but there appeared to be very few buyers and prices worked off to 8.70 for July and 9.23 for December, making net declines of about 22 to 23 points on the general list. These figures seemed to attract a little more demand and a scarcity of contracts developed in the late trading when the covering became the more active. July advanced to 8.87 and December to 9.42, or about 17 and closing quotations were within a point or two of the best.

The late action of the market was attributed largely to a firm technical position following recent liquidation, while a more favorable view was taken of some of the late reports from the continent. The partial recovery from early declines in the stock market may have been a contributing factor on the rally. The rains reported in the South were considered favorable and the opinion was generally expressed that the crop was doing fairly well in most sections of the South.

Liverpool cables said that liquidation in that market had been absorbed at the decline by covering and continental buying, and reported a fair inquiry for cotton cloths. Exports today, 13,402 bales, making 6,819,980 so far this season. Port receipts, 2,269. United States port stocks, 2,852,070.

WIDE LOSSES MARK DAY'S BOND TRADING

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—The decline in the bond market today was almost universal. Early trading was moderate, but selling pressure increased about midday, and the market continued active thereafter.

During the last hour a tendency to rally developed, permitting some issues to close above the day's lowest prices, although final sales generally were lower than on Tuesday. Turnover on the Stock Exchange aggregated $13,286,000 at par value, compared with $9,814,000 yesterday.

Foreign obligations provided the bulk of the large declines and a number of them reached further all-time low records, reflecting general apprehension over conditions abroad. German 5½s of 1965 dropped to a new low at 54½, but closed at 58 with a net loss of 1 point. The 7s of 1949 slumped to 79¾, another all-time bottom price, but recovered to 83, which represented a net loss of 3¼ points for the day. The turnover of the former amounted to $713,000 at par value and sales of the latter totaled $197,000.

Sharp losses were scored by various German municipal, provincial and corporate issues. That the selling pressure was not exclusive to this group appeared from the unusual activity and lower prices in Italian 7s, Kreuger & Toll 5s, Paris-Lyons-Mediterranean 6s and 7s, Rome 6½s Shinyetasi Electric 6½s, United Kingdom 5½s, Czechoslovak 8s of 1951 and 1952 and Belgian 6s.

Loans of the United States Government were quiet most of the time, but turned firm in the late trading.

Railroad loans scored many of the largest losses among domestic obligations. But the declines, except among the more speculative issues, were principally fractional. St. Paul 5s of 2000, and 5s of 1975, Rock Island series A 4½, Erie refunding and improvement 5s, Illinois Central 4¾, Missouri Pacific series I 5s, Nickel Plate series C 4½s and Pere Marquette series C 4½s lost 1 point or more after steady trading.

Public utility and industrial loans participated in the downward movement also, but neither the turnover nor the losses on the whole were so large as in the rails.

MACKS DEFEAT TIGERS TWICE AS RAIN STOPS NATS

Bass' Crown Annexed by Chocolate

By EDWARD J. NEIL.

It was only the junior lightweight championship, a synthetic title, but it marked the top of the trial for the white-toothed, grinning Negro after many bitter disappointments. Referee Leo Houck, boxing instructor at Penn State College, awarded him the championship on a technical knockout with only two seconds of the seventh round of the ten-round title duel remaining, because of a deep gash over Bass' left eye. It was Bass' first knockout defeat.

Takes Beating Like Champion.

Bass took it all like a true champion and never stopped charging in, flinging a sweepnig left hook that bounced off the Cuban's slender body. He stung Chocolate at times, made him hold, but could not keep away from the rifle volley of rights and lefts that ripped at his features and buried into his body.

The champion was a sorry sight coming up for the seventh round, but there was no sign that the end was less than a round away. Methodically, carefully, Chocolate measured him with rights and lefts to the head. Suddenly the Cuban Bon-bon raced Bass to the ropes and lashed a volley of rights to the head. As Bass reeled into his own corner Referee Houck stepped between the warriors and stopped the fight. The round lasted 2 minutes 58 seconds. Despite the fierce punishment, Bass was not on the floor at any time.

A crowd of about 15,000 saw the card in the National League Ball Park. Bass weighed 128½ pounds, slightly under the class limit of 130 pounds, while Chocolate was well within the featherweight limit poundage at 125½.

Fine Golf Field of 138 In "Met" Open Today

West Orange, N. J., July 15 (U.P.).—A field of 138 players will tee off in the Metropolitan open golf championship which starts here tomorrow. This annual championship is always an important one because of the class of players it attracts. Among the stars entered are Willie MacFarlane, Percy Alliss, Leslie Cotton, Auguste Boyer, Larry Montes, Johnny Farrell, Craig Wood, Olin Dutra, Bobby Cruickshank, Henry Cotton, Wiffy Cox, Aubrey Boomer, MacDonald Smith, Mortie Dutra, Gene Sarazen, Joe Turnesa, Tony Manero, Bill Mehlhorn.

It will be a 72-hole test, with single rounds on Thursday and Friday and two rounds on Saturday. Play will be held on the course of the Crestmont Golf Club.

Stella Walsh Wins To Set Another Mark

Cleveland, Ohio, July 15 (A.P.).—Stella Walsh, holder of numerous national and world dash records for women, added another mark to her string today in winning a special 200-meter race over Margaret Coles, Canadian champion, and four others. The race was a feature of the international Shrine convention program.

The Cleveland girl overcame handicaps of all her competitors early in the race, and won by 15 yards over Miss Coles in 26.1 seconds. The mark automatically becomes an American record, as the event has never before been run outdoors. Miss Coles collapsed at the finish line, but quickly recovered.

Cuyler's Single in 9th Allows Cubs to Win

Chicago, July 15 (A.P.).—A sharp single by Kiki Cuyler, scoring Jackie May in the ninth inning gave the Chicago Cubs their second straight victory over the New York Giants today. The score was 5 to 4 and put the Cubs only a half game back of the Giants in the scramble for second place in the National League pennant race.

Allison, Doeg, Sutter, Vines In Semifinals at Brookline

BROOKLINE, Mass., July 15 (A.P.).—Wilmer Allison, Texas tennis star, today gained the semi-final round of the Longwood Bowl tourney by routing Keith Gledhill, Californian, holder of the intercollegiate title. The tournament was also featured by the unexpected appearance of Mrs. Helen Wills Moody in the women's doubles.

Gledhill did not have a chance against the Davis Cup veteran, and his margin of victory was much more one-sided than indicated by the scores of 6—1, 6—3, 6—3.

The Texan almost blinded the youngster with his terrific strokes to the baseline and, when the college star stayed back, deceived him with sharp cuts to the sides. Gledhill won a total of seven games, but most of them were gifts, presented to him on occasions when Allison decided to conserve his stamina by not trying to overcome two-point leads on his opponent's service.

Doeg Wins From Coen.

Allison, seeded second, was joined in the second last bracket by the three other top ranked players, Johnny Doeg, national singles champion, defeated W. F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City, in four stiff sets, 7—5, 2—6, 6—3, 8—6.

Doeg will clash with Clifford Sutter, of New Orleans, defending champion, in tomorrow's round and Allison will match strokes with Ellsworth Vines, clay court champion from Pasadena, Calif., in the upper half match.

Both Sutter and Vines encountered the lightest of competition to become members of the last four. Cliff beat Jan Kozeluh, of Czechoslovakia, second and last foreign threat in the tourney, 6—3, 6—3, 6—1, and Vines knocked out the unseeded Alfred Turner, Longwood clubman, 6—1, 7—5, 6—1.

HELEN WILLS MOODY.

Mrs. Helen Wills Moody, again teamed with Mrs. George W. Wightman, Brookline, with whom she won the national doubles titles in 1924 and 1928, made her first Eastern start in the team play against Hilda and Helen Boehm, 18-year-old Malden twins, who were having their first taste of big league tennis. The sisters were defeated, 6—2, 6—1.

Mrs. Moody's Service Broken.

The twins were able to break down Mrs. Moody's service in each set and amazed the spectators by winning the first two games of the match. One break resulted from Mrs. Moody's double faults and the other, which

Cochet Rapidly Regaining Form for Davis Cup Play

French Tennis Star Trains While Recuperating From Synovitis Attack; American Netmen in Long Drills in Paris.

PARIS, July 15 (A.P.).—From Montrevard came bad news today for the Davis Cup squads of England and the United States—Henri Cochet is rapidly gaining back his tennis form.

Recuperating there from an attack of synovitis in his shoulder, Cochet has been working out with Christian Boussus, one of the best of the younger French players, and those who have watched him say he is the same cunning master of the courts as of other years.

The American youngsters put in an intensive day of practice at Roland Garros Stadium today in preparation for their interzone final series with England Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

Frank X. Shields, America's number one, had a long workout with George Lott, jr., on the center court, with the latter imitating the style first of Jean Borotra and then of Cochet. Spectators expressed disappointment at Shields' play, Lott having the better of the match. It was plainly evident, however, that Shields was not going at top speed, apparently unwilling to risk further injury to the knee he twisted at Wimbledon.

Wood and John Van Ryn, who with Lott forms the probable American Davis Cup doubles team, also had a long workout. Wood, who probably will draw the other singles assignment with Shields against the English, showed to advantage.

Penn Open Golf Title Won by Felix Serafin

Philadelphia, July 15 (A.P.).—Felix Serafin, 26-year-old professional from the Country Club of Scranton, Pa., won the open golf championship of Pennsylvania today with a 72-hole score of 287 over the Philadelphia Cricket Club's Flourtown course.

He finished three shots ahead of Ed Dudley, Concordville, Pa., winner of the championship in 1926 and 1930.

Friberg's Error Helps Pirates Beat Phils, 4-2

Pittsburgh, Pa., July 15 (A.P.).—An error by Friberg led to the third straight defeat of Philadelphia by Pittsburgh here today, 4 to 2. In the second inning, Friberg threw wild to Hurst on Traynor's grounder and two runs—the margin of victory—were the result. Two more were added in the eighth on Grantham's single, Traynor's triple and a long fly by Paul Waner.

Browns and Red Sox Divide in Double Bill

Boston, July 15 (A.P.).—The Red Sox divided a double-header with the St. Louis Browns today, winning the first game, 5 to 4, in 11 innings, and dropping the second, 5 to 2, as George Blaeholder held them to seven hits.

The Sox used five pitchers in the first game while Walter Stewart went the route for the losers. Tom Oliver's double in the eleventh with two out produced the winning run after Bobby Reeves had made an infield hit.

Blaeholder was master of the situation in the second game, while Jack Russell was saved from a worse drubbing by three double plays. Hall Rhyne's shortstop play featured both contests.

Nat Line-Up Shifted for DoubleBill

By FRANK H. YOUNG.

MANAGER WALTER JOHNSON and his charges were most anxious to play yesterday's scheduled game with the White Sox, for they are finding it hard enough to win one game a day, much less two, and yesterday's postponement means a double-header today. Old Jupiter Pluvius had the say, however, making his appearance just as the two teams were about to take the field and the game was declared off in the midst of the first of several showers which hit Washington.

It will be Bobby Burke and Irving (Bump) Hadley who will draw the Washington pitching assignments this afternoon, while Donie Bush is expected to call on Alphonse (Tommy) Thomas and Jim Frasier. Hadley has been worked quite strenuously of late and could stand another day of rest, but, with "Sad Sam" Jones not yet ready and Fred Marberry, "General" Al Crowder, Carl Fischer and Lloyd Brown having worked Monday and Tuesday, the Nat leader simply has to use him.

Frasier of late has developed into quite a pitcher for the Sox. He beat the Nationals in Chicago on their last visit there and since has blanked the Indians and beaten the Mackmen. He looks like a comer.

While the Nationals idled yesterday, the Mackmen took a double-header from the Detroit Tigers, the result being that the home team lost a full game and is now trailing the Men of Mack by seven games.

Johnson Expects Nats To Win Flag.

While disappointed at the showing of his team of late, old "Joe Slump" having hit it from all directions, Johnson still believes that it will rally and beat out the Mackmen. According to him, the box scores certainly bear him out. Grove showed signs of tiredness his last two starts against the Nats and showed nowhere near the stuff he had earlier in the year, while both Walberg and Earnshaw have not been winning recently as of yore.

"I'm telling you, the Mackmen's 'Big Three' is nowhere's near as 'big' as it was at the start of the season," he said, "and they'll lose several games to these Western teams. All we've got to do is to do some winning ourselves and you'll see that we will be right on their heels again."

When a team is in a slump—and the Nats appear to be headed that way, at least—there is little a manager can do but shuffle his men around, pat some on the back, and pan others, and that is exactly what the Nat leader did in the locker room before yesterday's scheduled game. Sam West reported himself ready to play and he was due to have been assigned the lead-off position, with Jack Hayes continuing at second in place of Buddy Myer and Dave Harris getting the call in right.

Myer has been almost helpless at the tee of late and Johnson believes that a little rest will freshen him up. Added to the worries of his failure to get his hits, the uncalled-for "riding" of the fans when he happened to make a couple of errors in last Sunday's game with the Yankees also helped get Myer "down." The little second-sacker has been playing good ball until just recently, giving everything he has and the panning the cash customers gave him his last start here was far from deserved.

West Anxious to Beat Macks.

One thing which favors the Nationals during this home stand is that the Western teams will be more anxious to knock off the Athletics than the Nats because of the prestige

U. S. Golf Body to Admit Error and Legislate New Ball From Game—Pegler

By WESTBROOK PEGLER.
Special to The Washington Post.

NEW YORK, July 15—Always a diligent listener, I have heard up to now several hundred strong opinions of the new type of golf ball, all of them hostile, and have yet to learn who it was that raised the great popular clamor for the change. It seems almost as if this had been a silent national outcry because things had been going along in an all-right sort of way in golf when, all of a sudden, the United States Golf Association issued a bulletin which said, in effect, "We yield to public demand, and in 1931 the standard golf ball will be larger and lighter."

Fortunately, the Golf Association is the most reasonable and the least officious and petty of all the bodies controlling sports in this country, so it is much more responsive to public displeasure over ill-advised legislation than a body of politicians would be in similar circumstances.

New Ball Doubtless to Be Abandoned.

So the new golf ball doubtless will be abandoned in no more time than the manufacturers will need to sell their stock and earn back some, if not all, of the money which they had to spend to meet the new specifications.

The most exasperated golfers, in their impatience to play the old ball again under official sanction, may argue that a man has only so many years to live and play golf and that they should not be penalized for the sake of those soulless corporations who manufacture the golf balls. If the Golf Association is their representative and has made an honest and not very serious mistake, the association can not honorably ask the manufacturers to stand the expense. The people who play golf, if they weigh the benefits derived from the government which administers their game against this error in the matter of the new ball, will find that they have been served very well. They have only to glance at amateur tennis, with its professional amateurs and its constant surrenders of sporting principle for the sake of the gate receipts, to understand the difference.

When Tilden threatened to quit tennis unless the rules of amateurism were interpreted to suit his plans the Tennis Association so interpreted the rules. But in golf, when Burke and Von Elm, in theft play-off at Toledo, would have liked to share in the gate receipts, Mr Ramsay, the president of the U. S. G. A., gave them their choice between playing according to the old accepted conditions or not playing at all.

Wanted Some of Additional Receipts.

Being candid pros and parties to a long and wearing contest beyond the ordinary limits of the tournament, the young men could not be blamed for thinking that some portion of the additional receipts ought to be theirs. If Schmeling and Stribling had fought to a draw in Cleveland

YANKS BEAT TRIBE, 5-4 ON RALLY

NEW YORK, July 15 (A.P.).—A four-run rally in the eighth, aided by Earl Averill's error, gave the New York Yankees a 5-to-4 victory over the Cleveland Indians and a one-game edge on the series today.

Willis Hudlin held the Yanks to one run for seven innings, but blew in the eighth, the winning runs being driven in by Pinch Hitter Sammy Byrd with two out. The Indians scored one run with two out in the ninth, but Pinch Hitter Ferrell fanned with the tying run on third.

Clark Wins 7 in Row As Robins Down Cards

St. Louis, July 15 (A.P.).—Watson Clark won his seventh straight game today, pitching the Brooklyn Robins to a 10-to-3 victory over the league-leading St. Louis Cardinals.

The Robins' southpaw yielded only seven hits, four of them in the seventh inning in which the Cards scored all of their runs. Paul Derringer started for St. Louis, but was knocked out of the box in the fourth and was followed by Stout and Johnson. Lefty O'Doul had a perfect day at bat with two doubles and two singles, driving in four runs.

CHOKOLOSKEE FINISHES FAST TO WIN LATONIA FEATURE

Jockey Rose Big Help in Victory

Barely Beats Out Up Above; Winner Pays $5.64 for $2.

LATONIA, July 15 (A.P.).—G. M. Hendrie's Chokoloskee, a well-supported good thing, was returned the winner of the Winton Place Purse, a 6-furlong affair for 3-year-old and upward, which featured a mediocre card here today. W. W. Vaughn's Cuttle's Boots, a surprise victor earlier in the meeting, was second and the Audley Farm's Up Above third.

The inconsistent Cuttle's Boots started off as if to make a runaway of the race and at the half was four lengths in front of his field. Up Above and Royal Pan, an outsider, were running in second and third places, respectively.

Turning for home Cuttle's Boots maintained his advantage with Up Above closest in attendance. Chokoloskee, meanwhile, had moved into third place and closing with giant strides under a rousing hand ride by Jockey Morris Rose overtook the tiring pacemaker and was going away at the finish. Cuttle's Boots had enough left to stall off Up Above, which also was tiring, for the show.

The winner covered the six furlongs in 1:13 1-5 and rewarded his backers at $5.64 for each $2 investment.

Luckite Takes Feature At Arlington.

Chicago, Ill., July 15 (A.P.).—The 4-year-old gelding Luckite, racing in the silks of Mrs. M. W. Holden, won by a length in the $5,000 added North Shore Steeple Chase Handicap at about 2 miles that was the day's feature at Arlington. Joseph E. Widener's Indigo, seeming much the best when he was permitted to run in the late stages, was second a half length in front of Rigan McKinney's Inception.

Luckite took the lead early in the second circuit of the course, and held it to the finish. Indigo, rated back early, was not moved up until the final jump, but closed a long gap in the stretch.

In the six-furlong Houston purse, Herbert M. Woolf's consistent best man was a driving winner by a length and a half over C. E. Davidson's No More, with Willis Sharpe Kilmer's Sun Memory the same distance back for third in a race run in 1:13 4-5.

The Wyoming handicap at a mile fell to L. M. Severson's veteran Paul Bunyan, the 5-year-old horse moving into the lead midway of the stretch to win by a half length over John Schorr's Silverdale, with William Ziegler's Spinach a trailing third.

High Tom, Good Thing, Wins at Empire.

The Balloon Ball As Golf Experts See It

This is the fourth of a series of seven articles in which the country's leading golf pros give their reactions to the new "lighter" ball, and the methods they are using in meeting its new problems.

By WIFFY COX
(North and South Open Champion).

PERHAPS I may be a trifle prejudiced about the new ball because since its official adoption I have happened to enjoy more tournament success than ever before.

My victory in the four-ball matches at Miami last winter was due entirely to the superb play of Willie Macfarlane, my partner, who found the ball as much to his liking as anyone I have ever seen.

Following that, I managed to win the North and South open at Pinehurst and later the Massachusetts open, to break my record of being only in the running.

I find the larger ball gives me better control and I think the average player, in the long run and after he has gotten over some false ideas about it, will agree with me.

My suggestion to ordinary players is to take an easier swing and, in general, use a club length more than they would have done with the old ball.

By that I mean take a No. 3 iron, where a No. 4 might be called for, a spoon instead of a No. 2 iron.

This is a good rule for the average player, anyway, whenever he is in doubt as to the right club. More players are short of the green or the pin than they are too strong.

WIFFY COX
"... my suggestion is for players to use a club with more distance than they would with the old ball."

The better players will find if they "hit down" on their long iron or wood shots, the results will be uniformly better with the new ball.

JOLLY PILOT, off well, soon took a short lead and, drawing away from his opposition in the last quarter, won by a wide margin. ROKEBY saved much ground by hugging the rail at stretch turn and was easily best of others, but did not threaten winner. SHARP THOUGHTS was shuffled back early and, in close quarters on far turn and at stretch turn, stopped badly in the last eighth. FLYING was going gamely at finish. WELL HEELED could not keep up and stopped to almost a walk in the stretch. SUNNY WORLD was outrun all the way.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—LUCKITE, $3.40, $3.42, $2.92; INDIGO, $3.42, $2.92; INCEPTION, $3.36

LUCKITE, jumping well, went to the front after the first turn of the field had been completed and, clinging gamely to his narrow advantage, won by the end to be under mild urging. INDIGO, probably best, raced strongly and close up all the way and coming rapidly after clearing the last fence, gained on the leaders and could have won had his rider not eased him up near the end to allow his running companion to retain command. INCEPTION showed improvement, but lost his chance when he made a bad landing at the twelfth fence. GRACIE was always close up. SILVER DAWN II set the early pace, but tired in the last half mile. LIBERTIN refused at the tenth jump.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,600; allowances. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won handily; place, driving. Went to post at 3:51. Off at 3:52. Winner, H. M. Woolf's blk. c. (4), by Mad Hatter—Bridesmaid. Trained by D. Stewart. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 3-5, 0:47 4-5, 1:13 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—BEST MAN, $5.20, $2.64, $2.30; NO MORE, $2.60, $2.34; SUN MEMORY, $3.76.

BEST MAN was outrun slightly for the first quarter, then moved up to the leaders on the outside and, taking a handy lead after subjecting NO MORE to interference rounding the stretch turn, drew out to a handy win. NO MORE, racing well, continued gamely after being shut off by the winner at the stretch turn, and was going gamely at the finish. SUN MEMORY made up some ground and was best of others. ST. PRISCA tired badly after showing good speed for a half mile. The others could not keep up.

FIFTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $2,000. Wyoming Handicap. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:22. Off at 4:24. Winner, L. M. Severson's br. h. (5), by Paul Weidel—Audrey Austin. Trained by F. Rector. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $350; third, $175; fourth, $75. Time, 0:23, 0:46 4-5, 1:12 1-5, 1:39 1-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—PAUL BUNYAN, $11.24, $5.66, $4.30; SILVERDALE, $4.74, $3.22; SPINACH, $5.12.

PAUL BUNYAN, closer up than usual in the early running, charged determinedly through the stretch and, wearing SILVERDALE down, headed him in the last twenty yards to win going away. SILVERDALE set the pace under mild restraint and responded gamely to a drive when challenged, but was never a threat to the leaders. SIDNEY GRANT was far back all the way.

SIXTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,600; allowances. For 3-year-olds. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 4:55. Off at 4:55½. Winner, S. W. Labrot's br. or b. f. (3), by Sir Greysteel—Samuiron. Trained by W. Irvine. Value to winner, $1,150; second, $250; third, $150; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23, 0:47, 1:12 3-5, 1:38 4-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—TRED AVON, $4.66, $3.16, $2.48; TRY IT, $4.14, $3.06; MODERN TIMES, $3.18.

TRED AVON went to the front at once and, opening up a good lead, was never in danger, winning easily. TRY IT was allowed to drop too far back in the early running, was sent up with a rush after going half the distance and had little left for the final run. MODERN TIMES was close up from the start and held on fairly well in the final drive. ANNIMESSIC showed a fairly good effort. MOPECO made up ground. HIS LAST and LA SALLE tired.

SEVENTH RACE—One mile (Hertz course, out of chute). Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 5:30. Off at 5:30. Winner, E. J. Lehmann's br. h. (5), by Tryster—Love Story. Trained by P. Reilly. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:23 1-5, 0:47, 1:12 3-5, 1:39 3-5.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—SUITOR, $8.34, $3.98, $3.36; CHEERS, $4.22, $4.16; TREK, $5.14.

SUITOR, well up on the outside from the start, took a short lead after leaving the back stretch and, increasing it gradually by hugging the rail at the stretch turn, easily showed the way to the finish. CHEERS set the pace under restraint and, after meeting with some interference from winner at stretch turn, raced gamely to the end to hold TREK. Latter finished fast on the inside. KADIAK was in close quarters during the back stretch run and raced wide in stretch. JOHN MACKLER tired. LAHOR, although meeting with some interference during back stretch run, ran below his best form.

EIGHTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,500; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 6:01. Off at 6:03. Winner, Valley Lake Stable's b. c. (3), by Lee O. Cotner—Athene. Trained by J. B. Partridge. Value to winner, $1,100; second, $225; third, $125; fourth, $50. Time, 0:24 3-5, 0:49 2-5, 1:15 3-5, 1:43, 1:56 4-5.

*Field.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—WISE LEE, $8.10, $5.36, $4.16; STOP GAP, $7.98, $8.02; MAECENAS $8.02.

WISE LEE, running as if much the best, was shuffled back in the early stages and trailed the field for a half mile while attempting to get through on the inside, then came to the outside and, coming with a rush in the final half mile, caught STOP GAP twenty yards out and was going away at the finish. STOP GAP set the pace and showed gameness in holding on well, but could not resist winner. MAECENAS was close up at all stages and outfinished SAM PASS. Latter was tiring. THOMAS SETH also tired. LION HEARTED met with early interference and did not run his race.

TAKOMA AND CHEVY CHASE NINES IN CRUCIAL DOUBLE BILL

Frays Sunday May Decide Title Race

ALTHOUGH knocked out of the leadership of the Montgomery County section of The Post's Capital City League by the Bethesda Fire Department nine last Sunday, the champion Takoma Tigers may clinch the pennant for the third successive year by winning both ends of its double-header with the Chevy Chase Grays when they clash Sunday on the latters' diamond.

..The first game will get underway promptly at 1:30 p. m. ..By breaking even Sunday the Tigers retain a mathematical chance of tieing for the pennant with Bethesda whom the Grays must play the week following their engagement with Takoma. .... ..Bethesda, hanging on by the skin of its teeth to a slim chance of tying for the pennant, draws a bye this week. .Should the Tigers and Grays split even Sunday, Bethesda may tie with the Tigers for the title by whipping Chevy Chase in two games when they clash in the league finale. Two victories for Chevy Chase over Takoma will eliminate the latter from the race, but it will be necessary to win one of the encounters with the smoke-eaters to clinch the pennant..

Chevy Chase Nine On Edge.

Ed Morris' Chevy Chase nine is all pepped up over its recent success in the league, and Ed is confident that the team will not "blow" its chance for the title, as it did last year when it lost by a half game to the champs. "Lefty" Stevens will start for the Grays in one of the games with the possibility that Ray Knight will hurl the other. Henry Gichner will be behind the plate and the same team that walloped Old Colony last week will go into the fray intact. It will be do or die against the Tigers, for if Chevy Chase can down their dearest enemies in both games Morris feels certain of sinking Bethesda to cop the honors.

Paul James is also taking Sunday's games seriously. He will have his boys out on the field this afternoon for a stiff drill and will divulge new signals to be used against the leaders. It is James' ambition to win the pennant for the third year in a row, and the support of practically all Takoma Park is behind him. The Takoma fans will accompany the team to Chevy Chase in a body for the games Sunday and with all of Chevy Chase certain to be on the scene it will be a red letter day in the life of the Montgomery County section of the league. Never before has interest been at such a high point as it is at the present time.

Tigers Won Eight Straight Games.

When the Tigers hopped off to eight straight wins and seemed headed for another flag without even a murmur of protest from the others teams the fans began to think it would take a landing party of Marines to evict the champions from their firm entrenchment as leaders of the circuit.

Takoma was evicted, not by the Marines, but by the Firemen from Bethesda, and the manner in which the latter handled their victims last week has won them a host of supporters who are willing to wager that they will win the crown by stopping Chevy Chase when they meet Sunday, a week hence. Manager Murdock has one of the best sandlot mound staffs to play on local diamonds in many a year, one that he believes will eventually land the team in the play-off for the metropolitan title of the Capital City League. The Firemen also pack a strong punch at bat, and this added to an indomitable will to win should carry the ma long way in their quest for the title.

it will give them, the result being that the invaders of the East will arrange their pitching rotation so that the Mackmen always face their best pitchers even at the expense of passing them up in the series at Washington.

Teams from the other sector either come from Philadelphia here or go from here to the Quaker City. This means that the A's are sure of seeing their best moundsmen, while it may happen that managers of the teams coming here first will gamble on a rookie here occasionally in order to have their best men available for the Macks in the following series. This condition may make Washington's road a little smoother.

None of the Western clubs is going anywhere in the pennant race so the best any can hope for is a few crumbs in the form of side issues. Irrespective of what team is leading, the lesser lights always concentrate on beating the first-place team, feeling that these victories, if any, give them more glory.

FIGHT DATES AT LAUREL SHIFTED

Latzo and Berlenback on Program Next Wednesday.

THERE will be no conflict in next week's boxing presentations sponsored by Fort Washington and Mid-City Stadium interests. This announcement was forthcoming yesterday.

Originally both clubs lined up cards for Monday night. After a consultation with matchmaker Frankie Mann, of Fort Washington, and a meeting of Mid-City officials yesterday, however, General Manager Angy Gerrin agreed to shift his leather festival to Wednesday.

Believing that both clubs can operate more profitably by such an arrangement and that Washingtonians readily will support two top-notch attractions, Gerrin voluntarily accepted the new date.

The postponement, however, will in no way affect the pugilistic line-up being arranged by comatchmakers Gerrin and Goldie Ahearn.

Weiss to Oppose Latzo.

After scrutinizing an imposing list of candidates Gerrin and Ahearn yesterday decided upon an opponent for Pete Latzo, fiery light-heavyweight, who holds down the ten-round top spot. He is Sammy Weiss, Al Lippe's sensational, young Hebrew, who is rated on a par with Latzo and other standouts in the light-heavy division.

Weiss boasts a knockout over Herman Weiner, big Baltimorean, and has outpointed such battlers as Vincent Forgione, Gene McCue, Billy Jones and Babe McGoragy.

Berlenback to Show.

Topping the five-round bouts and holding down the semifinal spot will be the colorful go involving old "Punch 'Em" Paul Berlenbach, one-time light-heavyweight monarch, who is essaying a highly successful comeback after a period of retirement, and Herman Weiner, Baltimore.

Berlenbach has stopped four glovemen in as many bouts since returning to the ring and will be out to send Weiner down for the count.

Two remaining five-heat struggles and a promising four-rounder will be closed shortly.

Diamond Dust

The Franc Jewelry Co. nine will drill today at 5 p. m. on diamond No. 4 of the Monument Grounds. Manager Farrell requests all players to report promptly.

Bill McCrea, portly manager of the Auth nine, wants to know why it is that "Ham" Clipper, of the Skinker Bros. Eagles, is deploring the dearth of opponents when the Auth Team is not only willing but anxious to meet the Eagles. Bill's number is National 4630. Today the Meatmen play the Canal A. C. at 5 p. m. on diamond No. 9, and on Saturday the Bethesda Fire Department nine will be played at 3 p. m. on the same diamond.

The St. Paul Midgets are anxious to book games with strong teams in their class. Manager Howard Herbert is arranging the schedule at Potomac 3337-W.

The Canal A. C. would like to book a strong unlimited opponent for Sunday. Teams interested should call Decatur 1982.

The Foxall A. C. will not play its last Capital City League game scheduled for Sunday with the Army Medicos, as the game will have no bearing on the title and the Foxall aggregation would like to play out of town on that date. Manager "Len" Harrington would like to hear from some strong teams for games during the remainder of the season. He can be reached at Cleveland 4831.

The fast Majestic Radio Nine will take on the Army War College Saturday at 3 p. m., on the North Ellipse, and on Sunday will journey to Essex, Md., for a game with the home team. Manager Whyche, diminutive strategist, is confident that his boys will wn both ennagements. The members of the team are requested to report at 932 H street northwest, Sunday at 9 a. m.

The Potomac Food Distributors will drill today at 5 p. m. on Diamond No. 3 of the Monument Grounds. Manager Dennison requests all players to report promptly.

Tony Burruto's Circo's Italian Villagers will attempt to snap the winning streak of the Mount Rainier nine when they clash Sunday at 3 p. m. on the Mount Rainier Field. The Villagers have been strengthened by the addition of Frank Di Nenna, Mahaney, and Ben Jenkins.

NEW STYLE GOLF BALL TO GO

they would not have been willing to fight two more rounds without pay.

Obviously, the boys of the golf association made a mistake, but obviously the golfers who are complaining so much about the difference between the old ball and the new are sympathizing too keenly with themselves. Any one who plays the game well enough to notice, or imagine he notices, a serious difference probably plays better than the great majority of those who struggle at the game, blaming only themselves for their agonies. It is the players who shoot in the 80s and low 90s consistently who moan loudest about the way of the new ball in the wind and on the rim of the cup. To most victims of the sport this complaint has the sound of a millionaire's holler about the cost of matches.

The professionals were only slightly over their old scores in the recent big tournaments, and though many of their putts did stall short of the cups and others ran around the rims, it will be remembered also that those which were right up there on the line went in.

Of course, the change was not asked for, and therefore should not have been made, as the golf association must realize by now. Possibly the association listened to a few restless duffers to whom any change was bound to be a change for the better and to one member of their body who was obsessed with the idea of a new ball and interpreted this demand as a general plea.

Not Much Good Said for New Type of Ball.

At any rate, nobody has had anything good to say for the new ball as against the old, its best friends merely remarking that it is all right, whereas those who don't like it are numerous and violent. It would annoy nobody to abandon the big ball, but to keep it would be to annoy a lot of people, not forgetting the innocent bystander who can't hlep hearing the squawks of the annoyed.

This is a thing that does not lend itself to a settlement on the lines of States' rights. If the golf association prescribes a square ball or an egg-shaped ball for golf in the U. S. A., then that ball must be the standard. Otherwise a New York golfer might find himself playing a square ball against a Californian with an oval ball in Chicago, where the local rule might recognize only an octagonal ball.

The only argument, or apology for the change has been that by suppressing the spirit of the golf ball the golf association moved to restore the prestige of certain proud golf courses which the great artists of the game, amateur and pro, had been humiliating in recent years. With drive and roll on baked fairways they were close to the green, and courses which had been engineered at great expense, with a great variety of agonizing plts, tangles and swamps to confound the ordinary player, were being humiliated consistently in the great tournaments. This was due, in part, to the nature of the ball, in part to the parching climate and in no trifling part to the gradual refinement of skill.

Golf Course Needs No Sympathy.

But it was no duty of the golf association to rush to the defense of the golf courses. The golf course will humiliate thousands of players for every player that humiliates one of them, and it does the duffer good to follow around on burning dogs while some marvel of the game, in beautiful revenge, makes a sucker of a golf course that has made a sucker of him.

The golf course needs no sympathy. Like the roulette wheel, it stands to win.

Duck-Hunters Due Poor Sporting Season

Ottawa, July 15 (A.P.).—Duck-hunters from Quebec to California and from Minnesota to Mexico may expect a lean year, according to Thomas G. Murphy, minister of interior, following reports of serious failure in the wild duck crop throughout the breeding grounds in the southern part of the prairie provinces.

The chief migratory game officer for western Canada has reported water fowl almost entirely absent from the south central prairies, Murphy said, and 95 per cent of the sloughs are dry.

Poor breeding seasons, both this year and in 1930, combined with the steadily increasing army of hunters, was responsible for the lack of water fowl, it was stated.

RAIN DELAYS PARKS NET TOURNEY

Seeded Players Clash Today; Doubles on Program.

RAIN compelled the cancellation of all matches in the annual public courts tennis championships today, but play for the remainder of the week will be rushed in order that the final rounds in men's singles and doubles and women's doubles may be played Saturday so as not to interfere with Bill Tilden's appearance here Sunday at Wardman Park Hotel.

Matches today will start at 4 o'clock at Rock Creek Park and will bring together two of the most prominent players in town in the Bud Markey-Barney Welsh singles match. In the other singles match on the lists, also at 4 o'clock, Maurice O'Neill plays Hugh Trigg in what promises to be a reincarnation of the epic struggles between the two veterans during the period of 1923 to 1925, when both stood preeminent among the public courts players. Markey and O'Neill are favored to come through today, but are not overwhelming favorites.

The crack young doubles team of Frank Shore and Anthony Latona, whose one and only game is at the net in volleying position, meet Dooly Mitchell and Bill Buchanan at 5 o'clock in the feature doubles match of the day. Although seeded below Mitchell and his partner, Shore and Latona are looked upon as the winning combination. Another doubles match which promises to bring out some good tennis is the Markey-Yoemans vs. Dick Sendel affair, also at 5 o'clock. Both are quarter-final-round matches.

Frederico Sendel and Alan Staubly, the combination which put out the 1929 champions, Maurice O'Neill and George Shoemaker, after losing the first set, 0—6, will meet the winner of the Shore-Latona vs. Mitchell-Buchanan match in a semifinal engagement at 6 o'clock.

Meade Tankers Beat Marine Tossers, 10-4

Special to The Washington Post.

Camp Meade, Md., July 15.—The Camp Meade Tank School nine this afternoon defeated the Quantico Marines, 10 to 4, in the first of a two-game series, which will end with another game tomorrow. The score was tied at 4-all at the end of the fourth, but the Tankers scored five runs in the next frame on three hits and two Marine errors.

Ussasy was the hero of the game, poling out a homer with the bases loaded. Bryner and Couch did the flinging for their respective teams.

Greenville Club Seeks Reserve Fund Share

Greenville, S. C., July 15 (A.P.).—The Greenville Piedmont says today that Commissioner Landis will be asked to investigate the failure of officials of the defunct South Atlantic Association to distribute the league's reserve.

The Piedmont says J. Marvin Wolfe, president of the Augusta Club, and R. A. Jolley, president of the Greenville Club, both members of the Old Sally, conferred with attorneys here today and then announced they will ask baseball's high commissioner to inquire into the matter.

The South Atlantic had a reserve fund of several thousands of dollars built up over a period of years. The owners of the clubs which held memberships when the circuit disbanded, say this fund should be distributed among them.

CHEVY CHASE DRILLS.

The Chevy Chase Grays will drill in preparation for their important double-header with the Takoma Tigers Sunday on the former's diamond. Manager Ed Morris requests all players to report promptly at 5 p. m. in full uniform today.

Alexandria Sports

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., July 15.—Lewis Latham today was appointed as manager of the Columbia Fire Co. Baseball Team, succeeding Julian Davis, who resigned.

The new manager is seeking games with strong nines in this sector. He can be communicated with by either writing the Columbia Fire House, Alexandria, Va., or phoning Alexandria 1774.

Coach Lee has called an important practice for Friday at 5:15 o'clock on Haydon's Field and he wants all players to be present. Lee wants to build up a strong combination for the coming city series.

The Columbias probably will meet some fast club on a foreign field Sunday. The opponent will be announced later.

The American Legion Juniors Baseball Team will play in the State junior champion series at Danville, Va., on July 22, 23 and 24, it was announced today by "Prex" Wilson, director of the nine.

On Monday, July 20, the Legion Juniors will leave for Danville by auto. The boys will be conveyed in cars of the Legionnaires. Alexandria last year won the State title.

Wilson states the club is better balanced this season and he looks for the team to again come through with flying colors.

Martinsburg Star Weds; To Live Here

Special to The Washington Post.

Martinsburg, W. Va., July 15—Glenville Brumbaugh, this city, a well-known young athlete, and Miss Idella G. O'Leary, also of this city, were married in the Catholic rectory at York, Pa., Friday, it was learned here.

The groom was a student at the high school here until Christmas, when he entered Augusta Military Academy, at Fort Defiance, Va., where he was an outstanding athlete as a boxer and wrestler, lines in which he had been outstanding here. He participated in the semifinals of the Virginia Prep School boxing tournament last spring. He was a football star in local circles also.

They will reside in Washington.

HIGH POINT KEEPS CLUB.

Danville Va., July 15 (Special).—The High Point franchise in the Piedmont League will be kept in the North Carolina city and will not be moved to Danville. Mrs. E. E. Sensenbach, owner of the franchise, telegraphed her decision to make no change to the local baseball authorities with whom she was negotiating.

WORLD MARK TO HELENE MADISON

NEW YORK, July 15 (U.P.).—Miss Helene Madison, of Seattle, Wash., successfully defended her 100-meter and one-mile free style titles tonight in the opening events of the annual national A. A. U. swimming and diving championships for women.

Her time for the 100-meter race was one minute, nine and two-fifths seconds, one second slower than the record she set last year, while she negotiated the mile in 24 minutes, 45 seconds, 11 seconds slower than the world's record.

Although competing against strong opponents, Miss Madison had little difficulty in winning both races. In the 100-meter event she led Miss Helen Johns, of Brooklyn, to the finish line by two yards, while in the mile she was a full lap ahead of her nearest competitor, Miss Lenore Kight, of Homestead, Pa.

Miss Josephine McKim, of Los Angeles, finished third in the 100-meter race while third place in the mile was taken by Miss Florence Southhard, of Buffalo, N. Y.

Miss Madison did not appear to be swimming her best in the mile race because of the large lead which she gained early in the affair. As in the 100-meter event, she led from the start and after the half way mark outdistanced the entire field.

In the mile race Miss Madison was officially timed at the 1,500-meter mark in 23:17.2, to better the world's record for that event, held by Miss Martha Norelius. Miss Norelius' time was 23:44.6.

It was the consensus of the timers that Miss Madison might have easily gone on to break the world's mark in the mile had her opposition been stronger. After she lapped the field, Miss Madison slowed down considerably and was going along at an easy pace as she finished.

Miss Madison's two victories gave the Washington Athletic Club 10 points and made that organization the favorite to win the team title. Other clubs who scored in tonight's events were: Homestead, Pa., Library Club, 3; Brookline, Mass., Women's Swimming Association, 3; Buffalo Women's Aquatic Club, 1, and the Los Angeles Athletic Club, 1.

Two more championship events are on the program for the meet tomorrow night. Miss Madison will compete in the 440-yard free style, while Miss Eleanor Holm, of Brooklyn, will attempt to retain her title in the 220-yard backstroke. The meet continues through Saturday.

HINES VICTOR IN M. A. NET TOURNEY

Two-Time Champion Wins 8-6, 6-0 Over Proctor.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., July 15 (A.P.).—Wilmer Hines, Columbia, S. C., opened his campaign for his third Midatlantic singles championship in a row today with a smashing two-set victory over Bob Proctor, Charlotte, in the third round.

The South Carolina youth, together with Harley Shuford, Hickory, N. C., star, last night made a 450-mile automobile trip from Birmingham, where Hines and Judge Beaver won the Southern doubles title.

After a brief rest, Hines and Shuford began play in the Midatlantic. The rangy and speedy Columbia netman, after some difficulty in the first set, downed Proctor, 8—6, 6—0. Lex Marsh, Charlotte, defaulted to Hines in the second round.

Shuford, showing the strain of the long automobile trip, dropped his third round match with Lucas Abels, High Point, seeded No. 8, 6—1, 6—2. All the other seeded entrants swept through, today's matches without serious difficulty, although Lenoir Wright, Charlotte, No. 2, found some difficulty in beating Laurence Jones, Charlotte youngster, the match ending, 6—2, 5—7, 6—1, in favor of Wright.

came in the fifth game of the second set, was the result of ragged returns she made on the twins low volleys.

Mrs. Moody and Mrs. Wightman will play their second round with Mrs. R. C. Morris, Boston, and Mrs. Iry Lamme, Rye, N. Y. Mrs. Moody will then put on a one-set exhibition match with G. Holmes Perkins, Massachusetts singles champion.

All of the favored teams in both the men's and women's doubles play advanced without great efforts and all of the day's upsets were confined to the women's invitation singles.

During the battling for places in the quarter-finals, three of the seeded players fell by the courtside. The most unexpected result was the 6—2, 4—6, 6—2 victory which Edith Sigourney, Boston, registered over Virginia Hilleary, Philadelphia, the Nation's fourth ranking player.

Dorothy Andrus, Stamford, Conn., overwhelmed Mianne Palfrey, Brookline, seeded seventh, 6—2, 6—1, and Charlotte Miller, Berkeley, Calif., seeded eighth, was pushed out of the tourney by Baroness Levi, New York, 6—3, 6—3.

With Tire Prices so low why not buy a SET?

A whole set of Goodyear Pathfinders for: 19.20 4.40-21 (29x4.40)

Everyone knows that one of the big thrills of getting a new car is riding on new tires all around.

Today new Goodyears are so cheap that you can have that same thrill on your present car.

You can have the safety—the fresh new tread—the stout new vitality of Supertwist cord—the honest mileage of Goodyear Pathfinders at the lowest prices in history.

It stands to reason that Goodyear—world's largest tire builder—can give you the greatest value for the price you pay.

MOTION ASKS PROOF IN 3-CENT FARE LOSS

Questions Challenge Some of Data Submitted as Facts in Appeals.

The burden of proof of a substantial loss of revenue under operation of the 3-cent children's fare was placed on the transportation companies yesterday in a motion filed in the District Supreme Court by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech to make their bills of complaint more definite and certain.

A number of questions, which challenged some of the data submitted as facts in the appeals, were asked in the motion of the Capital Traction Co., the Washington Railway & Electric Co., and the Washington Rapid Transit Co. The court was asked also to grant an oral hearing on the motion because of insufficiency of information.

The chief data requested of each carrier were: Comparative averages of numbers and costs of school children transported before and after the 3-cent fare order; proportion of children using service during rush hours; how much, if any, additional equipment was required because of reduced fare; the basis for figuring that it costs the street car companies more than 6 cents and the bus company more than 9 cents for each passenger carried; reductions, if any, of net revenues during children's reduced fare period as compared to similar period in previous year.

The other requests relate to property valuations and operations of the street railways in the bus field. The Washington Rapid Transit Co. also is asked to set forth the method of distributing its value and operating costs and revenues between common carrier service in the District and Maryland and between charter service and common carrier service.

The District attorneys in their statement of points declare they are without information and the bills of complaint do not set forth facts "which actually indicate any actual loss by reason of the issuance" of the 3-cent fare order and that the bills do not show in "sufficiently definite form the fair present value" of property of the carriers "so as to permit a determination as to the true effect of the said order" on their return.

Valuation of each of the companies is now being conducted under direction of the Public Utilities Commission.

Man Favored Several Wives, Wife's Suit Says

That her husband had expressed admiration for the Mohammedan religion, and that he had often stated he would like to become a member of a religious sect that practiced plurality of wives, was charged yesterday by Mrs. Annamae Stott, 1512 Spring place northwest, in a suit for divorce from Lindsay S. Stott.

They were married in Cambridge, Md., February 20, 1928, and lived together until July 7, 1931, when, the wife alleges, her husband failed to keep a promise that he would refrain from seeing another woman. The wife claims her husband makes about $500 a month, while she is dependant on her parents for support. Attorney Raymond Neudecker represents Mrs. Stott.

"We Got 'Em If We Could," Mounty Slogan

Ottawa, July 15 (A.P.).—The tradition that the "Mounties always get their man" was an invention of American moving picture producers, according to Col. Courtland Starnes, retiring head of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

"We got them if we could," Col. Starnes said. He added that the personnel of the mounties now was equal to that of its earlier days when it earned international fame for its exploits.

Woman Asks $500 Of Rheem Assets

Note She Owned, Court Is Told, Replaced by Another.

The trustees of the Swartzell, Rheem & Hensey bankruptcy were yesterday directed by Justice James M. Proctor, of the District Supreme Court, to appear July 21 and show cause why they should not deliver to Mrs. Ione H. Calvert a promissory note valued at $500 which the trustees took over with the company's assets.

Through Attorneys John Lewis Smith and John Paul Jones, Mrs. Calvert claims that she bought a $500 note of the Shoreham Hotel Corporation from the Swartzell Co. August 2, 1930. The note was left in their vaults for collection and safe keeping. On January 16, 1931, when the mortgage company's voluntary petition for bankruptcy was under consideration, it is represented, the firm removed Mrs. Calvert's note and sold it to another client.

In place of her strongly secured paper, she says, there was substituted another note, which matured the day following the alleged transfer. The notes secured by this second transaction are being paid off by the trustees, and Mrs. Calvert is seeking the money due on her substituted note, which is in the vaults of the bankrupt.

ORDER ON BUS DEPOT IS EXPECTED TODAY

Ample Time for Companies to Make Preparations Is Likely to Be Given.

The long-awaited order regulating movement of interstate buses and the location of their terminals will probably be issued after the first meeting of the joint traffic board this morning. Unless some unexpected disagreement arises, the order will be adopted at once.

William A. Van Duzer, traffic director, has returned the draft prepared by William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, and People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech to the Public Utilities Commission with a few suggestions.

While terms of the proposed order have not been made public, it is expected to give the bus companies which now have sidewalk depots in the congested area ample time to establish terminals outside the heaviest business district or combine and erect a union terminal, probably near the congested zone.

Maj. D. A. Davison, first assistant engineer commissioner, will preside as chairman of the new board, created by the traffic act, which became effective July 1. Maj. John C. Gotwals, Engineer Commissioner, is ill.

The other members of the board are Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick and Harleigh H. Hartman of the Public Utilities Commission and Maj. Gen. Herbert B. Crosby and Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, District Commissioners.

DRY AGENTS CLASH; PRISONER SET FREE

Second Case Against Same Man by Informer Ends in Disagreement.

A conflict in the testimony of Government witnesses yesterday led to an acquittal and a disagreement in the case of Daniel Martin, Negro, who was being tried on charges of sale and possession of liquor. Martin charged he was "framed" by a police informer, and he denied that he had ever sold the agent any liquor or ever had possessed the two gallons with which it was alleged he was caught.

The jury acquitted him of the sale charge and failed to reach a decision in the possession charge. Because of the peculiar angles of the testimony, David A. Hart, assistant United States attorney in charge of the case, announced that he would not consider trying Martin again on the possession charge.

"If he is ever tried again on that charge, some one else will have to do it. I didn't like this case from the start," he said.

Martin, employed in a barber shop as a bootblack, declared the agent came into the shop and asked him to get his valise from a nearby car, because he wished to change some clothing in the barber shop. As the Negro entered the shop carrying the valise, he was arrested. The informer testified he had bought a drink from Martin earlier in the day. The case was tried before Judge Ralph Given.

Marriage Annulment Asked.

Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson, 404 Seward square southeast, yesterday asked the District Supreme Court to annul her marriage to John R. Anderson, of the Department of Commerce. They were married September 24, 1930, and lived together until July 9. Attorney William A. Coombe appeared for Mrs. Anderson.

Two Accused After Liquor Raid.

Charges of illegal possession of liquor were placed against Raymond L. Oliver, 22 years old, of 327 I street northeast, and Julian Steiner, 25, of 1902 Fourth street northeast, by vice squad searchers under Sergt. N. O. Holmes, who said they seized 2 gallons of alcohol and a gallon of gin at Steiner's home yesterday.

DISTRICT PREPARES ANTI-MERGER TEST

Sale of Phone Stock to Parent Company Brings Issue on Law.

District authorities yesterday began preparations to test the teeth of the 16-year-old La Follette antimerger act shortly after officials of the Chesapeak & Potomac Telephone Co. notified the Public Utilities Commission that the company had sold $5,000,000 worth of the authorized $7,000,000 worth of capital stock to its sole stockholder, the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

Maj. Gen. Mason M. Patrick, chairman of the utilities body, conferred with William A. Roberts, special assistant corporation counsel, who in turn discussed the matter with the District Commissioners. The latter will have to file the suit, because the La Follette law, which so authorizes them, was adopted prior to the creation of the Public Utilities Commission.

The suit, although the second instituted since the La Follette act was passed by Congress, will be actually the first test of the admittedly weak law, which was passed to prevent the merger of the street car companies, and then amended so as to permit the consolidation.

Transaction Defended.

Although there has been much talk and frequent threats of prosecution under the antimerger act, the only suit brought was against the Seaboard Investment Trust, former owner of the local gas companies, and in that case the court held that it did not apply. Now a second suit against the new owners of the gas concerns is threatened.

The sale of the stock by the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. to its parent company, actually transacted on June 30 last, was defended in a letter accompanying the report to the commission yesterday. The letter was signed by R. A. Van Orsdel, general counsel of the local utility.

"Before this stock was issued the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. was owned entirely by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co." the latter stated. "After this stock was issued, the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. was owned entirely by the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. It was no more merged after the issue of the stock than it was before.

"The relationship of the two companies is exactly the same as it was for the five years before the La Follette antimerger act was passed and during the eighteen years since it was passed.

Law Not Retroactive.

"The Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. has been doing a telephone business in the District of Columbia for more than 45 years. Neither before nor after the enactment of the La Follette antimerger act has it done anything in any way to circumvent or attempt to evade any law, and the officers of the company feel definitely that it is not so doing by the issuance of this stock to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co."

District authorities, however, recalled that the local company has issued no stock since the passage of the law, which is not retroactive, so that the question of the ownership of the company by a foreign concern has never been raised.

The La Follette act states that no foreign public utility or holding corporation shall own more than 20 per cent of the stock of any company in the District.

Sale of the 50,000 shares of stock at $100 a share was done to pay off 6 per cent demand notes held by the parent company. Last fall the Chesapeake & Potomac Telephone Co. sold $2,000,000 worth of stock to the American Telephone & Telegraph Co. without asking or notifying the utilities commission. When the sale was discovered the first of this year, the corporation counsel investigated and submitted an opinion that the transfer violated both the La Follette act and the public utility act.

Subsequently, the telephone company withdrew the stock and then complied with the required procedure of obtaining permission to issue the stock, this time $7,000,000 worth. The commission, however, while authorizing the issuance made its order clear that it would not sanction a sale to the parent company.

Son Asks Control Of Siddons' Estate

District Supreme Justice, Court Is Told, Did Not Make Will.

District Supreme Court Justice Frederick L. Siddons died wihtout making a will, his son, Frederick P. H. Siddons, secretary of the American Security and Trust Co., informed the District Supreme court in a request yesterday that he be appointed administrator of his father's estate. Justice Siddons died suddenly at his home, 1914 Biltmore street northwest, June 19.

The petition for administration shows that the Justice owned no real estate and that the bulk of his personal estate, including life insurance and other assets, was held jointly by the Justice and his wife, Mrs. Harriet C. V. Siddons, and was not therefore a part of the estate. There was no estimate of the amount of the property.

Besides his widow and son, Justice Siddons is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Siddons Lasher. Attorney Woodson P. Houghton appeared for Mr. Siddons.

Man Who Leaped Off Bridge Identified; Body Is Hunted

A man who leaped to his death in the Anacostia River from the Pennsylvania Avenue Bridge early yesterday morning was tentatively identified late yesterday afternoon as Benjamin B. Gill, 44 years old, of 234 Eighth street southeast. Harbor Precinct police spent all yesterday dragging the river, but the body had not been recovered.

The man left a note behind him which read: "Betty, here is your freedom."

Identification was made by Gill's wife, who said she was certain the man who leaped from the bridge was her husband from the note and the description given to police.

J. H. Anthony, a greenskeeper at Anacostia Park, was on the east bank of the river when he saw the man climb over the rail of the bridge and plunge into the river. Anthony said he had no boat and was unable to leave the shore in an attempt at rescue.

He said he saw the man come to the surface once, make one outcry, and then disappear. He said the victim was dressed in a dark sweater and blue trousers. The note and the man's hat were found on the bridge.

WOMAN FINDS BODY NOT HER HUSBAND'S

Mistake in Identification Halts Funeral of Hit-and-Run Victim.

Identification of the body of a hit-and-run accident victim as her husband was reversed yesterday by Mrs. Geraldine Walter after the body had been taken from the District morgue and shaved, preparatory to funeral services the woman had planned.

Mrs. Walter's husband disappeared about three months ago. At that time she asked police to search for him. When she heard of a hit-and-run accident near Laurel and read the description of the victim in newspapers she went to the morgue to view the body.

She was certain the man was her husband, John Walter, 54 years old, and had the body removed to the W. W. Chambers funeral home. Services were to have been held today. Yesterday she went to the funeral home and viewing the body, with the face washed and shaved, she was shocked to find she had made a mistake. She immediately revoked her identification and asked police to renew the search for her missing husband.

"The strongest proof that the man is not my husband," Mrs. Walters said, "is that John Walter had a complete set of teeth, while the man whose body I identified had only a few teeth. Aside from that, however, the resemblance is startling.

Meanwhile, the funeral has been canceled and no one else has stepped forward to claim the body which lay in the morgue for 48 hours.

Diplomat's Wife Files Suit Answer

Avers She Was Legally Divorced From First Mate in Warsaw.

Mrs. Elvina Rowe Stalinski, of 421 Turner street, Chevy Chase, yesterday filed an answer to her first husband's suit for divorce, declaring she was legally divorced from him in Warsaw, Poland, and that she had legally remarried Jan Stalinski, now here on a diplomatic mission for the Polish government.

Mrs. Stalinski charged that her husband's bill "was a gross, deliberate and unprovoked libel upon herself and her husband" and she intimated that it was "perpetrated in an effort to embarrass" her and her husband in diplomatic and social circles here.

Roland H. Rowe, a magazine editor, of the Investment Building, charged that his wife had married Stalinski without divorcing him. His wife's reply charges that he, in effect, knew she had remarried some time ago, for he signed an agreement relating to their children, and in this agreement her name appeared as Mrs. Stalinski.

Mrs. Stalinski declared in her answer that she had been informed the courts of this country would not question a divorce granted in Poland, where there was no showing of fraud. She offered a translated copy of the decree she received in Poland as a part of her bill.

Part of Bladensburg Road Closed by Paving

Bladensburg road, from the District line to Cottage City, is now closed while the Maryland portion is being paved; and while the portion from H street to the District line is also to be paved, the road will be open as far as South Dakota avenue, Capt. H. C. Whitehurst, chief engineer of the Highway Department, announced yesterday.

Traffic is being rerouted at the Maryland end of the stretch so that automobiles can not go clear through, but from H street to South Dakota avenue the road may be used.

Maccabees and A. Z. A. Outing.

Dowling Is Named Dental Group Head

Dr. E. D. Dowling, of Roanoke, Va., was reelected president of the Interstate Dental Association at the closing session of that organization, at Howard University Dental School, yesterday. Newly appointed members of the executive committee include Dr. L. R. Baxton, Dr. Williard Gunnage, and Dr. Southerner.

Approximately 200 dentists from nine States attended the three-day session, which was featured by a series of clinics held by noted physicians. Among those who addressed the body yesterday were Dr. William J. Gies, of the College of Physicians and Surgeons, New York, and Dr. J. B. Lovell, of the Odonto Chirurgical Society of Philadelphia.

It was announced that the next meeting of the association will be held at the Bordentown Industrial pices of the New Jersey Dental Asso-Institute, New Jersey, under the association, at a date to be set by the executive committee.

Man's Skull Fractured As Auto Strikes Him

Sherman Leroy Hensen, colored, 23 years old, of 29 Virginia avenue southwest, is in an undetermined condition in Garfield Hospital, suffering from a fractured skull, received yesterday afternoon when he was struck and knocked down by an automobile while attempting to cross the street, near Seventeenth and Corcoran streets northwest.

Police said the machine which struck Hensen was operated by George P. Ryan, 24 years old, of 3637 Thirteenth street northwest. Ryan placed the injured man in his automobile and took him to the hospital. The accident was termed unavoidable.

Chain Store Robbery Admitted by Fugitive

Pleading guilty to a charge of robbing a chain store of $341 at the point of a pistol last October, Corliss H. Bowen, 40 years old, was held by Judge Mattingly in Police Court under bond of $5,000 for the action of the grand jury yesterday.

Bowen, who was arrested by Precinct Detective E. F. Lewis, of the Thirteenth Precinct, after a nine-month search, admitted that he held up Alton Duvall, manager of the store, while the manager was on his way to a bank with the store's receipts. Judge R. E. Mattingly ordered the bond posted after listening to the guilty plea.

Man Dead by Teeth To Lie in Arlington

Mother Sick, Pvt. Nelson's Body Not to Be Sent to Sweden.

Private Olaf Nelson, of Fort Bliss, Tex., who died Tuesday at Walter Reed Hospital following futile efforts to remove from his throat teeth and bridge work he had swallowed, will be buried with military honors at Arlington National Cemetery, Army authorities announced yesterday.

Decision was reached following receipt of a cable from Frennings Wollsjo, Sweden, where Nelson's mother, Mrs. Kerstin Perrson, makes her home. Translated from Swedish, the message read: "Mother ill. Bury Olaf where he resides in America." Nelson had expressed a desire to be buried in Sweden.

Walter Reed physicians said no time has been set for the funeral. The fight to save Nelson's life was one of the most dramatic in the history of the Army. After four unsuccessful operations in Fort Bliss to remove the four-pronged denture from his esophagus, the soldier was flown 2,300 miles to Walter Reed Hospital, where a fifth operation failed.

Basel Bank Suspends.

Basel, Switzerland, July 15 (A.P.). The Parazicin-Christ Bank suspended payments today.

COURT GIVES MAN'S CHILDREN TO SISTER

Woman Who Was to Become Stepmother Had Intended Adoption.

The four children of Rice Phelps, of Takoma Park, Md., who died suddenly on July 1, were awarded to his sister, Mrs. Jessie A. Slater, of San Antonio, Tex., yesterday following habeas corpus hearing before Judge Robert B. Peter, jr., in Circuit Court at Rockville, Md.

The judge ruled that the ties of blood are stronger than friendship and that he believed it to be to the best interest of the children that they be taken by Mrs. Slater, although they had never seen her.

The children were brought to court by Mrs. Aurelia B. McCormick, formerly Mrs. Hill, of Takoma Park, with whom Mr. Phelps had boarded and who had cared for the children for several years after the death of their mother. Mrs. McCormick and Mr. Phelps had planned to marry in the fall, when the interlocutory decree of divorce obtained by Mrs. McCormick from her first husband had become final.

Mrs. Slater came to Montgomery County following the death of her brother and found that Mrs. McCormick planned to adopt the children, and consequently filed the petition.

Sears, Roebuck Firm Makes Price Slashes

Chicago, July 15 (A.P.).—Price reductions ranging from 10 to 30 per cent were announced today by Sears, Roebuck & Co. in releasing their 1,192-page fall and winter catalogue.

"One of the biggest drops was in silk fabrics," R. E. Wood, president said, "this being 21.2 per cent under the price of the fall and winter catalogue of a year ago. Prices for merchandise made of copper are down 16.2 per cent from a year ago; automobile tires, 17.2 per cent; electrical goods, 10.1 per cent; cotton goods, 18.7 per cent. In some isolated cases the drop in price is 30 per cent."

Electrical Production Now Shows Increase

New York, July 15 (A.P.).—For the first time this year, electrical production by the electric light and power industries of the United States has shown an increase over the like period of 1930.

Total output for the week ended July 11 increased over the previous week, which included the July 4 holiday, also showed an increase of three-tenths of 1 per cent above production for the corresponding week of 1930, which also included the Independence Day holiday. The total for the July 11 week, this year was 1,655,245,000 kilowatt hours.

Asks $10,000 for Arrest.

Charging that Ernest Aiken, 927 Fifteenth street northwest, caused his arrest on February 3 of this year, with the result that he was held a prisoner in the Eleventh Precinct Station House until he had expended $750 to get his release, James Cramer, 110 Yuma street southeast, yesterday filed suit in the District Supreme Court for $10,000. Attorneys John H. Burnett and Franklyn Yasmer represented Cramer.

Caraway Leaves Hospital.

Senator Caraway, of Arkansas, who has been under observation at the Naval Hospital, was allowed to go to his office for the first time in some days yesterday. Senator Caraway has been suffering from a stone in the kidney. Physicians are uncertain as as to the advisability of an operation and allowed the senator to leave the hospital pending a decision on the matter.

Aid Offered Textile Strikers.

New York, July 15 (U.P.).—The American Civil Liberties Union today extended an offer of aid to the National Textile Workers Union in charge of a strike of textile workers at Pawtucket, R. I.

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

What? No Mean Golfers, Mr. Rockefeller?

("I never knew a golfer who had a mean character."—John D. Rockefeller, as quoted in an interview on his birthday.)

FEELING it to be high time Mr. Rockefeller was set right on this matter, the following cases are set before him, as taken from the criminal records.

No. 1. Atwater L. Knipps.

Mr. Knipps was a member of the Hollyhocks Heights Country Club in a suburb of New York. On the afternoon of July 1, 1929, on the concluding green of a close foursome, Mr. Knipps missed a 6-inch putt. He then shot his opponents, threw their bodies into an old well, strangled the club pro and set fire to the clubhouse. The peculiar feature of the case is that Mr. Knipps hasn't cooled off yet.

No. 2. Aloysius Nutcracker.

On the morning of August 5, 1911, Aloysius drove to his Greatswamps Club for a round with other business men. He had spent the previous three weeks taking lessons from the club instructor in order to straighten out his drive. Believing that he had at last mastered this part of the game, he insisted that the round be for big money. From the first tee he sliced into the deep woods and got out onto the fairway again in 8. From the next tee he hooked one into a swamp on the left and lost it. On the third tee he missed the ball completely. He then made a queer gurgling noise, left the foursome, rushed to the clubhouse and brained his instructor. What is more, he has never expressed the slightest regret.

No. 3. JODWIN ERPS 2d.

MR. ERPS' case is somewhat different. He is manager of a large business, but has been a golf addict for the last three seasons. Mr. Erps is never known to remain in the office after 1 o'clock between June and October. He argues to his friends that a man must have exercise. Last week, however, he discharged three clerks for leaving the office fifteen minutes early. What makes his case particularly flagrant is that he has the plant covered with wall and desk mottoes, such as "The Secret of Success Is Hard Work."

No. 4. HEMINGWAY B. BUCKLEBAND.

Mr. Buckleband is a regular happiness boy at home and in business. He emphasizes the importance of courtesy in all dealings with his fellow man. He prides himself on giving every caller a square deal and never being abrupt, ruthless or impolite in business contacts. His associates call him "Hap." On the Elderberry Hills course he was observed four times last week snarling at his caddie, barking, "I told you not to rattle those clubs while I'm shooting!" and otherwise making the boy's life quite an ordeal. The caddies say he uses abusive and profane language whenever he misses a shot and that he never tips a boy if he has lost a ball.

TOURING TRAGEDIES.

Is X. L. Scott;
He was tight—
His brakes were not.

Ima Dodo, encountered staring vacantly at the sea the other day, was asked what was wrong. "I'm surf bored," she replied.

WHY VACATIONISTS GO MAD.

H1: These city newspapers one gets at vacation resorts more than 75 miles from Manhattan are just chock-full of breath-taking items. You know the kind. "Moths' Sex Life Data Studied," "Odd Uses For Old Oyster Shells," "Madagascar Tribe Worships Red Ants," "Blue Herons Disappearing," "What's Become of the Horse Fly?" and so forth. I got a copy of one morning paper the afternoon after the Stribling-Schmeling fight and the story was headed, believe it or not, "Stribling and Schmeling Ready For Bout."
